BALL GAME IS PART OF A TAFT TRIUMPH

Chicago Throngs Give President a Rousing Welcome—He Reviews 150,000 Children.

SEES GIANTS DEFEAT CUBS

Welcomed as a Fan by Great Crowd and Has as Much Fun as Any One at Contest.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—President Taft had a rousing time in Chicago to-day. From noon till midnight he was cheered with a bewildering variety of receptions, fests, and parades, a mass meeting, a baseball game, and a ball. To-morrow morning he will be speeding into the Northwest, and, except for incidental stops, resting from this whirl.

Mr. Taft had a good time here, and he did not hesitate to let folks know it. Chicagoans also had what in other days would have been cally a "bully" time. Wherever he appeared Mr. Taft was greeted by dense crowds of cheering people. They packed the sidewalks, crowded windows, clustered upon roofs, and clung to telegraph poles. Everywhere flags were waving and handkerchiefs fluttering to the accompaniment of the direction of cheers.

Great Crowd at Ball Game.

He reached the height of his popularity, however, when he was accepted as a brother fan by 30,000 supporters of the Chicago baseball nine at the West Side Baseball Park. For ninety-five minutes he doffed all strictly Presidential attributes with the exception of the smile, which he did not want to doff; ate popcorn and drank lemonade, engaged in repartee with silk-hatted and gold-laced officialdom, and applauded all the good plays as the Cubs went down in defeat before the Giants from New York by a score of 2 to 1 in a great game. Truly, it was a memorable event in fandom.

From early forenoon the crowd began to gather at the ball grounds, and the gates were thrown open at noon to relieve the pressure on them. From that time until after 3:30 o'clock the turnstiles kept turning. An hour before the game the crowd had overflowed on to the field and extended all the way around it. Still fans kept coming, and where the late comers found places was a mystery. The only empty spaces in sight outside the playing grounds were the 4,000 seats reserved for the Presidential party and members of the Commercial and Hamilton Clubs, who were his hosts.

Flags and bunting decked the stands on which rose tiers of seats, black with humanity, cheering, applauding, joking, and good-naturedly gibing at the players. The fans referred to the Cubs as "Brother's Team," because of C. P. Taft's interest in them.

The President reached the grounds at 3:30 o'clock, when the autos bearing his party and the official escort of the Hamilton Club discharged their passengers at the Lincoln Street side of the park. Cheering was started by the "Knothole" audience, which lined the sidewalks twelve deep and sat on the roofs and in the windows of houses adjacent to the park.

Taft Meets the Players.

As the President squeezed through the turnstile the crowd inside broke into applause and the band of sixty-two pieces played "Hail to the Chief" and "A Big Night To-night." The President was accompanied by Gov. Deneen, Gen. Frederick Dent Grant and staff, Secretary Dickinson, Chief of Police Le Roy T. Steward, and Assistant Chief Herman F. Schuetteler. They progressed slowly into the inclosure, and were escorted to seats back of first base.

Mr. Taft was conducted to the diamond at the foot of the grand stand to greet the players. He shook hands with the members of both teams.

"Now see that you put up a good game," he admonished them.

"We will, Mr. President," chorused the men.

Then came the spectacular arrival of a real Texas cowboy editor, Edward C. ("Tex") O'Reilly, who had ridden forty-six days on horseback from San Antonio, Texas, to deliver a message from the citizens of the City of Rio Grande, saying that they wanted "Bill" to stop there and eat chile con carne with them. O'Reilly had missed the President at the Congress Hotel when he galloped into Chicago, after sleeping under a large tree near Lyons. So putting spurs to his pony Arkansas, born and bred on the ranch of C. P. Taft, he loped after the automobiles and delivered the message, clad in cowboy costume.

In the stand Mr. Taft held an impromptu reception, during which he met "Pop" Anson, the famous old Chicago player; Garry Herrman, President of the National Baseball Commission, and John A. Heydler, President of the National League. Mr. Heydler was invited to a seat just behind the President, and throughout the game Mr. Taft frequently referred to him for expert opinion on some of the players and decisions of the umpire. Charles W. Murphy, President of the Chicago Club, also was with the President for a part of the game. Secretary of War Dickinson sat at the President's right, Gov. Deneen at his left, and Gen. Frederick D. Grant just in front.

Game Worthy of the Occasion.

The game soon began, and it was one well worthy of the presence of the Chief Executive. The Giants and Cubs, with the hot rivalry of last year to spur them on, played ball which brought out the finest points of the game. Chicago is mourning to-night that a bit of rattles in the first inning, when Steinfeldt muffed a throw to catch McCormick at third led to the runs that won the game, but the New Yorkers jubilantly show that clean hitting won the contest.

President Taft is not a baseball fan because it is the popular pastime, but because he not only likes the game but knows it. That was manifested by the closeness with which he followed each play, scarcely ever taking his eyes off the ball while it was in action. He forgot revision of the tariff while the Giants revised the Cubs' percentage downward.

"Mr. President, are you from Chicago or New York?" at one time shouted Congressman Martin B. Madden from his seat below the President.

"I'm from Cincinnati," shouted back President Taft.

He took an anxious look at the score board, which showed a 3 to 3 tie between Cincinnati and Pittsburg in the seventh inning. Just then the score board boy marked up 4 for Pittsburg in the eighth and 2 in the ninth, and the President declared, amid laughter, that he was "dumfounded."

Mr. Taft received many hearty cheers when he stood up with the rest of the

Governor of Minnesota's Life Still Hangs in the Balance.

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 16.—Gov. Johnson, who was operated on yesterday, spent a fairly easy day, considering the seriousness of his condition. To-night will determine whether he will recover, as his physicians expect the crucial time to come before the dawn of another day. Should he pass this crisis, there will be definite hope of his recovery, although he will not be out of danger for several days. During the late hours of last night and early hours of to-day the Governor's condition was such that frequent saline injections were administered to stimulate the almost imperceptible pulse.

At 8 o'clock to-night his condition was not as good as it had been earlier in the day. He was more restless and suffered considerably. His pulse was 114 and temperature 98.8. The bulletin issued half an hour earlier said:

"Gov. Johnson is very restless and is suffering exceedingly from gas pains. Temperature, 99.8; pulse, 118. There is a decided rise in temperature and pulse, but the Governor's condition is not yet alarming."

The Governor complained very little and displayed great hopefulness and endurance. During the day he joked freely with the doctors about his condition. To Dr. McNiven the Governor said:

"We had a close shave last night, didn't we, Mac?"

Shortly before 5 o'clock Dr. Mayo said to Frank A. Day, Gov. Johnson's secretary:

"There has been no change since noon except that he is improving. We will not say that the Governor is going to get well, but the symptoms are all hopeful and indicate good chances for recovery."

Dr. V. Bastinelli of Italy, a distinguished European surgeon and one of the physicians to the King of Italy, witnessed the operation on Gov. Johnson, and he said to-day that it was one of the most difficult and dangerous operations of its nature he ever had seen.

EARLE BACK IN MONROE.

Reported There He's to Give a Clambake and Make a Speech.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Ferdinand Pinney Earle is back in his house near Monroe. When Earle returned to Monroe after sending his first wife and their child to France he was mobbed by the villagers, but escaped serious injury.

Upon his return this time he was not molested. It is not known when he arrived from abroad, but he made his appearance at Monroe at 5:38 P. M. on Tuesday. No one knew that he was expected except the caretaker of his Summer home, who met him at the station with a carriage. On alighting Earle went to the carriage on a run, and was driven out of the village. He has since remained in seclusion, and the general public did not know that he was at home.

All efforts to get an interview with him have failed, for he will see no one. It was reported this afternoon, however, that Earle intends to give a big clambake shortly, to which every one in the village will be invited, and that on this occasion he will make a speech.

After Earle had sent his first wife abroad, and the woman he called his affinity, Miss Julia Kuttner, appeared at the Earle home in Monroe, the villagers made life almost unbearable for Earle and Miss Kuttner. Shortly after they sailed for Europe together and were married abroad.

Later they returned to Monroe. The people of the village made several demonstrations, showing their dislike to Earle and his affinity ideas, but quieted down. The arrest of Earle on the charge of Mrs. Earle, that he had beaten her, their reconciliation, and finally Mrs. Earle's suit for annulment of her marriage followed.

About the middle of August Earle left Monroe and it was given out that he had gone abroad and would probably never return to Monroe.

Shortly afterward it was reported that Earle had sailed for Europe on the same ship with Miss Gertrude Buell Dunn of Chicago. It was also stated that on this trip Earle intended to visit his first wife and see his son. According to reports from Paris he saw neither. A fortnight ago Miss Dunn returned to this country.

RACE LINES AT McKEES ROCKS.

Americans Around Flag Drive Away Foreigners and Vote to Work.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 16.—At least sixty persons were injured at McKees Rocks today in fighting between the foreign element among the strikers and American strikers. About noon to-day 2,500 Americans waved a giant American flag in the faces of 4,000 foreigners, and dared them to "Come out and fight!" but the foreigners would not.

Foreign workmen held the streets of McKees Rocks, parading up and down, throwing stones, and shooting indiscriminately during the afternoon. Street cars were stoned during the day until the service was stopped. About noon the entire body of strikers went to the Indian Mound.

"These Americans are always interfering with your rights," said a Hungarian speaker.

"You're a liar!" shouted a striker whose name is Kelly.

Grasping the big American flagstaff beside which the speaker had been standing, Kelly shouted:

"All of you who are Americans follow the flag!"

In five minutes there were 2,500 men grouped around the man with the flag. They hurled all sorts of challenges at their opponents, through whom they had fought to the flag, but the foreign element quickly drifted away.

The Americans held at meeting at which it was decided that at 6:15 A. M. to-morrow every American employe of the Pressed Steel Car Company would march into the works following the flag.

"And if any one tries to stop us or to insult this flag, I—" began Kelly, waving the flag.

"We'll kill them! We'll kill them like dogs!" came from the crowd.

The Pressed Steel Car Company has sent for 1,000 American workmen to be rushed from New York and Chicago to take the place of the 2,000 foreigners still on strike.

HARRIMAN'S ESTATE ALL TO HIS WIDOW

Financier Followed His Father's Example in Drafting the Briefest of Wills.

LEFT MORE THAN $80,000,000

Exact Figures Cannot Be Determined Until the Estate Has Been Appraised for Inheritance Tax.

Following the example set by his father, Edward H. Harriman left his entire estate, real and personal, to his wife, Mrs. Mary W. Harriman. His will, made public yesterday by Charles A. Peabody, President of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Mr. Harriman's personal counsel, is a document of less than 100 words, containing the simple declaration of the bequest and the appointment of Mrs. Harriman as sole executrix. It is dated June 8, 1903. This is the will:

I, Edward H. Harriman, of Arden, in the State of New York, do make, publish, and declare this as and for my last will and testament, that is to say:

I give, devise, and bequeath all my property, real and personal, of every kind and nature, to my wife, Mary W. Harriman, to be hers, absolutely and forever, and I do hereby nominate and appoint the said Mary W. Harriman to be executrix of this will.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal this eighth day of June, in the year nineteen hundred and three.

EDWARD H. HARRIMAN.

Signed, sealed, published, and declared by the testator as and for his last will and testament, in our presence, who, at his request, and in his presence, and in the presence of each other, have each of us hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses.

CHARLES A. PEABODY,
13 Park Avenue, New York.
C. C. TEGETHOFF,
201 East Seventeenth Street, Flatbush, L. I.

This was the will of Mr. Harriman's father, the Rev. Orlando Harriman:

With this ring I thee wed and with all my worldly goods I thee endow. In the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, Amen.

In accordance with this solemn declaration, made at the time of our marriage, I hereby declare my wife sole heir and possessor (in case of my death) of all my property, personal and real, and appoint her to be the sole executrix of this my last will and testament.

This will was dated Sept. 6, 1879. The Rev. Orlando Harriman died April 30, 1881.

No announcement of any kind accompanied the publication of Mr. Harriman's will yesterday. Neither Mr. Peabody nor Mr. Tegethoff, who was Mr. Harriman's confidential secretary, would discuss the disposition of the estate or give an approximation of its size. In well-informed financial quarters it is believed that Mr. Harriman left between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000, and some estimates carried the sum to even higher figures.

It is likely that not until the schedules of the holdings in the estate have been filed for the purpose of the inheritance tax will the extent of it be known, and the silence of the individuals connected with Mr. Harriman's affairs yesterday extended even to the time when these schedules will be filed.

Denial of Trust Fund Report.

Inquiry developed, however, a positive denial that any trust had been created prior to Mr. Harriman's death of the vast holdings in his estate, holdings the control of which would probably be an important factor in the control of some of the properties with which he was identified if it were to become separated from the Harriman interests. The indications are from the manner in which the will was made and the fact that no change in its simple provisions was arranged prior to Mr. Harriman's death, that it was deemed that the transfer to his widow was the most direct way of preserving the relationships which had existed during his life.

As to individual bequests, the prevailing opinion downtown yesterday was that Mr. Harriman had made provision for different relatives and certain individuals near to him outside the limits of his immediate family while he was alive so as to avoid any possibility of a contest over the will after his death. Such a course, moreover, frees these bequests, if made, from the claim of the State under the inheritance tax law.

Of Mr. Harriman's personal charities, other than the Boys' Club, at Avenue A and Tenth Street, which he supported, little has ever been known, as he gave unostentatiously and in a manner such that his most intimate friends did not know just what the extent of these charities might be. It was said by those who knew yesterday that undoubtedly Mrs. Harriman would continue the support of these charities in so far as they were of an institutional nature, and in other particulars would carry out the wishes which her husband may have expressed to her in his lifetime.

Mr. Harriman's bequest of his entire estate to his widow will make Mrs. Harriman one of the richest women in the world. Whether her holdings are greater than those left by Russell Sage to his widow cannot be determined until the estate has been formally appraised.

Wall Street Surprised.

Mr. Harriman's brief will devising his entire estate to his wife came as a great surprise to Wall Street, which had looked for a more comprehensive testament to cover the disposition of the securities in the great number of corporations in which Mr. Harriman was so largely interested. In the absence of such directions, it was taken for granted that Mr. Harriman had made known to those whom he expected to assist in carrying out the settlement of his estate the arrangements which he thought wisest for the future of his properties, and this view of the case was sustained by the statement of those who were closely associated with him in several of his business enterprises.

One of these associates said yesterday that it might be said in a rough way that Mr. Harriman left an estate valued at between $80,000,000 and $100,000,000. The exact value of his numerous holdings in various enterprises, according to this same authority, was a matter of considerable doubt, and it was his belief that even Mr. Harriman himself could not have named anything like a close figure.

Under the New York State laws, an official appraisement will have to be made of the estate by properly appointed officers, and until that time anything like an approximate estimate of his holdings in various corporations cannot be made.

TO BUILD BELMONT HOSPITAL.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont the Sponsor for One as a Memorial.

Special to The New York Times.

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., Sept. 16.—It has been learned on excellent authority that a hospital is soon to be established in Hempstead, sponsored by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, and to be known as the Belmont Hospital, as a memorial to her husband.

From the same source it was learned that it may take the place of the one temporarily established at Freeport a short time ago.

A string of small hospitals throughout the length of Long Island has been a favorite plan of Mrs. Belmont's. It was reported here to-day that negotiations were under way to get options on property facing the park here, between Fulton Avenue and Sammis Street, for a site for the institution.

RAILROAD TRAIN HITS RACING FIRE ENGINE

DRIVER'S BACK IS BROKEN

His Stoker Hurt—Horses Killed Instantly—Flagman Says Locomotive Engineer Didn't Heed Danger Signal.

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 16.—Engine 4 of this city, speeding to a fire to-night across the tracks of the Long Branch Division of the Jersey Central Railroad, was struck by the incoming South Amboy local passenger train at First Avenue, near the Elizabeth Avenue station. The horses were killed instantly. The driver, Bernard Travers of 535 Fulton Street, Elizabeth, was probably mortally injured, and Stoker Harris Fine of 116 Franklin Street received painful injuries.

The fire engine was responding to an alarm for a blaze in the residential section. With its whistle screeching it whirled along First Street, which runs across the railroad tracks at grade, with gates at either side of the crossing. Michael Green, the flagman at the crossing, saw it coming along with a stream of sparks issuing from the smokestack and the horses galloping full speed, just when the headlight of the South Amboy local appeared in sight. He calculated that fire engine and train would reach the crossing at the same moment unless he could stop one of them.

Green decided that it was more important to let the fire engine pass, so, seizing his red lantern, he stepped to the tracks and swung it in wide circles.

On came the fire engine, but to the flagman's dismay, the train did not slacken speed. Green, in desperation, shouted to the fire engine driver, now within a few feet of the crossing, and, leaning far out over the seat, telling him to check his horses. The driver did not appear to hear him, or if he did he evidently decided to take the firemen's chance.

The horses, spurred on with lashes from the driver's whip, dashed on to the tracks. There was a loud screech from the locomotive whistle, a crash, and the next moment the fire engine was hurtling through the air in front of the local. It had been caught squarely in the middle by the local's engine.

As the wheels of the train ground down under the pressure of the airbrakes the engine toppled to the tracks. Driver Travers was hurled beneath the engine, and his stoker, Fine, was jostled off the rear step, landing in the ditch at the side of the tracks. The horses, dragged beneath the train, were badly mangled.

When the local had been stopped the crew went back and picked up Travers, unconscious, with his back broken. Passengers from the train, who had come from South Amboy and points on the way up to Elizabeth, piled on to the tracks amid great confusion. An ambulance was called from the Alexian Hospital and Travers was hurried there. Fine was not seriously injured and was attended by a surgeon at the scene of the accident.

Christopher Riley, engineer of the South Amboy local, living in Jersey City, was arrested after the police had heard the flagman's story. He declared he did not see the warning signal.

The wrecked fire engine's place at the fire, which was slight, was taken by another engine.

CARRY ON HARRIMAN PLANS.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., Sept. 16.—The Erie Railroad Company, according to a report here, contemplates carrying out at least part of the plans of the late E. H. Harriman in regard to the development of the territory beyond the Second Orange Mountain. The company is said to have made preliminary surveys for a new spur of the Greenwood Lake Division. The proposed branch line is to run directly south from Little Falls and will skirt the western base of the Second Mountain from Singac.

Stephen S. Francisco, who has a dairy farm on the line of the proposed extension, about midway between Little Falls and Caldwell, said to-day that a party of Erie officials were at his place recently to look over the ground, and that engineers had gone over the field and plans for a route were said by them to be in course of preparation.

Mr. Harriman had plans for a great project which involved the opening of a tunnel that started several years ago in Montclair to tap the region beyond the First and Second Mountains with a direct line to New York.

$5,000 JEWELRY LOSS.

Mrs. George R. Fearing, Jr., Tells Boston Police It Occurred in Newport.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The loss of about $5,000 worth of jewelry at Newport, R. I., within a few weeks was reported to the Boston police to-day by Mrs. George R. Fearing, Jr. The police authorities would give no details.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 16.—News from Boston of Mrs. Fearing's loss caused much surprise among those who were asked about it here. Chief of Police Crowley knew nothing of the loss. The caretaker at the cottage on the Cliffs which Mr. and Mrs. Fearing occupied until last Tuesday was surprised to hear of it. The cottage belongs to Col. George R. Fearing, uncle of Mr. Fearing. When Mrs. Fearing played tennis here she invariably wore large eardrops.

It was recalled here to-day that after the ball given to the tennis players in August, Mrs. Joseph R. Dilworth was attacked by two men at her doorway, who tried to snatch her necklace of diamonds upon her return from the ball. That night Mrs. Dilworth lost a diamond earring, which has not been found as yet, although the grounds of the Dilworth cottage were raked thoroughly, and the Casino grounds, ballroom, and the route Mrs. Dilworth took homeward were searched.

FULTON DESCENDANT COMMITS SUICIDE

Moore Had Been Suffering from "the Bends," Contracted in Hudson Tube Work.

INVENTOR'S GRANDNEPHEW

Dead Man Represented the Fulton Family on the Trial Trip of the Reproduction of the Clermont.

Charles K. Moore, 51 years old, a retired civil engineer and a grand nephew of Robert Fulton, the inventor of the Clermont, killed himself last night by taking poison in the room which he occupied in the home of Louis A. Johnson, at 307 Columbus Avenue. Ill health following an attack of the "bends," which he suffered while working in the Pennsylvania tunnels two years ago, is believed to have been the cause of his act.

Mr. Moore was one of the representatives of the Fulton family on the trial trip of the reproduction of the Clermont the other day, and in a letter to Herman Ridder, Chairman of the Celebration Committee, he asked for a place in the parade or for seats in the grand stand.

Just before taking the cyanide of potassium which ended his life, Mr. Moore talked cheerfully with Mr. Johnson. This was just before dinner, and when the meal was announced Mr. Moore retired to his room, telling Mr. Johnson that he did not care for any food. The Johnsons heard him enter the bathroom, where he bathed and shaved. Later he went again to his room.

It was a little after 7 o'clock when the Johnsons were alarmed by a noise in Mr. Moore's room. Mr. Johnson went in and found the engineer lying on his bed, unconscious. Believing that he was suffering from a recurrence of the "bends," Mr. Johnson sent for Dr. W. B. Holden of the Hotel Walton at Seventieth Street and Broadway, who hurried to the Johnson home, but pronounced Mr. Moore dead when he had examined him. A glass that the physician said had contained the cyanide of potassium was found on the bed beside him.

Mr. Moore had lived with the Johnsons for the last five years, said Mr. Johnson last night. In that time he had never known him to be morose or to talk of committing suicide, and he said he had no idea where Mr. Moore had obtained the poison with which he had killed himself.

The dead man was a graduate of Columbia University, according to a brother who arrived later, and was a member of several clubs. He had done no work since his illness, the brother said. The dead man's wife is an invalid, living at Eagle Bridge, Rensselaer County, N. Y. He had one son, James Moore, who lives in New Jersey and is a clerk in a broker's office in Wall Street. A sister, Mrs. Organon, lives in Hackensack.

There was no note explaining the suicide, but a stamped and sealed letter, addressed to Herman Ridder, as Vice President of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Committee, was found on the table.

Johnson said that Mr. Moore had read this letter to him on Wednesday. It asked, he said, what provision had been made for descendants of Robert Fulton by the committee. He said that Mr. Moore had told him he was related to the inventor of the steamboat. Coroner Acritelli said he found papers in Moore's room indicating that he was a grandnephew of Robert Fulton and that he was a Deputy Street Cleaning Commissioner under Col. Waring.

Coroner Acritelli gave out the text of Mr. Moore's letter to Herman Ridder. This was the note:

Herman Ridder, Esq.,
President Hudson-Fulton Centenary Committee.

Dear Sir:—As the grandnephew of Robert Fulton I take the liberty of addressing you to ascertain if any provision will be made for this generation to view the parade or take any other part in it. As the descendants of the Fulton lines (that is, the Moore part of it,) are all civil engineers, my father, James Moore, being a pioneer in railroad construction, it struck me that perhaps you might want one of his sons, at least, to represent him. James Moore's grandmother was Elizabeth Fulton, sister of Robert. James Moore, my father, constructed the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad and many others. To be candid, I am more proud of what my father achieved than I am of what his granduncle did, so, Mr. Ridder, you will see that we are a proud lot. What I have done or will do will be told later, after my death. I merely drop you this line for your consideration, awaiting your reply, I am,

Yours very respectfully,
CHARLES K. MOORE.

The Coroner said he believed from the tone of the letter that Mr. Moore's act was the impulse of the moment. The phrase "awaiting your reply" seemed to imply this, he said. The Coroner issued a permit for the removal of the body to the son, James, who will have it removed to Elizabeth, N. J., for burial.

MAN SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Killed with a Charge of Buckshot as He Returned from a Dance.

Special to The New York Times.

CENTRAL ISLIP, L. I., Sept. 16.—Irving J. Nelson, 36 years old, a prosperous bicycle dealer of this place, was found murdered early this morning on a lonely road bordering the grounds of the Central Islip Hospital for the Insane. He had been shot in the back with a heavy charge of buckshot. His backbone was broken and his heart penetrated.

The murdered man's wife and Augustus Schwartz, a boarder in the Nelson home, were arrested on Coroner Savage's order.

According to persons who knew the Nelsons intimately the pair agreed at their marriage that neither should place any restraint upon the other, but that each should do exactly as he or she pleased.

There was a ball at Bayshore on Wednesday night, and Nelson hired a carriage from G. H. Hilliard, a livery keeper, to go to the affair. He did not announce his intention so to do, but called at the home of Gertrude Lupke, who lives at Central Islip, and took her to the ball.

Schwartz, who works for Hilliard, is a boarder in the Nelson home. Coroner Savage believed that he might have known something about Nelson's intentions and destination, and he had the man and Mrs. Nelson brought before him. Both protested that they knew nothing that would throw any light on the case. They were held pending further investigation.

Early this morning, Ira Thompkins, a fireman employed on the hospital grounds, found Nelson's body. It had been dragged for 100 yards, the reins catching in his clothing when he fell dead from the carriage. Six buck shot were taken from the body by the physicians.

"As the man's gold watch and money had not been disturbed, and as there were no evidences of a struggle, it seems evident that the murder was not for purposes of robbery," said Coroner Savage. "Jealousy or revenge probably led to the crime."

The Lupke girl told the Coronor that they had returned from the dance at 2 o'clock this morning. The man's body was found an hour later. She said she did not hear of the murder until 9 o'clock this morning.

TAFT'S WIRELESS TO PINCHOT.

President Sends Voluminous Message to Forester at Avalon.

AVALON, Catalina Island, Cal., Sept. 16.—A voluminous message from President Taft to Gifford Pinchot, Chief Forester of the United States, was sent from the mainland at Los Angeles by wireless to this station yesterday, and taken from here to San Clemente Island on the launch Cornell, it was announced to-day. The message was read by Mr. Pinchot at midnight, but he declined to make any statement regarding its contents, or the recent developments in the Ballinger incident. He immediately wrote a reply to the President, which was brought back to the wireless station here by the crew of the Cornell.

Mr. Pinchot will return to Avalon Tuesday and then will go direct to the mainland. With him is former Gov. Pardee of California, who scored Secretary Ballinger in a speech at Spokane.

A correspondent who went in a launch to San Clemente was unable to secure from either Mr. Pinchot or Mr. Pardee any expression regarding the action of the President in exonerating Secretary Ballinger in the matter of the Glavis charges.

GLAVIS IS DISMISSED.

Man Who Made Charges Against Ballinger Removed by Telegraph.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—L. R. Glavis, Chief of the Field Division of the General Land Office, with headquarters at Seattle, Wash., was dismissed to-day from the service by telegraph by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger. A. Christensen, Chief of the Field Division of the General Land Office at Portland, Ore, has been placed in temporary charge of the Seattle division.

The summary removal of Mr. Glavis was in accordance with authority given Secretary Ballinger in a letter to him from President Taft, who, in directing the dismissal, vindicated Secretary Ballinger and other officials of the Interior Department of the charges brought against them by Glavis in connection with the so-called Cunningham group of coal land cases in Alaska. No explanation was offered for the peremptory dismissal of Glavis, it having been stated at the department early in the day that the formal order in the case probably would be issued in a day or two.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—One man was killed and twenty others were knocked down by an electric current during a balloon ascension here to-day. Four were so badly burned that they were taken to a hospital.

A Toledo aeronaut named Nasar undertook to make an ascension at the fair grounds in his dirigible balloon. In rising the frame of the airship became entangled in a couple of wires. A crowd of spectators rushed forward and grasped the framework in order to free the balloon. The wires were in contact with the iron framework of the balloon and 2,200 volts of electricity passed into the men.

Some were only slightly stunned, but Malcolm Campbell of Ottawa and Carl E. Wingerter, one of the aeronaut's assistants, were revived with difficulty. Edward Keating of Belleville, Ontario, died in an ambulance on the way to the hospital.

This afternoon the airship made a successful ascension, but alighted some distance from the fair grounds. To-night, when it was being brought back to the grounds, it again came in contact with a live wire. It caught fire, and, getting away from those trying to control it, it ascended and was destroyed, only the iron framework remaining.

RIZZO NOT UTICA MURDERER.

Little Fanny Infusino in the Hospital Says He's Not the Man.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 16.—"He is not the man," said little Fanny Infusino to the police to-day when Michele Rizzo, the man arrested as a suspect in Sunday night's double murder, was brought before her at the hospital. Notwithstanding the child's positive declaration the police have not released Rizzo. Three other suspects also were brought before the child this afternoon, but none of them was identified by her. Another suspect was arrested to-night at Little Falls, and he will be brought here to-morrow.

The father of the dead Procopio girl says that Rizzo had a room in his house for the last month, and that he has been very fond of the children, and that he was shocked beyond measure when it was learned that Theresa had been killed.

Physicians attending the Infusino child to-day gave her tetanus anti-toxins as a precaution against the development of lockjaw from the bullet wounds in her arm. The physicians say, however, that the child has shown no symptoms of blood poisoning. They expect that she will fully recover in the course of a few weeks.

VETOES JERSEY TUBE GRANT.

Mayor Wittpenn Insists Company Must Guarantee Five-Cent Fare.

Because they did not include a 5-cent fare clause Mayor Wittpenn of Jersey City sent to the Board of Street and Water Commissioners yesterday his veto of the ordinance recently passed, granting to the Hudson Tunnels Company rights of way, for an annual compensation, under the city's streets.

The Mayor insists that the tunnel company be required to guarantee a 5-cent fare from any part of the city to Manhattan. He declares that Jersey City must compete with New York, where one can ride seventeen miles for a nickel. He says that the tunnels are a benefit if they provide transportation at a reasonable price.

"Experience in the past in granting corporations valuable public rights without requiring adequate compensation," he said, "should make public officials especially vigilant for the future." Action on the veto will be taken at the meeting of the Street and Water Board next Monday.

AT 87 HE'S A PROUD FATHER.

Mr. Thiry's Fifth in Ten Years is John Henry, Jr.

From the fact that his friends did not learn until yesterday that he had again become a father on Saturday, Sept. 4, it may be inferred that J. H. Thiry, 87 years old, of Academy Street, Long Island City, is not of a boastful disposition. But Mr. Thiry is proud and happy over the advent of his youngest child.

Mr. Thiry became widely known years ago when he originated the School Savings Bank system. Eleven years ago, when 76 years old, he married Miss Margaret O'Connor, a comely young woman. About a year after the marriage a young Thiry was born, and there was jubilation in the home. At intervals during the intervening ten years four other children have been born to the couple. The latest is John Henry, Jr., who does not yet know how happy he has made his father.

BARTLETT IS READY TO SEEK SOUTH POLE

TYRIAN AT BATTLE HARBOR

Peary Declines Passage to Sydney on Steamer and May Start South in His Own Ship To-day.

BATTLE HARBOR, Labrador, Sept. 16.—Capt. Bartlett, commander of Peary's ship, the Roosevelt, wants to go to the south pole.

"I believe," he said to-day, "that the application of Peary's methods would produce the best results in the antarctic."

His more immediate plan is to study civil engineering at Cornell.

Capt. Bartlett displayed the flag of Newfoundland at 87.53 north latitude, and he enjoys the distinction of having been nearer the north pole than any other white man of the party, except Peary. He commanded Peary's last supporting party, and shooks hands with the commander and bade him good-bye and good luck 127 miles from the pole. Speaking of his part in the expedition he said:

"In following the commander over the polar ice we regarded him with absolute faith. Our determination and our cry was, 'He must get to the pole,' and every man of us did his utmost to help him attain the success we believed he was bound to achieve. Peary filled the members of his party with daring.

"The last observation, other than those taken by the commander himself, was made by me. Peary admonished me to 'be very careful.' I could not realize that we were at last so near the pole. I wrote the record of that observation with the closest attention.

Made Sure of British Record.

"After parting company with Peary I did not immediately turn back, but continued onward for six miles to allow for the ice movement, and to make sure that I really had obtained the British record. Then, with two Eskimos, one sledge, and eighteen dogs, I turned my face south, and started on the homeward journey, sad at heart that it was not my fortune to be able to go on with the commander. But I was in his hands, to go when and where he directed.

"The return trip to Cape Columbia was uneventful. Two dogs were killed and thrown to the rest of the pack. When the whole party had reassembled we found the Roosevelt in good condition, and averaged six knots on the trip south."

Capt. Bartlett said that one of his soundings well on toward the pole disclosed a depth of 2,000 fathoms without bottom. At another point 1,200 fathoms were let down and bottom not reached. In still another mud from the sea floor was brought up at a thousand fathoms and will be subjected to microscopic examination.

Asked at what point furthest north he had seen the Bible, Capt. Bartlett said that there may have been a copy on the Roosevelt, but divine service was not held on board. No missionaries were met among the North Greenland tribes, who, he said, have never been Christianized, and never heard of the Bible.

McMillan Well and Strong.

Prof. Donald B. McMillan, whose feet were badly frost-bitten and who reluctantly consented to be sent back to Winter headquarters, is now well and strong. Prof. McMillan says that there are wonderful trout lakes in the North, and musk oxen in thousands. According to the natives, they had shot musk oxen throughout the Winter, showing that they do not migrate. McMillan gathered specimens of bird life in greater variety and number than any previous arctic expedition. Not less than twenty-five different varieties of birds were seen north of the eighty-second parallel. He has already prepared many specimens, among which are eggs of a variety never before found.

There are two young foxes on the Roosevelt, which is filled with stuffed birds, heads, horns, and other trophies. One of the Eskimo dogs which went to the pole with Peary is being taken to the United States for breeding purposes.

George Borup, the official photographer of the expedition, has a thousand negatives.

The Canadian Government steamer Tyrian arrived here this morning from Sydney. Capt. Dickson of the Tyrian, in behalf of his Government, congratulated Commander Peary on his reaching the pole and extended to him an invitation to return to Sydney on the Tyrian as the guest of the Dominion Government.

May Start South To-day.

Commander Peary thanked the Canadian officer for his Government's good wishes and regretted his inability to accept the invitation, as he had decided to return on the Roosevelt, following his invariable custom of taking his own ship into port. The Roosevelt is being painted, and it is thought that she will be ready to start to-morrow for Sydney.

The Roosevelt reached Battle Harbor with only ten tons of coal in her bunkers. Sixty tons have been taken on here. From the time of leaving Sydney in 1908 until she reached here, about nine tons, or nearly 6,000 loaves of bread, were baked and eaten on the Roosevelt.

Chief Engineer Wardwell, to whom Commander Peary has given praise for keeping the machinery up to a high state of efficiency, says he intends to settle in his old home at Bucksport, Me.

The steamer Strathcona has arrived here with Dr. Greenfell, the noted Labrador physician, on board, and her flags are flying in honor of Peary.

Peary Tells of Observations.

Commander Peary consented to-day to talk further concerning his successful dash to the north pole. He dwelt particularly upon the observations taken at the apex of the world, and the movements of Harry Whitney, the sportsman of New Haven, Conn., who has been described as the bearer of records substantiating Dr. Frederick A. Cook's claim to have reached the pole on April 21, 1908.

"We took five observations before reaching the pole," Commander Peary said. "Two of them were made and worked out by the late Prof. Ross G. Marvin, who prepared duplicate records in each case, and duly signed the duplicate certificates. To guard against accident I took one set of these papers and Prof. Marvin took the other.

"When at a distance of 125 miles from the pole, the third observation was made by Capt. Bartlett, who also signed the records and certificates in duplicate, he retaining one set and I the other. The fourth and fifth observations were made by myself, the last being taken five miles from the pole proper."

"Was there more than one observation taken at the pole, and by whom?" the explorer was asked.

"There were several observations," he replied. "And I took them all myself. They all agreed. You must understand that the pole is a theoretical point, without length, breadth, or thickness. Its actual location depends on the accuracy of the instruments employed and the conditions under which the observations are taken."

Will Not Discuss Deposit.

"You have stated, Commander Peary, that a copy of your records and polar observations was wrapped in a piece of a silk American flag and deposited in an ice cavity at the pole; did any person witness this act?"

To this question Commander Peary declined to make any answer at present.

Continuing, Mr. Peary said that Dr. Cook was expected by the world to submit to an impartial tribunal, or Board of Arbitration, a revised and authentic signed statement of his alleged discovery of the pole. Dr. Cook would soon reach the United States, Commander Peary said, and he was pleased with the prospect of the matter being submitted for consideration at an early date. It should be done inside of a couple of weeks, and when it was done, the commander declared, he was prepared to turn over to the Board of Arbitration, to the public, and to scientific bodies an array of testimony which would disprove Dr. Cook's claims for all time.

He said he had stated in a private message to a friend that Dr. Cook had given the world a "gold brick." This message had been allowed to become public, and while he would have preferred a more elegant expression, he was willing now to let these words stand because they were at least emphatic.

Will Make Records Public.

He said also that he would turn over to a competent tribunal and the public certified copies of his own observations made on his trip to the pole, with all other information bearing thereon. Peary does not care to exhibit these records at the present time for the reason that the information contained therein, if divulged in advance of the placing on file of Dr. Cook's authorized and definite statement, might be of advantage to the Cook partisans.

It is rumored here that Commander Peary's brief will contain sensational statements, and that a portion of his document was prepared as long ago as the early months of 1908, when letters were received from Dr. Cook, in Greenland, giving notice that he intended to make a dash for the pole.

Asked how Harry Whitney happened to remain in the North, Commander Peary said that Whitney was one of a party of sportsmen who went as passengers on board the steamer Erik. The party included Whitney, W. Norton of New York, a man named Harned, and G. J. Crafts of Washington, who came for the purpose of taking magnetic observations for Dr. Bauer, head of the Department of Terrestial Magnetism of the Carnegie Institute at Washington.

Whitney Wanted to Stay.

At Etah, where it was determined to land a party and supplies for the relief of Dr. Cook, particularly in view of the fact that Rudolph Francke was being invalided home, Whitney asked if he might remain on the station to hunt walrus and polar bears in the Spring and make a trip to Ellesmere Land with Eskimos after musk oxen. This was decided on. In order to provide against the contingency of the Roosevelt not coming down from the North in the Summer of 1909, in which event he would be obliged to remain in the arctic for two years, Mr. Whitney made arrangements for a ship to come up for him this Summer.

"While I am not in a position to go into the details of the plans in regard to this relief ship," Commander Peary continued, "I was informed by Whitney and Norton that the general proposal was that Norton should get up another party of sportsmen, and that this party, who were to be Whitney's friends or relatives, should pick him up. Whitney had no doubt as to this ship coming North, and when the Roosevelt was sighted by Eskimos at Etah on Aug. 17 last Whitney started out at once in a sailboat for the Roosevelt under the impression that she was his ship.

"As a matter of fact the party of sportsmen did not materialize, but the relief vessel Jeanie was sent North to bring Whitney back. On her arrival Whitney was transferred to the Jeanie from the Roosevelt, and he is now probably engaged in hunting bears somewhere on the west side of Baffin Bay, or Davis Strait."

Can't Explain Cook's Move.

Asked if Dr. Cook was aware that Whitney expected a ship and what his reasons could have been for not returning to the United States on that vessel, if he wanted to go back, Commander Peary said he did not know. He explained that Whitney might have expected his ship at Etah about Aug. 5. If the Jeanie had returned at once after taking Whitney on board, the Commander continued, she could have reached Sydney on Aug. 15 or 20 last.

Asked how Dr. Cook had made his way from Etah to South Greenland, Commander Peary replied that he probably traveled by dogs and sledges south and across Melville Bay.

All the members of Commander Peary's party agree that the far North has a mysterious fascination for them, and they say they would like to go back. They ascribe Commander Peary's determination to reach the north pole partly to this lure, and say it drew Prof. Marvin to his death.

Prof. McMillan declared to-day that the Eskimo language is not confined to a few hundred words, as he had been led to suppose, but that it probably contained a thousand words at least. He believes there is a great field here for the ethnologists to determine where the Eskimos came from, and he hopes to go North again to take up this study. Dr. Goodsell, another member of the expedition, is of the opinion that the Japanese and the Eskimos are of the same racial stock.

"Peary's Tribe" of Eskimos.

The Eskimos of Northern Greenland are the most northerly people of the world. They are called "Peary's tribe." A census taken by Prof. McMillan shows that their numbers are increasing. Some years ago they were threatened with extinction, but now they number 218. When the Roosevelt left their shores no member of the expedition would tell them that this was her last visit, but they seemed to understand this fact, inasmuch as the pole had been reached, and gathering on the shore they wept at her departure and waved signals as long as she was in sight.

The following dispatch was received today by Capt. Bartlett of the Roosevelt from Gov. Williams of Newfoundland:

"I transmit with pleasure the inclosed message from the Earl of Crewe, Secretary of State for the Colonies: 'I congratulate Capt. Bartlett and his men on their safe return from the arduous enterprise in which they, as Newfoundlanders, have taken so important a part.

(Signed) "'Crewe.'"

CREW OF SNOWDROP SAVED.

Loss of Whaler in Frobisher Strait Reported from Labrador.

ST. JOHN'S Newfoundland, Sept. 16.—Lloyd's agent here has received a dispatch from Indian Harbor, Labrador, saying that the whaling ship Snowdrop of Dundee, was wrecked on Sept. 18, 1908, in Frobisher Strait. The members of the crew were saved.

This message apparently indicates that the Canadian Government cruiser Arctic, Capt. Bernier, or the steamer Jeanie, Capt. Samuel Bartlett, has arrived at Battle Harbor, as otherwise there is no reasonable way to account for the receipt of this information on the Labrador coast.

The Snowdrop left Dundee in the Summer of 1908. In December a bottle containing a statement that she was sinking with all hands was picked up, and the owners proposed to dispatch another ship to search the Baffin Land coast. To-day's dispatch from Indian Harbor was signed "Ritchie," and a man of that name was among the crew.

HIGHEST POLAR BODY RECOGNIZES PEARY

FIGHT ON COOK PROPOSED

Peary Arctic Club May Undertake to Demolish His Report of Discovering the North Pole.

When Herbert L. Bridgman, Secretary of the Peary Arctic Club, returned to his home in Brooklyn yesterday from Sydney, N. S., he found unopened on his desk a number of cablegrams of congratulation to Commander Peary, among which was the following, dated Uccle, Belgium, Sept. 8, and addressed to Mr. Peary in Mr. Bridgman's care:

NORDENSKJIOLD,
LE COINTE.

Uccle is a suburb of Brussels and is the seat of the Royal Belgian Observatory, of which M. Le Cointe is the director. Capt. Umberto Cagni, who was the Italian leader of the Duc d'Abruzzi's polar expedition, is President of the International Polar Commission; Dr. N. Otto G. Nordenskjiold is its Vice President, and has led a Swedish expedition into the antarctic; M. Le Cointe is its Secretary.

With the weight of these names behind it, the cablegram assumes scientific importance, Mr. Bridgman pointed out, of the first magnitude. It is, he said, the "O. K." to the Peary claims of the highest qualified body of international experts in the world.

The International Polar Commission was appointed on May 29, 1908, by the delegates of 121 nations met in Brussels to constitute the International Polar Congress. It has no Governmental authority, but its members are geographers and scientists of the first rank, and Mr. Bridgman, as a staunch supporter of the integrity of Peary's claim, was very happy to have the stamp of its approval on the Commander's work.

Dr. Cook, while at Copenhagen, received telegrams of congratulation from Brussels and invitations to lecture there, but Mr. Bridgman was positive last night that none of them had come officially from the International Polar Commission, and that the message dated Sept. 8 and made public yesterday was the first scientific recognition of the discovery of the pole yet accorded to either claimant by a world-wide body of recognized authorities on the subject.

There were also messages of congratulation awaiting Mr. Bridgman's return from the Scottish Geographical Society, the French Geographical Society, the Italian Geographical Society, and the American Geographical Society.

The following message from Commander Peary to Mr. Bridgman was received yesterday:

Bridgman, Brooklyn:
Surgeon of Grenfell Hospital here asks can he buy for hospital some of expedition supplies left over. Shall I sell or present to him?
(Signed.) PEARY.

Permission had been telegraphed to Mr. Peary, Mr. Bridgman said, to make a present of the supplies to the hospital.

It was learned last night that a meeting of the Peary Arctic Club will be held early next week to decide whether the club shall launch a formal campaign in behalf of Peary's claims as sole discoverer of the pole. The plan which the club will be asked to pass upon embraces a publicity campaign, including the use of advertising space in newspapers, and a searching investigation of Cook's exploit in climbing Mount McKinley. Money may also be appropriated for the purpose of sending an expedition to Etah to take the testimony of Eskimo witnesses.

Mr. Bridgeman declined last night to discuss the plan to have the Peary club take up the cudgels against Dr. Cook.

"There is nothing to be given out on that subject," he said, "until the scheme has been passed upon by the club."

Bridgman Compelled to Return.

Mr. Bridgman, who went to Sydney to meet Commander Peary, returned without having seen him. Mr. Bridgman was greatly disappointed over Peary's delay in reaching Sydney. He said yesterday that he did not stay there longer because nothing remained for him to do there in the interests of Commander Peary or the Peary Arctic Club. His business affairs here demanded his attention, and he also had a lecture engagement to fill which he did not feel like canceling. Mr. Bridgman will lecture on Tuesday night in the Metropolitan Temple, Manhattan.

Gen. Hubbard of the Peary Arctic Club, who has been at Bar Harbor, will return to town to-day. It is expected that he will confer with Mr. Bridgman and other members of the club as to plans for the return of Commander Peary and the care of the explorer's ship, the Roosevelt. Mr. Bridgman said yesterday that he had no news concerning Peary other than that which had already been wired down from the north and published.

"The Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity congratulates the discoverer of the pole, thanking him for the honor to its flag, and offers welcoming banquet any date you may select."

This message sent by cable and wireless to Robert E. Peary at Battle Harbor, Labrador, resulted from Commander Peary's recent announcement that the ensign of his college fraternity was one of the flags he raised at the north pole.

James Anderson Hawes, Secretary of the Delta Kappa Epsilon Association of New York City, who signed the message on behalf of the fraternity, explained today how the explorer came to honor the organization at the moment of his supreme triumph. Shortly before Mr. Peary left for his last trip North a banquet was tendered to him by the New York association. On that occasion a small silk flag of the fraternity was presented to him, and he promised to carry it on his expedition and "nail it to the pole" just below the National standard if his quest proved successful.

Mr. Hawes says the discoverer wore on all his expeditions the Delta Kappa Epsilon badge, which he received when he joined the fraternity at Bowdoin College, Maine.

Banquet Planned for Henson.

Matthew Henson, the negro who was the only man besides Eskimos with Commander Peary at the north pole, will have a reception here quite as important among the members of his own race as that which the white people will tender to Mr. Peary.

A committee of leading negro residents of New York has been organized to arrange a banquet for him. Charles W. Anderson, United States Collector of Internal Revenue, who is Chairman, said today that auxiliary committees will be asked to co-operate for the colored people of Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, and other cities.

An effort will be made to gather at the dinner leading negroes from every Eastern State. The date of the banquet will be announced as soon as the committee can get into communication with Henson.

Dr. R. O. Stebbins, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Arctic Club of America, and J. Knowles Harl of the club called upon Acting Mayor McGowan yesterday and urged him to take steps for extending an official welcome to Dr. Frederick A. Cook upon his arrival in the city.

Mr. McGowan said he was heartily in favor of the plan, but that he did not feel like acting in the matter, in view of the return to the city to-day of Mayor McClellan. He said, however, that he would bring the question to the latter's attention.

The first person to greet Dr. Cook when he returns home next week will be his wife. Mrs. Cook, who has consistently kept herself in the background during all the discussion following the announcement of her husband's success, surprised the committee of the Arctic Club, which has the reception in charge, by asking yesterday that the plans for meeting the explorer in the lower harbor be so arranged that she will be able to have a few words with him before he is turned over to the thousand or more friends who will go to meet his ship, the Oscar II., on the chartered steamer Grand Republic.

In accordance with her wishes, the committee will engage a tug, by which Dr. Cook will be transferred from the Oscar II. to the Grand Republic. Aboard this tug will be his wife, his children, and his two brothers, and two or three members of the committee, and nobody else except the crew. After a few minutes with his family, the explorer will board the Grand Republic for the trip to Brooklyn, where his former neighbors in the Bushwick Avenue district will give him the first formal welcome on United States soil.

Mrs. Cook will attend the banquet to be given by the Arctic Club in her husband's honor at the Waldorf-Astoria next Thursday.

DOUBTS SOUTH POLE REPORT.

Capt. Scott Does Not Think Peary Will Go to Antarctic.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Capt. Robert F. Scott, who is organizing an expedition to the south pole, speaking to-day on the report that Commander Peary had decided to lead a similar expedition, said:

"I very much doubt that the report is authentic, but am confident that unless our expedition starts next year there is a strong probability that other countries will take up the enterprise along the line of advance developed by our pioneer work."

Capt. Scott announced that Lieut. E. R. Evans, R. N., would command the Discovery, the expedition's ship.

The extraordinary stimulation of public interest in polar exploration is shown in the receipt of $35,000 by Capt. Scott since the announcement of his enterprise and offers to join the expedition in various capacities.

PEARY GAVE AID TO COOK.

Landed Two Men with Supplies for Him at Etah, Greenland.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Commander Robert E. Peary landed two men at Etah with supplies for Dr. Cook on Aug. 11, 1908, according to a letter, made public to-day, which he wrote on that day to the Superintendent of the Coast and Geodetic Survey. In it he says:

"I rejoined the Roosevelt with the Erik late on Aug. 11, with additional Eskimos and dogs and some thirty-five walrus. All the dogs were landed on an island in Etah Fiord, and the Roosevelt was coaled from the Erik. Coal was landed for the return trip, and two men were landed with supplies for the relief of Dr. Cook."

Commander Peary added that he expected to steam north with the Roosevelt that night.

fans at the beginning of the "lucky seventh." Although the inning brought only a blank for the home club, the crowd appreciated his good intentions. When the game ended the throng massed in front of the grand stand with cheers, waving of flags, and shouts for a speech. Mr. Taft smiled and bowed, but did not speak. The party had a lot of trouble getting away, but the police handled the crowd well and they were not jostled

Reviews 150,000 Children.

Mr. Taft arrived here at 11:13 o'clock this forenoon. A dense crowd, restrained by perfect police arrangements, was at the temporary depot at Fifty-fifth Street, where he alighted. This was only the end of the mass that stretched for fifteen miles along the route his automobile was to travel. He was met by a large committee of members of the Commercial and Hamilton Clubs and city, State, and Federal officials.

Thirteen automobiles were outside, and these were entered by the party, and a two hours' review of school children began. There were 150,000 of them, and they stretched for miles in the south parks.

The President bowed and smiled and waved his hands to the enthusiastic youngsters, who sang patriotic songs and waved American flags in his honor. The President's delight at this demonstration showed plainly in his face. The school yells of the young people frequently stirred him to hearty chuckles. The singing was led by cornets at intervals.

Of the many banners under which the cavalcade passed two attracted particular attention. One huge affair read "God Bless Our President," and another "Greetings from 160,000 railway employes."

Ella Flagg Young, the new Superintendent of Chicago schools, the President inquired if all the children were hers.

Pays Compliment to Chicago.

The President reached the Congress Hotel at 12:45, and retired for a few moments' rest. Then he took the seat of honor at the Commercial Club's luncheon. He was in the best of voice and spirits, and was a fine picture of health after his forty days of golf at Beverly. He made a short speech, in which he said:

"I wish to express my profound gratitude to those who have made it possible to have that delight and pleasure, which very few men, I think, have enjoyed, of looking into the eyes and hearing the voices of 150,000 Chicagoans who are growing up to follow in the footsteps of their fathers and mothers, and make this the greatest—certainly one of the greatest centres of influence—for good, and the elevation of the human race, that the world knows."

Then he went to the ball game. Both sides of the streets from the downtown district to the grounds, three miles away, were jammed with people as the party passed.

On his return from the game Mr. Taft dined quietly with the Hamilton Club at the Congress Hotel, made a notable address to a mass meeting in Orchestra Hall this evening, and as a finale attended for a few minutes the ball of the American Bankers' Association at the Auditorium.

Mr. Taft began his day early. While speeding toward Chicago on his private car, the Mayflower, he arose early, and, sending for Assistant Secretary Mischeler at 7 A. M., started in before breakfast to dictate a rough draft of his Orchestra Hall speech.

He made his first public appearance of the day at Elkhart, where he stepped out on the rear platform just long enough to thank the crowd gathered at the station for its cordial greeting. He begged off from making a speech.

Charles R. Crane of Chicago, the new Minister to China, boarded the train at Elkhart and rode into Chicago with the President. Mr. Crane sails for China Oct. 6.

OUR CRIMINAL TRIALS DISGRACE, SAYS TAFT

Game, Declares President, Where Criminal Seems to Have Sporting Public's Sympathy.

WANTS LAW COMMISSION

Commends Labor Unions in America for Firm Stand Against Socialism —Defends Non-Union Men Also.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—President Taft, in his speech to the mass meeting at Orchestra Hall to-night, commended the labor unions of the country because, as he said, their leaders had "set their faces like flint against the propaganda of Socialism," with which labor unionism in France and England was more and more infected. He declared that employers who declined to deal with organized labor were behind the times; that the unions had done much to bring about higher wages; that if he were a workingman he would probably join a union himself, but that at the same time the advantages of trades unionism did not weigh a feather in the scale against the right of any man lawfully seeking employment to work for whom and at what price he would."

He intended, he said, to recommend to Congress legislation to carry out the platform promise as to injunctions, that no injunction or restraining order should be issued without notice except where irreparable injury would result from delay, in which case a speedy hearing should be granted.

From labor unions by way of injunctions the President passed on to the courts. The trouble with them, both civil and criminal, he said, was the undue delay in trials, and he asserted bluntly that the administration of the criminal law in this country was a disgrace to our civilization. "The trial here," said Mr. Taft, "is a game in which the criminal has the advantage, and if he wins he seems to have the sympathy of a sporting public." One remedy, the President added, for this state of affairs was to give the Judges more power in jury trials, as is done in England. At the same time he admitted that the responsibility for the delays he deplored lay largely with the lawyers themselves and with the higher Federal courts, and he thought that the system of the payment of court officers by fees ought to be abolished.

No question before the American people to-day, he went on, was more important than the improvement of the administration of justice, and announced his intention of recommending to Congress the appointment of a commission to take up the question of the law's delay in the Federal courts, adding that he hoped that the report of this commission, when rendered, would serve also as a guide to the States of the Union in effecting remedial legislation.

"We must make it so," the President urged, "that the poor man will have as nearly as possible an opportunity of litigating as the rich man, and under present conditions, ashamed as we may be of it, this is not the fact."

The President's speech, which was frequently interrupted with cheers, was in part as follows:

President Taft's Speech.

"It is just about a year ago to-night that I made a speech in this hall to some 1,800 members of the railroad labor organizations, in which I attempted to convince them that there was nothing in my decisions as a Circuit Judge in labor injunction cases which ought to make them vote against me for the Presidency.

"In the discussions I asserted that I was as much interested as any one in maintaining the cause of labor, when labor, organized or unorganized, by proper methods sought to better its conditions by legislation or otherwise. I said that I expected to recommend to Congress, if I were elected, that inter-State railroads be required to adopt any additional devices found useful for the purpose of saving from loss of life or limb employes engaged in the dangerous business of railroading. I also said that I favored the adoption of legislation looking to a proper definition of the cases in which preliminary injunctions might issue without notice, and defining the proper procedure in such matters.

"Now that the election has come and gone, I want to take this opportunity of saying that I have not forgotten my own promises or those of the platform, and I propose in the next session of Congress to recommend the legislation on the subject of injunction which was promised in the Republican platform and to see whether by such legislation it is not possible to avoid even a few cases of abuses that can be cited against the Federal courts in the exercise of their jurisdiction.

Labor Unions and Politics.

"I do no think trades unionism was greatly aided by the attempt to drag all organized labor into politics, and to induce it to vote one way; but that does not prevent my placing a proper estimate upon the immense good for labor in general which its organization and its efforts to secure higher wages have accomplished.

"I know there is an element among employers of labor and investors of capital which is utterly opposed to the organization of labor. I cannot sympathize with this element in the slightest degree. I think it is a wise course for laborers to unite to defend their interests. It is a wise course for them to provide a fund by which, should occasion arise and strikes or lockouts follow, those who lose their places may be supported pending an adjustment of the difficulties.

"I think the employer who declines to deal with organized labor and to recognize it as a proper element in the settlement of wage controversies is behind the times. There is not the slightest doubt that if labor had remained unorganized wages would be very much lower.

"Nothing I have said or shall say should be construed into an attitude of criticism against or unfriendliness to those workingmen who for any reason do not join unions. Their right to labor for such wages as they choose to accept is sacred, and any lawless invasion of that right cannot be too severely condemned. And I say this with all the emphasis possible, even though the fact is that if I were a workingman, I should probably deem it wise to join a union for the reasons given.

What Organized Labor Has Done.

"The effect of organized labor upon such abuses as the employment of child labor, as the exposure of laborers to undue risk in dangerous employments, to the continuance of unjust rules of law exempting employers from liability for accidents to laborers, has been direct, immediate, and useful, and such reforms in these matters as have taken place would probably be long delayed but for the energetic agitation of the questions by the representatives of organized labor.

"There is one thing to be said in respect to American trades unionism that its critics are not generally alive to. In France the trades unionisms are intensely Socialistic. Indeed, in some of the late difficulties it was plain that there was a strong anarchistic feeling among them and that they opposed all authority of any kind. It is also plain that the tendency toward Socialism in England and England's trades unionism is growing stronger and stronger.

"I need not point out the deplorable results in this country if trades unionism became a synonym for Socialism. Those who are now in active control, the Federation of Labor and all the great railroad organizations, have set their faces like flint against the propagandism of Socialistic principles. They are in favor of the rights of property and of our present institutions, modified by such remedial legislation as to put workingmen on equality with their opponents in trade controversies and trade contracts and to stamp out the monopoly and the corporate abuses which are an outgrowth of our present system, unaccompanied by proper limitations, and I think all of us who are in favor of the maintenance of our present institutions should recognize this battle which has been carried on by the conservative and influential members of trades unionism, and willingly give credit to these men as the champions of a cause which should command our sympathy, respect, and support.

Condemns Law's Delay.

"There is no subject upon which I feel so deeply as upon the necessity for reform in the administration of both civil and criminal law. To sum it all up in one phrase, the difficulty in both is undue delay. It is not too much to say that the administration of criminal law in this country is a disgrace to our civilization, and that the prevalence of crime and fraud, which here is greatly in excess of that in the European countries, is due largely to the failure of the law and its administrators to bring criminals to justice. I am sure that this failure is not due to corruption of officials. It is not due to their negligence or laziness, though of course there may be both in some cases, but it is chiefly due to the system against which it is impossible for an earnest prosecutor and an efficient Judge to struggle.

"We inherited our system of criminal prosecutions and the constitutional provisions for the protection of the accused in his trial, from England and her laws. We inherited from her the jury trial. All these limitations and the jury system are still maintained in England, but they have not interfered with an effective prosecution of criminals and their punishment. There has not been undue delay in English criminal courts.

"In this country we have generally altered the relation of the Judge to the jury. In England the Judge controls the trial, controls the lawyers, keeps them to relevant and proper argument, aids the jury in its consideration of the facts, not by direction but by suggestion, and the lawyers in the conduct of the cases made to feel that they have an obligation not only to their clients, but also to the court and to the public at large not to abouse their office in such a way as unduly to lengthen the trial and unduly to direct the attention of the court and the jury away from the real facts at issue.

"In this country there seems to have been on the part of all State Legislatures a fear of the Judge and not of the jury, and the power which he exercises in an English court has by legislation been reduced from time to time until now, and this is especially true in Western States, he has hardly more power than the Moderator in a religious assembly.

"A murder case in England will be disposed of in a day or two days that here will take three weeks or a month, and no one can say, after an examination of the record in England, that the rights of the defendant have not been preserved and that justice has not been done. It is true that in England they have enlarged the procedure to the point of allowing an appeal from a judgment in a criminal case to a Court of Appeals, but this appeal is usually taken and allowed only on a few questions easily considered by the court above and promptly decided.

"Counsel are not permitted to mouse through the record to find errors that in the trial seemed of little account, but that are developed into great injustices in the court of appeal. This is another defect of our procedure. No criminal is content with a judgment of the court below, and well may he not be, because the record of reversals is so great as to encourage it in every case and to hang important judgments in appellate proceedings sometimes for years.

Would Give Judges More Power.

"I don't know when the reforms are to be brought about in this country. Until our people shall become fully aware and in some concrete way be made to suffer from the escape of criminals from just judgment in this country, this system may continue. One of the methods by which it could be remedied in some degree is to give Judges more power in the trial of criminal cases, and enable them to aid the jury in its consideration of facts and to exercise more control over the arguments that counsel see fit to advance. Judges, and especially Judges who are elected, ought not to be mistrusted by the people. A Judgeship is a great office, and the man who holds it should exercise great power, and he ought to be allowed to exercise that in a trial by jury.

"Then it is undoubtedly true that in England lawyers in the conduct of their cases feel much more and respect much more their obligation to assist the court in administering justice and restrain themselves from adopting the desperate and extreme methods to which American lawyers are even applauded for. The trial here is a game in which the advantage is with the criminal, and if he wins he seems to have the sympathy of a sporting public.

"But reform in our criminal procedure is not the only reform that we ought to have in our courts. On the civil side of the courts there is undue delay, and this always works for the benefit of the man with the longest purse. What the poor man needs is a prompt decision of his case, and by limiting the appeals in cases involving small amounts of money so that there shall be a final decision in the lower court, an opportunity is given to the poor litigant to secure a judgment in time to collect it, and not after he has exhausted all his resources in litigating to the Supreme Court.

"I am a lawyer and admire my profession, but I must admit that we have had too many lawyers in legislating on legal procedure, and they have been prone to think that litigants were made for the purpose of furnishing business to courts and lawyers, and not courts and lawyers for the benefit of the people and litigants.

"The fact that no reform has been instituted may perhaps be due to the circumstance that our Judges have been overloaded with work in the Supreme Court, and thus opportunity has not been seized for this reform. But I conceive that the situation is now ripe for the appointment of a commission by Congress to take up the question of the law's delays in the Federal courts and to report a system which shall not only secure quick and cheap justice to the litigants in the Federal courts, but shall offer a model to the Legislatures and courts of the States by the use of which they can themselves institute reforms.

"Of all the questions that are before the American people I regard no one as more important that this, to wit: the improvement of the administration of justice. We must make it so that the poor man will have as nearly as possible an opportunity in litigating as the rich man, and under present conditions, ashamed as we may be of it, this is not the fact.

"We are entering now upon an era of prosperity which I hope will be long continued. We have just passed a tariff bill which has ended for the time the disturbance of business that always arises from the consideration and agitation over such a bill, and there is nothing now to prevent the application of all the capital and all the forces which have been suspended for the last year and a half or two years by a lack of confidence and a waiting for such settlement, to the expansion of business and the further development of the resources of this country.

"But this prospect of prosperity must not blind us to the necessity for carrying out certain great reforms advocated by Mr. Roosevelt, recommended in the Republican Party platform, which I believe are needed to prevent a return to the abuses which all men recognize the evil of in our previous business methods and the management of our great corporations. I expect to consider these questions more at length at another stage in my journey, as I do also the character of the Tariff bill which has been adopted, and which has been subjected to much criticism."

W. S. PORTER STRICKEN.

Oil Man Attacked by Vertigo in Judge Lovett's Outer Office.

The clerks and visitors in the outer offices of Judge R. S. Lovett, the newly elected Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroad Companies, to succeed E. H. Harriman, at 120 Broadway, were startled shortly after lunch time yesterday afternoon when Vice President and General Manager William S. Porter of the Associated Oil Company of San Francisco, who had just had a conference with Judge Lovett was seen to stagger to a settee and became unconscious.

Mr. Porter is well known about the Union and Southern Pacific offices, as his company furnishes the Southern Pacific with a large part of its fuel oil supplies. While some of the clerks ran to his assistance, others telephoned to his wife at the Waldorf and summoned an ambulance from the Hudson Street Hospital. At the latter institution Mr. Porter lay unconscious for three hours, the hospital authorities believing him to be suffering from an attack of cerebral hemorrhage. At the suggestion of Mr. Wallace, an acquaintance in the Waldorf, Mr. Porter was then removed to Dr. E. W. Lee's sanitarium, in West Fifty-second Street. He regained consciousness soon after, and Dr. Lee said last night that Mr. Porter had merely had an attack of vertigo and would recover, but would have to stay in the sanitarium for some time.

According to Dr. Lee last night, Mr. Porter, accompanied by his wife, went to Europe this Summer, in order that he might take a cure for stomach trouble at Bad Nauheim, Germany. He has lost considerable weight recently, but returned to this country on the record-breaking trip of the Mauretania last Thursday feeling better.

LEATHER MERGER HELD UP.

Writs of Certiorari Against United States and Central Companies.

The merger of the United States Leather Company with the Central Leather Company, which has been in abeyance since 1905, has been halted by the New Jersey courts for the third time by the issuance of orders yesterday by Chancellor Pitney of the Court of Chancery directing both concerns to show cause on Oct. 4 why injunctions should not issue to restrain the proposed combination.

By these orders the meeting of the stockholders of the United States Leather Company called for Sept. 24 to ratify the merger plan is enjoined. The orders were issued on the application of James C. Colgate of James B. Colgate & Co., a stock exchange house which has been the leader in the movement of the minority shareholders to prevent the merger for several years.

The present action is the result of the failure of the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals to pass upon the contentions of the litigants when last year it restrained the merger on the ground that the charter of the Central Leather Company was not sufficiently comprehensive to allow it to absorb its subsidiary.

The Central Leather Company recently amended its charter to overcome the objection of the Court of Errors, and the merger plan was modified in respect to the terms of the exchange of securities. With these changes the plan was to have been submitted at stockholders' meetings Sept. 24.

MISS KING LEFT $1,000,000.

Her Sisters, Historical Society, Church and Charities, the Beneficiaries.

MINEOLA, L. I., Sept. 16.—The will of Mary Rhinelander King, who died at Great Neck on Aug. 12, was filed here today. The value of the estate is said to be more than $1,000,000. The testatrix's jewelry, some pictures, silver, and furniture go to her sisters, Mrs. Alice Davis of 34 East Thirty-ninth Street, Manhattan, and Miss Ellen King.

A miniature of George Washington and other paintings are left to the New York Historical Society. Instructions are made to the executors to purchase one-half of the collection of the Rufus King Library, the property of the late Charles R. King, to be given to the New York Historical Society.

Property at Broadway and Murray Street, Manhattan, is to go to the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society and the Protestant Episcopal Church of America. The King homestead, at Great Neck, is left to the two sisters for their lifetime. If they do not wish to use it as a home it is to go to the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society.

The Church Charities Foundation of Long Island receives $10,000, the New York Historical Society $10,000, and the Cathedral of the Incarnation of Garden City $10,000. There is a long list of bequests to cousins and Vestrymen and clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

HOWARD GOULD TO APPEAL.

Will Ask Review of Wife's Suit—New Trial for Peabody.

Howard Gould means to appeal from the judgment entered against him last June by Supreme Court Justice Dowling, under which Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould obtained a separation and $36,000 a year alimony. This was made evident yesterday when De Lancey Nicoll, counsel for Mr. Gould, submitted to the court a printed list containing 115 findings of fact for Justice Dowling to pass upon.

Beyond the oral decision given from the bench by Justice Dowling, no written decree has been signed. The reason for this was to allow Mr. Nicoll sufficient time to prepare and have printed the 115 questions which he desires the court to pass on. These questions, or findings, are either accepted or rejected by the court, and form the basis on which an appeal is taken. Unless an appeal is to be taken by the defeated litigant, this course is rarely if ever adopted.

Inquiry at Mr. Nicoll's office yesterday showed that an appeal has been decided on. Clarence J. Shearn, counsel for Mrs. Gould, would not discuss the matter at all, but from another source it was learned that should Mr. Gould take an appeal it is very likely that a counter-appeal will be taken by Mrs. Gould from that part of the judgment giving her $36,000 a year alimony. She is said to be dissatisfied with this amount.

Police Commissioner Baker announced yesterday morning that Frank Peabody, the detective who was dismissed by ex-Commissioner Bingham on the charge of insubordination, would have his case reopened and that the charges would be heard again to-day. Peabody's dismissal was due to his part in the Howard Gould divorce case. He went to Baltimore under orders of ex-Inspector McLaughlin, and when questioned about it, at first denied it and then admitted it. When put on trial he pleaded guilty and was dismissed.

TELLS OF COAL LAND DEALS.

R. J. Ireland Testifies in the Wyoming Conspiracy Case.

The hearing in the extradition proceedings against Wilberforce Sully, Chairman of the Board of the American Malt Corporation, George T. Dally, Frank T. Wells, and Rufus J. Ireland, who are charged with a conspiracy to get unlawfully valuable coal lands in Wyoming by means of dummy entrants, was continued yesterday before United States Commissioner Hitchcock in the Federal Building.

The four men and several others, who are residents of Big Horn County, Wyo., were indicted recently by the Federal Grand Jury in Wyoming on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Government, and the present proceedings are to determine whether the New Yorkers involved in the case shall be taken West for trial.

Mr. Ireland was on the witness stand most of the yesterday's session. His testimony in answer to Lewis L. Delafield, his counsel, had to do primarily with the financial transactions involved in the organization of the Owl Creek Coal Company, to which a part of the lands were transferred after various residents of Amityville, L. I., where several of the defendants live, had taken them out in their own names.

It has been admitted by the defense that the payments of $10 an acre, necessary to take over the lands, were not made by the alleged entrants but by persons prominently identified with the Owl Creek Coal Company.

APPEAL TO FUSION TO CHOOSE GAYNOR

The Justice's Nine Sponsors Say No Other's Achievements Are Like to His.

We Are Anti-Tammany, He's Pro-Gaynor, Says Herbert Parsons—Judge Himself Will Give No "Partisan Pledges."

On the eve of the fusion conference which will be called to order at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Fifth Avenue Building, another attempt was made last night by the nine men who have assumed responsibility for the independent candidacy of Justice William J. Gaynor for Mayor to interest the fusion forces in their candidate. At a meeting held at the Hotel Astor the Gaynor Committee sent a letter to the Democratic and the Republican organizations, the Independence League organization, and the Committee of One Hundred, in which they decared that the past services of the Brooklyn jurist entitled him to consideration on the part of all men who had the city's welfare at heart. In part the letter says:

> The names of other candidates have been mentioned—some of them men for whom we have the greatest respect, and in whose honesty of purpose we have the fullest confidence. Is there among them, however, a single man whose public life is the open book that Justice Gaynor's has been for nearly a quarter of a century; whose achievements in exterminating rottenness and tyranny in public life can compare with his, or whose candidacy would be so sure of overwhelming success?
> Whatever may be the purpose of your organization in State or National politics, both honesty and intelligence demand that you lay partisanship aside and sacrifice all selfish interests to the immediate improvement that our civic condition so sadly needs.
> Listen to the voice of the people of the five boroughs and you will hear everywhere expressed the hope that Justice Gaynor will be the next Mayor of New York. We urge you in your convention to fulfill this hope. You have the opportunity. A grave responsibility rests upon you.

Appeal Unlikely to Win.

No effort was made in the letter of the commite to explain away Justice Gaynor's declaration that he had been assured of the Tammany nomination for Mayor. It is safe to predict that unless this is done, friends of the Brooklyn jurist in the Committee of One Hundred will not be in a position to make any impression in his favor on the Fusion conference. President Herbert Parsons of the Republican County Committee, when asked last night if by any possible chance Justice Gaynor could be the choice of the Fusion forces, said:

"We are anti-Tammany; Justice Gaynor is not. He is pro-Gaynor.

Meantime the Committee of Nine, which started the Gaynor boom, has done nothing to make his candidacy effective as an independent candidate. Frank J. Price, a member of the committee, was asked last night after the conference at the Hotel Astor if that body had taken any steps to place Justice Gaynor's name on the ballot by petition.

"No," said Mr. Price. "Not that I am aware of."

"Have you learned of any other body of men circulating petitions for the Judge?"

"I have not," said Mr. Price.

The only organization outside of the Committee of Nine and Tammany Hall which has evinced any interest whatever in Justice Gaynor is the Municipal Democracy, composed largely of former Henry George men and ex-Independence Leaguers, with a sprinkling of disgruntled Tammanyites. They have called a mass meeting to nominate Justice Gaynor for Mayor. The meeting is to be held in Cooper Union on Monday night, with Charles A. Towne as the principal speaker.

Gaynor Warns Off Partisans.

Justice Gaynor himself, while visiting the Borough Hall in Brooklyn yesterday, strongly intimated that he would give no partisan pledges in return for a nomination.

"In my library I have a little book on 'The Power of Silence,'" said the Justice. "It would make good reading for some people who consider that their importance grows in the ratio of their words. Silence often gives the right to speak. I could say more on this subject if I had the time. I have said all that I wish to say. I want all of these people who desire partisan pledges of me to keep away. When I worked with Republicans and Democrats alike to destroy corrupt government we did not inquire about one another's National politics, and we shall not do so now."

A mysterious petition for an independent nomination of Justice Gaynor appeared in circulation in Brooklyn yesterday. No one seemed to know who had fathered it. It was seen here and there around the Borough Hall, but there was no noticeable rush to sign it, as no one seemed willing to admit responsibility for the petition.

The Republican County Committee, at its regular meeting last night, appointed a conference committee of five to represent the organization at the fusion conferences. Herbert Parsons will be Chairman of the delegation. The other members are Secretary of State Samuel S. Koenig, Otto T. Bannard, ex-Attorney General Julius M. Mayer, and Secretary Thomas W. Whittle of the County Committee.

If any agreement has been reached, either by the Committee of One Hundred or the Republican organization in reference to candidates, the matter was kept quiet last night. Mr. Parsons said it would be a matter of grave deliberation, and that the fusion conferences would decide. Chairman Outerbridge of the Committee of One Hundred declined to be drawn into any discussion of candidates whatever.

Stimson and Ivins in Front.

According to the best information obtainable, the names now engrossing the attention of the prospective conferrees from the Republican County Committee are those of ex-United States Attorney Henry L. Stimson and William M. Ivins. Of the two, Mr. Parsons is said to lean toward Mr. Stimson, but many Republicans who have talked to Mr. Parsons recently have emphasized the necessity of a lively campaign if Justice Gaynor is nominated, pointing out that Ivins has already shown his fighting qualities; that he is thoroughly familiar with municipal affairs, and that he would be just the man to go after Gaynor on the stump. Job E. Hedges, Congressman Bennet, and Charles S. Whitman still remain on the Republican list of Mayoralty candidates.

THE FAVORED IN TAMMANY.

Murphy Prefers Dowling, but May Take Gaynor to Hit McCarren.

The Mayoralty situation in Tammany Hall has now narrowed down to consideration of two men for the position—Justice William J. Gaynor and Justice Victor J. Dowling. Whether the nomination will go to Justice Gaynor, whom Mr. Murphy does not want, or to Justice Dowling, whom he is anxious to see nominated, will not be decided until after the fusion conference have culminated in the selection of an anti-Tammany ticket, and this ticket has been nominated.

Just now Mr. Murphy is doing more hard thinking than he has done in any previous campaign. By accepting Justice Gaynor as his nominee, he believes he could accomplish one purpose near to his heart—that of putting another nail in Senator McCarren's coffin. For if the Mayoralty nominee should come from Brooklyn, the nominee for Controller logically should come from Manhattan. This would deprive Senator McCarren of the bulk of that patronage which now enables him to maintain in Kings an organization strong enough to stave off the threatened march of the Tiger across the Bridge. The achievement of this purpose, it is said by persons who should know, is just as vital to Mr. Murphy as any consideration that may arise in connection with the Tammany prospects in the campaign.

Never since the preliminary activities of the campaign began has there been such a crush at Tammany Hall as there was yesterday. Every district leader in Manhattan and the Bronx had been summoned by Mr. Murphy, who saw the leaders singly or in groups. Finally, as the day's levee was drawing to a close Mr. Murphy held a conference with Thomas F. McAvoy, Chairman of the Tammany Executive Committee; Senator James J. Frawley, and some of the other elect in the Tammany councils.

Every district leader yesterday who saw the Tammany chieftain was asked just how strong the Gaynor sentiment in his district was and how Justice Dowling would run. When it came to Gaynor, it was said, Mr. Murphy was very much from Missouri.

Incidentally it was said that Justice Gaynor's candidacy received some very hard knocks in the course of the day.

One well-known district leader, after talking to Mr. Murphy, said: "Justice Gaynor will not be nominated; that is my belief."

Mr. Murphy did not have much if anything to say.

"Has Justice Gaynor been dropped from your list of candidates?" one reporter asked him.

"From my list?" said Mr. Murphy. "I have no list; you can search me. Nothing has been settled and nothing will be settled until after the primaries."

"Would you say that the situation is clearing?"

"It's just like the weather, clearing and clouding up. Wait till after the primaries. We are waiting for the primaries now. Then it may either clear altogether or get as cloudy as anything."

In the meantime it is said that both Controller Metz, who knows that he would be wiped off the slate altogether in case the Mayoralty nominee should come from Brooklyn, and Senator McCarren are aware of what is in Mr. Murphy's mind with reference to striking at McCarren through nominating Justice Gaynor. Metz is in a fighting mood, and so is McCarren. It was intimated yesterday that if Gaynor is nominated, Senator McCarren might insist that Controller Metz go on the ticket, too, and that he would retaliate in familiar fashion in case his demand should not be heeded.

TURN ABOUT BY HEARST MEN.

Kings League for Fusion Now—Voted for Straight Ticket Monday.

Hearst politics in Brooklyn still pursue the uneven tenor of their way. The Independence League County Committee of Kings last Monday night adopted a resolution against fusion and in favor of a straight ticket, with William R. Hearst at its head.

This did not prevent the Executive Committee of the same County Committee from appointing three fusion conferrees to meet the Committee of One Hundred and the other prospective fusion elements this afternoon. The conferrees named are W. J. Taylor, Henry A. Powell, and Henry Hanson.

Robert Stewart, the Independence League leader in Kings, was asked last night at 76 Court Street, where the meeting was held, to explain how the Executive Committee could act against the recorded wishes of the body that created it.

"Oh," said Mr. Stewart, "that's easy. I don't think the County Committee's resolution on Monday night will prevail. There was a very strong minority, you know. It will be for the City and County Convention to decide whether we shall fuse or refuse."

Direct Nominations League Formed.

At a meeting held last night in the parlor of the Hotel Marseilles, 103d Street and Broadway, the Direct Nominations League of the Seventeenth Assembly District was organized, with Philip R. Dillon as President, Miles M. Dawson as Vice President, I. H. Falk as Treasurer, and Willis B. Davis as Secretary. The purpose of the league will be to bring about the selection of a representative to the Assembly who will vote for the enactment of the Hinman-Green Direct Nominations bill.

700 McCarren Votes Cut Off.

On the application of Thomas R. Farrell, anti-McCarren leader of the Tenth Assembly District, Supreme Court Justice Aspinall in Brooklyn ordered yesterday that about 500 names of voters be stricken from the Democratic enrollment lists in the district. It was alleged that these men had either died or were now living outside the district. For like reasons, about 200 names were ordered taken from the Democratic books in the Third District, where James Dunne, an anti-McCarrenite, is fighting James Kane for the leadership.

More Jerome Petitioners.

The signing of District Attorney Jerome's petition for renomination progressed rapidly yesterday, 400 signatures being added to the list during the day. When the Jerome headquarters, in the Bryant Park Arcade Building, closed last night the total had reached 1,062. Two thousand names are all that are necessary to place Mr. Jerome's name on the ticket.

M'CLELLAN ATTACKS GRANDMOTHER LAWS

Their Makers Imagine They Can Change Public Opinion by by a Pen Stroke.

HE'S AGAINST HUGHES PLAN

Tells Franklin County Farmers at Fair He Doubts Wisdom of the Primary Bill.

MALONE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Mayor George B. McClellan of New York spoke to a crowd of 8,000 people at the Franklin County Fair to-day. Mayor McClellan said in his speech that he questioned the wisdom of the Hughes Primary bill.

Mr. McClellan, with a reference to the struggle of the thirteen colonies for "manhood, freedom, and manhood life," spoke of paternalism in government and what he conceived to grow from it.

"There is a disposition among us to-day," said he, "to forget this fundamental truth, to forget the sturdy individualism of the past and to think of the State as the source of all power and all blessings. This spirit of paternalism has been growing stronger and stronger as the years have gone by.

"The difficulty lies not so much in determining what Government can undertake as in determining what Government ought to undertake. The risk is that Government will go so far as to paternalize every field of endeavor, so that the very spirit of individualism will be lost.

"We have during the last few years seen some very extraordinary examples of paternal, or rather grandmotherly, legislation. With the best will in the world, those in charge of Government have tried to cover every field of human endeavor by legislative enactment intended to carry us by the shortest possible route to the millennium.

"The prohibition wave that has been sweeping the country has not been due to restrictive legislation, but to the phenomenal growth of temperance sentiment, which has expressed itself in legislative form. The statutes have not been the cause of the sentiment, but, on the contrary, its direct result. No law can be effective that is not supported by public opinion, for, after all, law is nothing but the recognition of a public opinion that already exists.

"The very men who in private life insist that reform must begin in the individual are only too apt, when by fortuitous circumstances they find themselves occupying high office, to utterly forget their former teachings. Carried away by their enthusiasm, they imagine that by a stroke of the pen they can change public opinion and that the laws which they place upon the statute books will in some mysterious way enforce themselves. When by the exercise of the entire police power of the State an unpopular law is enforced, they deceive themselves into the belief that the vigor of its enforcement is the triumph of the law, although it may be nothing more than the evidence of a petty tyranny.

"The spirit of paternalism is stronger in the great centres of population than anywhere else in the community. The implements of Government are constantly present. In great cities many men are so occupied in the rush and worry and strife of existence that they have no time for anything else. If Government will relieve them from the trouble, worry, and responsibility of life, so much the better.

"The men in the so-called rural districts are often called by the politicians the most uncertain quantity in the Union. So they are, because they decline to swallow the ticket whole on election day simply because it has the hall mark of the machine. And they resent any interference in their free choice of candidates on the part of irresponsible bosses, whether in or out of office."

TWO SHIPS RUN AGROUND.

Crew and Passengers Take to Boats in South African Wreck.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 16.—The British steamer Umhlali, from London for Port Natal, ran ashore to-day off Cape Point in a thick fog. The crew and the passengers left the Umhlali in the small boats. One of these boats was capsized, but of the occupants five women and six men were rescued. An infant is missing, but there was no other loss of life.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 16.—The Cunard Line steamer Saxonia, from Boston Sept. 7, ran aground early this morning in Crosby Channel. Five hours later she was pulled off by tugs and taken to her berth. She was not damaged.

GOV. HUGHES AT FAIR.

Commends Voluntary Associations for Fight Against Tuberculosis.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Governor's Day at the State Fair opened with threatening skies, but before 9 o'clock the sun shone out brightly, and a comfortable breeze was blowing. Gov. Charles E. Hughes was early on the grounds inspecting the improvements and new buildings that have been erected during the Summer, and looking over the exhibits. A large crowd assembled to hear the Governor's speech, and gave him a hearty welcome.

"Many fail," Gov. Hughes said, "to appreciate the prominence of New York as an agricultural State and the importance to the prosperity of all our people of promoting our agricultural interests. We have over $1,000,000,000 invested in farms and their equipment. New York stands fourth among the States in the total value of its farm products, being exceeded, according to the last census, by only Ohio, Illinois, and Iowa. But it must be remembered that while it stands below these three States in the total value of farm products, it outranks them in the value of its farm products in proportion to its farm acreage. In several important products New York stands first among the States, as, for example, in dairy products, hay and forage, and potatoes."

After his address Gov. Hughes was the guest of the State Fair Commission at dinner. Many State officers and prominent Syracusans were at the table.

SUFFRAGE WORKERS AT LUNCH

All Types of Them Meet in Harmony as Mrs. Belmont's Guests.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont opened the Winter woman suffrage campaign in New York with a luncheon at Delmonico's yesterday, to which all the heads of local suffrage organizations were invited to meet the Presidents of the National and State organizations, the Rev. Anna Howard Shaw and Mrs. Ella Hawley Crossett. This celebrated also the opening of the National and State headquarters and the headquarters of the individual society to be organized by Mrs. Belmont.

Mrs. Belmont introduced the speakers, and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, representing the Interurban Suffrage Association, formed by twenty-one local organizations, welcomed the National and State Presidents to New York. She said the workers for suffrage could never do their best without headquarters in a big city, spoke of Miss Shaw as being the greatest orator the suffrage cause had ever known, and told her hearers that there was more interest in woman suffrage in New York than in any city in the world except London.

At the close of the speeches a vote of thanks was given to Mrs. Belmont. Following this every one was introduced to every one else, and the suffragettes were invited by the State President to speak at the next State Suffrage Association meeting, which they promised to do.

BOY GOES UP FEET FIRST.

Balloon Rises 600 Feet Before Its Course Can Be Checked.

FRANKFORT, Sept. 16.—During an ascension yesterday evening of the Parseval dirigible balloon, in which Miss Katherine Wright, sister of Orville Wright, was a passenger, a boy became caught in the loose rigging and was carried aloft, swinging head downward, by the legs.

The ship had attained an altitude of 600 feet before the pilot could check its course and bring it back to the ground. When the boy was released he was insensible.

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Orville Wright returned here to-day from Frankfort, where he made a trip in the Zeppelin dirigible balloon. He said ballooning did not compare with the flight of an aeroplane in the sense of power over the elements or the exhilaration from rapidity of motion.

Mr. Wright is to make another aeroplane flight in Berlin, after which he will begin the instruction of a representative of the company that has acquired the Wright patents for Germany.

MOISSON, France, Sept. 16.—The dirigible balloon Liberté, which was built for the Government, made a trial flight today. The airship was up 5¼ hours and in that time covered 260 kilometers (161 miles) and went through a number of evolutions.

Weavers Accept 5 Per Cent. Increase.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Sept. 16.—The strike at the Fall River Iron Works Cotton Mills, owned by M. C. D. Borden of New York, was ended to-day when the seven mills of the plant resumed operations after a shut-down of three days. The 1,000 weavers demanded a 10 per cent. increase, but at a mass meeting yesterday accepted an increase of 5 per cent. While the other 4,000 operatives of the mills, who were made idle by the weavers' strike, asked for no advance, it was generally believed here to-day that the 5 per cent. increase allowed by Mr. Borden would be given to them as well as to the weavers.

LEVEY SUGGESTS CAMPAIGN QUERIES

Ex-Controller Draws an Answer from Allan Robinson on Reform in City Expenses.

A GUIDE TO THE VOTERS

Levey Declares Discussion as to Candidates Has Blinded the Public to the Issues of the Campaign.

A taxpayers' platform in the municipal campaign is embodied in correspondence between Edgar J. Levey, and ex-Deputy Controller and now President of the Title Insurance Company of New York, and Allan Robinson, President of the Allied Real Estate Interests. The correspondence was made public yesterday.

Mr. Levey wrote a letter to Mr. Robinson, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for Mayor or Controller on the fusion ticket, on Wednesday, in which he said that the preliminary discussion of the campaign had been diverted from its proper channels; that the vote-getting qualities of prospective candidates seemed to have overshadowed the original issue—the elimination of waste in the city administration.

"It seems to be expected," Mr. Levey wrote, "that the great bulk of voters will line up on two opposing sides, like schoolboys in a game, with no more intelligent rallying cry than the usual 'Cheers for our side!' Permit me to suggest that the thousands of enrolled taxpayers are in a position to dictate somewhat more rational issues for the campaign than this. A few simple questions propounded to candidates would compel answers, and from those answers the taxpayers would be enabled to exercise their suffrages intelligently and in furtherance of their own rightful interests."

Questions for the Candidates.

Mr. Levey proposes the following questions to Mr. Robinson as pertinent to the taxpayers' interests:

1. Do you believe that the ratio of increase in municipal debt and in taxation since consolidation has been excessive?
2. What self-imposed limitation, if any, upon future bond issues do you think should be accepted by the incoming municipal authorities?
3. What limitations of increases in future budgets do you favor?
4. What steps, if any, would you favor to lighten present burdens of taxation?
5. What steps would you favor to ascertain existing waste in municipal administration and to eliminate the same when discovered?
6. What is your position in regard to the Constitutional amendment to be voted on in November next, increasing the city's debt limit?
7. What is you attitude in regard to the movement known as "Municipal Socialism"?

Mr. Robinson, in his letter to Mr. Levey, answers the questions as though he was a candidate, giving testimony in his own behalf. This is his reply, in part:

Mr. Robinson's Answer.

1. The municipal debt—representing securities sold to pay for permanent improvements—has increased since consolidation out of all proportion to the benefits secured to the people through the expenditures made therefor. Since 1902 the net funded debt has increased from $311,777,211 to $603,187,850.87. During this period waste, inefficiency, and in many cases, as I firmly believe, improper use of the city's funds have increased the running expenses of the City Government to an extent that has become intolerable.
2. Future bond issues should be limited to expenditures for improvements which either increase the taxable values of real property throughout the city or are of immediate necessity.
3. A decrease in the number of city employes by increasing the hours of labor from seven, as at present, to eight hours per day, and checking unnecessary salary increases. Elimination of favored contractors, stopping the issue of special revenue bonds, where they represent amounts stricken from budget requests as unnnecessary, and by purchasing supplies and by awarding contracts in accordance with the methods of a corporation seeking the largest profit for all its stockholders. In my opinion the question of limiting future budgets would not arise under an efficient and honest city administration.
4. I would lighten present burdens of taxation by such expenditure of the public moneys as would operate to improve outlying districts and increase the value of property which, for want of adequate transit facilities and other public conveniences, cannot now be properly utilized.
5. I would establish approved standards of efficiency in every public office, as suggested in the plans which I lately offered to the city on behalf of the Allied Real Estate Interests. These "efficiency standards" would, if properly applied, cut off unnecessary expenditures and improve the public service.
6. I shall vote in favor of the constitutional amendment increasing the city's debt limit. I recognize that there is an element of danger in this amendment, but the condition we are now facing which, in effect, places the city at the mercy of the so-called "traction syndicate," contains, in my opinion, a greater danger than can possibly come of the enactment into law of the constitutional amendment in question.
7. The movement known as "municipal Socialism" depends largely for its force upon conditions which are the results of inefficient and dishonest municipal government. Efficient and honest government, such as I have outlined in my answers to the previous questions, does away largely with such conditions.

"I am not a candidate in the sense that any campaign is being conducted in my behalf," Mr. Robinson writes. "Nevertheless my name has been publicly mentioned in connection with the coming election, and in order that there may be no misunderstanding as to my position on these important matters, I answer your questions categorically."

A. G. Spalding Mentioned for Senator.

A. G. Spalding, the "father of baseball," is being mentioned as a successor to Frank P. Flint as United States Senator from California. A number of citizens of San Diego and Los Angeles have organized to conduct a campaign for Mr. Spalding. Mr. Spalding has a big estate in California, where he spends the greater part of the year.

TIGRESS LEAPS TO DEATH.

Jumps Into Sea at Marseilles and Drowns After Being Wounded.

MARSEILLES, Sept. 16.—The hunt along the water front of Marseilles for the royal Bengal tigress that escaped from a steamer in the harbor the day before yesterday came to an end this morning when the animal, mortally wounded and with blood streaming from her flanks, fled from the crowd of pursuers, and with enormous bounds reached the wharves. Then she sprang into the sea and was drowned. The body was recovered later.

The hunt for the tigress continued without abatement all last night. Policemen and gendarmes armed with rifles occupied positions during the night on walls surrounding the wharves, while armed boats patrolled the water front, aided by searchlights set up at the pier ends. The tigress was sighted once and a fusillade of shots was directed against her, but without effect.

This morning the beast suddenly leaped out from its hiding place among the rocks and charged a group of workmen who had gathered on one of the stone wharves. The men fled precipitately. The animal then took refuge against a pile of merchandise. Her pursuers assembled, and with flaming torches she was driven from this last shelter.

As she ran she was an easy target for a hail of bullets, several of which carried mortal injuries.

New York is the "clothes crucible"

It is generally conceded that New Yorkers, as a class, are the best dressed men in the world. This fact should carry with it the conviction that makers of clothes for Men who can appeal to them with no uncertain success, have won a prize worth striving for.

That was our goal, and we are immeasurably pleased with its attainment.

But we have never lost sight of one vital point—novelty and conservatism blend only when tempered by good taste. A new model to meet our standard must not overreach the bounds of refinement.

KEEPING DOWN PRICE OF CARNIVAL SEATS

Many Stands Now Being Built—Free Subway Rides for Hudson-Fulton Official Visitors.

Any one wishing to view the Hudson-Fulton parade along Central Park West, Fifty-ninth Street and Fifth Avenue, should not pay more than $5 for a seat for the entire three days in any of the hundreds of stands along the line of march, according to those city officials who have to do with the issuing of permits for such stands.

Seats on stands erected on Park property by patriotic societies, city departments, benevolent societies, and charitable organizations can in no instance be sold for a greater sum than $5 for all three days of the parades. In most instances they will be sold for $3 each, or $1 for each day of the land parades. Any one who is asked to pay more than $5 for three-day seats on these stands would do well to communicate with Park Commissioner Henry Smith, for the Commissioner says he will not hesitate to cancel the permit of any organization which tries to charge more for its stand tickets than a sum barely sufficient to cover the expense of erection and maintenance during the parade.

This regulation has been made by the Park Commissioner in order to do away with ticket speculating as far as possible and to protect the public from being charged excessive prices for the privilege of seeing the parade comfortably. Similar steps to put a curb on speculation in seats for the Hudson-Fulton land parades have been taken by Borough President Ahearn, through whom permits for the erection of stands in front of the buildings along Fifth Avenue from Fifty-ninth to Fourth Street have to come.

The Borough President has adopted the rule of issuing permits only upon the application of those occupying the building in front of which a stand is wanted, together with the consent of the owner of the building, be it club, private house, hotel, or place of business. This arrangement, he believes, will have a deterring effect upon speculators.

No such speculation in tickets and excessive prices for seats are looked for as in the case of the Dewey parade, when speculators kept thousands of people away by charging unwarranted prices for seats. On that occasion seats in stands along Riverside Drive were quoted as high as $25. The speculators overreached themselves, however, and seats could be had for 75 cents just after the procession started.

Already the work of constructing stands along Central Park West and Fifty-ninth Street has begun. Most of the space along the two miles of street between 110th Street and Fifty-ninth has already been taken up by those obtaining permits.

"Stands only for patriotic societies, city departments, and benevolent societies, such as orphan asylums, will be erected on the park property for the Hudson-Fulton parades," said Commissioner Smith yesterday. "There is an understanding with every such organization obtaining a permit for a stand that no tickets can be placed on sale and that they can be sold only to members of families of those belonging to the societies or other organizations. It is also understood that the charge for tickets shall be sufficient only to reimburse them for the construction and maintenance of the stands. Any infringement of these regulations will result in the canceling of the permit for a stand. Already one such permit has been canceled."

The Commissioner explained that this was the case of Alfred Fatman, who had presented a petition signed by the Hudson-Fulton Commission, Bishop Greer, and others, asking for a permit for a stand to acommodate the orphans from a large number of orphan asylums in this city. The permit was granted, and Fatman went ahead collecting subscriptions for the building of the stand. Commissioner Smith learned that Fatman proposed keeping whatever surplus there might be after all contributions were made.

Thereupon the Commissioner canceled the permit and wrote to each signer of the petition and the head of each orphanage explaining the matter in its true light. He also offered to grant permits to those orphanages or other institutions whose names had appeared in the petition in order that they might construct their own stands, thus allowing the children to view the parades.

The stands along Central Park West and Fifty-ninth Street will be built on the pavement, from the curb to a point ten feet from the Park wall. This ten feet is sufficient, the Park authorities believe, to allow pedestrians to pass along in the rear of the stands. On Fifty-ninth Street yesterday one large stand was being built with seats running from the curb to a point just over the top of the Park wall. The ten-foot space left for pedestrians was covered over by the stand and resembled a tunnel. There was no room behind the stand for any one to stand on the pavement and see the parade.

Along Fifth Avenue, however, this was not the case. No stand can be built out further than seven feet from the building line. This distance is the average stoop line along Fifth Avenue, and leaves plenty of space for the crowds who cannot buy tickets to stand on the pavement in front of the stands.

SUBWAY TO GIVE FREE RIDES.

Special Passes to Official Hudson-Fulton Visitors—Handling the Crowds.

The Interborough Rapid Transit Company announced yesterday that it will extend the privilege of free transportation to the officers and enlisted men of the foreign fleets during the Hudson-Fulton celebration, and to the specially delegated representatives of the foreign governments who will be guests of the Nation, State, and city. This means that about 10,000 persons will be carried free by the Interborough lines.

A special pass has been designed which will be honored upon presentation to the ticket choppers from Sept. 25 to Oct. 9, inclusive. The passes for the delegated representatives will be delivered to them at their hotels. The fleet passes furnished by the company will be distributed by the Commander in Chief of the Atlantic Fleet from the U. S. S. Connecticut.

The Interborough also announced yesterday that it had practically completed arrangements for the expeditious handling of the Hudson-Fulton celebration crowds. The greatest possible number of cars will be operated on both the elevated and subway divisions on the big days of the celebration, and will continue running as far into the night as conditions demand.

The company has also arranged for the erection of extra ticket booths along the elevated and subway lines and will also have extra special policemen to look after the safety and comfort of the passengers. As there will be several thousand foreign visitors who are unfamiliar with the English language it has been arranged to have employes on many of the stations who are ready linguists, speaking French, German, Polish, Spanish, and other tongues.

To prevent delay in case of a breakdown, inspectors from the mechanical department will be stationed on every third station along the lines of both the elevated and subway divisions, who will see that trains are kept moving as rapidly as possible.

President Winter of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company sent a letter yesterday to Chairman Willcox of the Public Service Commission, saying that his system would be glad to comply with the suggestion of Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop to provide free transportation for the officers and men of the visiting fleets here for the Hudson-Fulton celebration if the Public Service Commission would authorize such action. Mr. Willcox replied that the commission would gladly approve.

CHURCHES TO CELEBRATE.

Special Hudson-Fulton Services in the Collegiate on Sept. 26.

The Collegiate Church, the oldest in the city, organized by the first Dutch settlers of Manhattan in 1628, announced yesterday that special services will be held Sunday, Sept. 26, in all the churches of that denomination in the city, in keeping with the Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

At the Church of St. Nicholas the services will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Coe, and a historical discourse will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. William Elliot Griffis, the author of various works on the Dutch in the Netherlands and in this country.

The Rev. Dr. Burrell will preach in the Marble Church, the Rev. Dr. Cobb in the West End Church, and the Rev. Dr. Fagg in the Middle Church. At each service there will be special music in which the regular choirs will be aided by additional musicians.

About 1,000 invitations have been sent to the members of the Hudson-Fulton Commission and their guests from this and other countries to attend these services.

CRITICISES CELEBRATION.

John Bigelow Thinks State Should First Stop Hudson Pollution.

John Bigelow, the venerable ex-Minister to France, now nearly 92 years old, has written to Isaac N. Seligman, Treasurer of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission, explaining why he refuses to contribute to the celebration fund. Mr. Bigelow intimates that in his opinion the celebration is a waste of money, while the river which Hudson discovered and Fulton navigated is permitted to be polluted.

Mr. Bigelow has long been identified with the agitation for the purification of the Hudson's waters.

CANFIELD WINS STOCK SUIT.

Court Orders Notes Given by Failed Brokers Turned Over to Him.

Richard Canfield, by a decision handed down by Supreme Court Justice Giegerich yesterday, won his suit brought against the assignee of the defunct Stock Exchange firm of Mills Brothers & Co., which failed in August, 1907, in his action to recover three notes, aggregating $20,000, arising out of a short sale made by the firm on Canfield's order. The case came up before Justice Giegerich on the application of the plaintiff to confirm a referee's report directing the assignee to turn over the notes to him.

The decision, in reviewing the case, says that prior to Aug. 22, 1907, Canfield was a customer of Mills Brothers & Co., and in the course of his dealings he made a transaction known as "selling short" 10,000 shares of Reading Railroad stock. The firm borrowed the stock from J. W. Henning, a Stock Exchange member, and delivered it to the person to whom the short sale had been made, and, in accordance with the rule, paid Henning the market price.

"According to the custom governing such transactions," states the decision, "if the stock increased in value the firm, as borrowers, would pay to Henning, as lender, the amount of the increase, while if the stock decreased the lender would pay to the borrower the amount of such decrease, in order that at all times the loan should be kept as nearly as possible equal to the market price of the stock. There came a marked decline in the stock, the firm was unable to obtain from Henning the money he should have paid to equalize the transaction, and shortly afterward he failed, and ultimately the matter was adjusted, in February, 1907, by his giving the firm the three notes in question, each for $6,793.

"After the assignment the assignee, for the benefit of the creditors, refused to deliver the notes, and upon this action was brought to determine Canfield's right. The conclusion I have reached is that the referee was right in finding that Canfield should assume the loss in the Henning transaction and should receive the notes."

BLIND, NO LICENSE FOR THEM.

Marriage Bureau Thought the Girl Was Under Age.

A marriage license was refused to a blind couple at the bureau in Brooklyn yesterday because they did not have the consent of the girl's parents. The pair said they lived in Williamsburg. Although she asserted she was 26 years old Deputy Clerk Scully was skeptical. She seemed to him to be still in her teens. He declined to issue a license unless the girl's parents were brought to the office.

"They won't come down," said the blind man, dismally. "They are opposed to our marriage."

And greatly dejected they left the office.

CITY GETS A PEEP AT ITS GALA GLORY

BRIDGE OUTLINED IN FIRE

City Hall, Washington Arch, and Borough Hall, Too, in a Blaze of Brief Illumination.

At the touch of a button last night, the City Hall, Brooklyn Borough Hall, Washington Arch, and the Brooklyn Bridge burst into brilliant light, to the surprise of folks about these points, and also to their unstinted admiration. In Washington Square, where there was a large crowd, the shock of light when 1,500 eight-candle-power lights which outlined the arch were suddenly switched on caused a murmur approaching a cheer.

The illumination was a trial, given by the Edison Electric Company for the benefit of the Illumination Committee of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, to give some idea by the display at these four points of what the city will be like for the eight nights of the celebration when all of the twenty-four points then to be illuminated will be lighted at once. The members of the committee agreed that if the illumination is as successful at all places selected as at these four, New York City will be a spectacle unique and beautiful.

The committee, with reporters, passed from point to point in automobiles. They went first to City Hall, which looked dimly yellow through the haze and darkness. Then in a second it was alight. Men on the park benches got quickly to their feet to stare, and passersby in Park Row and Broadway came hurrying into the park to see what had happened.

The 3,500 eight-candle-power lights followed with their brilliancy, not too dazzling, the general outlines of the building. Lines of them ran from point of dome to base. Other lines paralleled the railings along the top of the building, and followed all the corners to the ground. There were strings of them along the pillars at front and back, and altogether, without blinding the spectators, the details of outline and design of City Hall were brought clearly into sight.

Even more striking than the City Hall illuminated was the sight of Brooklyn Bridge, when, viewed from the foot of Montague Street in Brooklyn, the body, the towers, and the cables became lined with moving fire, so that it stood out against the blackness of sky and river like a bridge sketched out in phosphorus.

This effect was given by eight-candle power lights, 13,000 in number—a total candle power of 104,000. The lights were strung eighteen inches apart, so that ore crossing the bridge got no very striking effect of the illumination.

But from a distance such as that to the foot of Montague Street they formed continuous lines, and through the haze that hung over the river, making them twinkle, they seemed to be streams of flowing fire.

The lighting of the Borough Hall was a little less successful because of the vast expanses of blank space where no lights had been fixed. There, too, the effect was far better at a considerable distance. But when the 3,600 lights, with their total of 28,800 candle power, were flashed on, people came from all sides to get a view.

There were many people in Washington Square when the automobiles reached there. As the arch suddenly broke forth into light they came crowding about to admire the beauty of the spectacle.

When on the night of Sept. 25, the opening night of the eight-day celebration, the twenty-four main points of the city boroughs are illuminated the effect promises to be strikingly beautiful, especially along the river with all its bridges outlined in limpid fire.

The points then to be so illuminated are: The Queensboro, Brooklyn, Williamsburg, and Manhattan Bridges, the Queensboro and Bronx Halls, the Richmond Borough Hall, Grant's Tomb, the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, the Brooklyn Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument, the water tower, the Riverside Drive viaduct, the Manhattan line of parade—Fifth Avenue from Fourth to Fifty-ninth Streets, through to Eighth Avenue, and up to 110th Street—and the Jamaica and Flushing Town Halls.

Rush for Citizenship Papers.

On account of an insufficiency of clerical help, the Naturalization Bureau in the Federal Building was swamped yesterday with applicants for citizenship. Fully 2,000 applicants appeared, and the corridors about the bureau were so jammed with foreigners that it was with great difficulty that any degree of order was maintained. Up to the time of closing 1,500 had succeeded in getting their first papers.

Big Day for Marriage Licenses.

One hundred and eighty-six marriage licenses were issued at the City Clerk's office yesterday, principally to Jewish couples. Yesterday was the Jewish New Year's, on which it is becoming more and more the custom to celebrate marriages. The Marriage License Bureau's record yesterday was the largest for a single day, with one exception, since the bureau was established.

Are Built to Meet the Highest Standard Required

in the art world. It is the artistic quality of the music which a Piano produces that measures its value. That value can only become permanent or fixed after the Piano has had years of public test. One of the greatest protections to the purchaser of a STERLING PIANO is the fact that our manufacturing and selling experience extends over half a century. It has given us a knowledge of Pianos, and their real worth, which no one can buy or sell.

The strong hold which the STERLING PIANO has upon the esteem of the great purchasing and music-loving public is the best evidence of the value of this remarkable Piano. It has given satisfaction to nearly 40,000 customers in Greater New York and Long Island. Such a following as this means something to you. It is not what WE say, but the experience of our customers that verifies the truth, and has built up a confidence beyond our control.

We always carry more than 400 Pianos in stock—something to meet every fancy and every pocketbook. Whether you contemplate purchasing a Piano or not, you are welcome to come to our warerooms and try the STERLING for yourself and hear it played. It will tell the facts better than we can.

of Robert W. Chambers' books have been sold. His readers are now numbered literally by the millions. He never forgets to tell a story. He never forgets to have a background of truth. He never forgets the bright, happy love that wins in the end—that makes our world go round.

THE DANGER MARK

is Mr. Chambers' new novel, just published. Its theme is the best of love stories which grows ever stronger through difficulties created by inheritance, by wealth, and by the cynical customs of our American society. As a story, interesting from beginning to end, there has been nothing like it published.

100,000 copies is the first edition. This extraordinary quantity has been found necessary to supply the demand on Sept. 17th—the day of publication. Mr. Chambers' "The Firing Line" has already sold over 250,000 copies; his "The Younger Set" nearly 250,000; his "The Fighting Chance" 300,000; and now comes which deals with two enormously wealthy orphans—a boy and a girl—brought up by a New York trust company and launched in the beginning of their maturity upon the uncertain seas of New York society, hampered by millions, by the lives of their fathers; saved by the great love that has led the ages.

$1,000,000 BUILDING FOR TIMES SQUARE

Big New Skyscraper Going Up on Northeast Corner of Broadway and 42d Street.

SITE LEASED FOR 84 YEARS

United Cigar Stores Company Lessee of "Best Business Corner" After May 1—Shanleys Must Vacate.

By a realty deal closed yesterday the United Cigar Stores Company comes into possession of the northeast corner of Broadway and Forty-second Street, which, in the estimation of George J. Whelan, the company's President, is the most advantageous business corner in the world.

The company, through its real estate corporation, the United Merchants Realty and Improvement Company, signed a lease with the trustees of the Astor estate, which owns the property, for twenty-one years, with the privilege of three renewals for the same period of time, making altogether a lease of eighty-four years.

The property embraced in the transaction, one of the largest and most important effected in years, includes the ground running from 147 to 155 West Forty-second Street and from 1,472 to 1,478 Broadway. It takes in three structures, Shanley's restaurant on Broadway, the two-story structure to the south, embracing the corner, and a four-story brownstone building on Forty-second Street.

The consummation of the lease means that the Shanleys and the occupants of the other buildings involved must vacate by May 1 next, when the buildings will all be torn down. The United Cigar Stores Company proposes to erect upon the site a building of at least ten stories, and probably twenty stories high.

Negotiations for the lease of the corner have been in progress for some time between Louis Biel, President of the United Merchants Realty and Improvement Company, and John Jacob Astor, Douglass Robinson, and Nicholas Biddle, Trustees of the Astor estate. The United Cigar Stores Company occupies at present the corner store of the plot, and in a recent interview published in THE TIMES Mr. Whelan declared that this store did more business than any other owned by the company.

Mr. Whelan declared that the drift of business to the north, which had been going on for years, had struck its centre at Times Square, and that he wanted always to have a store there. In keeping with his idea as to the advantages of Times Square as a business centre Mr. Whelan only a few months ago closed a deal for the old Metropole Hotel site.

The company found it necessary to lease the entire flatiron shaped property at that corner to enable it to have the corner store it wanted. For precisely the same reason the company has now leased this property on the corner diagonally opposite. The company at present holds a lease of only sixty days' duration on the northeast corner, and at the end of each period the lease has had to be renewed.

The United Cigar Stores Company would have been quite willing to lease merely the corner site for the eighty-four-year period, to tear down the rambling two-story building standing on it and erect a new corner building there, but this the Astor estate refused to allow. The whole plot must go together, the Astor trustees declare.

The lease, which dates from May 1 next, calls for a graduated rental, beginning at a comparatively low figure and running up so that the average rental price, for twenty-one years, will be about $105,000. After that there will be a slight increase, if the lease is renewed. Eventually the rental will run up to an average of $115,000 a year. At the expiration of the lease term of eighty-four years, the property will revert to the Astor estate, unless, in the meantime, another renewal shall be arranged for.

Mr. Biel said yesterday that the United Merchants' Realty and Improvement Company, acting for the United Cigar Stores Company, would erect on the leased property a building that would be a decided ornament to Times Square. Tentative plans only have been made thus far, but the disposition among the officials of the company, it is stated, is for a twenty-story building, although some favor running up to only ten. It is possible that there will be a compromise at fifteen stories.

The new building will cost not less than $1,000,000 and will be fitted up for offices. Mr. Biel said there would be no provision for a restaurant, and that Shanley Brothers would have to vacate. Shanley Brothers, possibly anticipating some such move in connection with the corner property, closed negotiations some months ago for a property on Broadway, above Forty-sixth Street, and plan to erect on it next Spring a building which will be devoted to their restaurant and to hotel purposes. This building will hardly have been started, however, before May 1, which will necessitate Shanley Brothers finding temporary quarters for the interim. What could be done in this direction, the manager of the restaurant could not say last night. Both of the Messrs. Shanley were out of town.

It is expected that the United Cigar Stores Company building will be finished by the end of 1910. Mr. Whelan told THE TIMES reporter yesterday that the company would have there the particular "show place" of all its stores.

"It is entirely in keeping with conditions that the finest store we can equip should be placed there," said Mr. Whelan. "That particular corner cannot be beaten anywhere in the world, and that is saying a good deal. It shows what we think of Times Square when we take leases on two corners there for more than eighty years. Our lease on the old Metropole property runs for eighty years, and we expect to have the building on that site opened late next Spring.

"All we want in both these new buildings is a location for a long period of time for our stores. It costs something to do it, but that's the way we have to do sometimes to get the exact locations we want."

DIAZ LEADS CELEBRATION.

Ninety-ninth Anniversary of Mexican Independence Is Observed.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 16.—The ninety-ninth anniversary of Mexico's independence was initiated throughout the republic at 11 o'clock last night by the ringing of liberty bells and the pronouncement of the "grito" (shout) which was first given by the martyred soldier-President Hidalgo on the night of Sept. 15, 1810. No disorder of any kind has thus far been reported.

The "grito" in the capital was given by President Diaz. Many thousands were present on the plaza facing the national palace when the President rang the bell and commemorated the act of the first three Mexican patriots. Band concerts in the main squares and an elaborate display of fireworks engaged the attention of the crowds for the rest of the night.

To-day, being Independence Day, was recognized as a general holiday in all parts of the republic.

MONTEREY, Mex., Sept. 16.—Shortly before 11 o'clock last night Bernardo Reyes, Governor of the State of Nuevo Leon, gave the "grito" of independence on the steps of the State Capitol, and in the presence of one of the largest crowds ever assembled in this city for such an incident.

For fully fifteen minutes cheers and cries of "Viva Reyes" filled the air, and at last when the General signalled silence repeatedly he was able to make the formal speech, calling for the cheer for Mexico.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 16.—The ships of the American battleship fleet were decked in bunting to-day, with every gun wrapped in red, as a mark of courtesy to the Mexican gunboat Morelos, now celebrating in Hampton Roads the ninety-ninth anniversary of the birth of the Mexican republic as well as the seventy-ninth anniversary of the birth of President Diaz.

Three times to-day the ships fired simultaneously a National salute of twenty-one guns, each ship flying the Mexican colors at her mainmast.

MILAN, Sept. 16.—Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, accompanied by J. W. Sullivan of New York, and David Lubin of California, has visited the workmens' organizations here. Mr. Gompers has devoted some attention to the amelioration of conditions for intending emigrants to America.

In Rome the American labor leader will be received by the Minister of Agriculture and the Minister of Commerce.

GOV. HUGHES STOPS PRIZEFIGHTING HERE

Ketchel-Langford Mill Declared Off After Governor Prods Jerome and Foley.

BOXING CLUBS MAY QUIT

Followers of the Game in This City Think It Is Doomed—Corbett-Rowan Bout Off, Too.

The proposed ten-round boxing bout between Stanley Ketchel and Sam Langford, scheduled for to-night at the Fairmont Athletic Club, 130th Street and Third Avenue, was officially declared off yesterday. This action was primarily due to the determined opposition of Gov. Hughes and the city officials, who have been investigating the proposed mill for several weeks. The fight was called off after a conference between District Attorney Jerome, Police Commissioner Baker, and William Gibson, President of the Fairmont Athletic Club.

That this action may have a far-reaching effect on the other boxing clubs that have been holding weekly exhibitions, is shown by the postponement of the Young Corbett-Marty Rowan bout, scheduled for the Long Acre Athletic Club last night. William Neuman, one of the officials of the club, was warned that the same action against the Fairmont Club would be applied to the Long Acre Club, and as a result the clubhouse was in darkness last night.

In view of the developments the general sentiment among the followers of the game in New York City is that public boxing is doomed, the conditions apparently being similar to those that existed nine years ago after the McCoy-Corbett fiasco in Madison Square Garden, when the sport was killed for years.

It was generally admitted that the Fairmont Athletic Club made a big mistake when they announced the Ketchel-Langford fight. The investigation of the O'Brien-Ketchell fight by the District Attorney had scarcely blown over and the publicity, incidental to the bout, would assuredly have resulted in prompt action by the District Attorney and Police Commissioner. Whether or not the club will continue to hold the weekly boxing bouts will be determined at a meeting of the Board of Directors next Monday night.

Should the club decide to abandon all further effort to hold boxing bouts, it is probable that every other club in the city will take similar action as the Fairmont Athletic Club is admittedly the strongest, from a political standpoint, of all the clubs in the city.

Gov. Hughes gave the projected mill its final quietus when he telegraphed to District Attorney Jerome, Police Commissioner Baker, and Sheriff Foyel that it was their duty to see that the law was not violated. In response to this order a meeting was held in District Attorney Jerome's office at noon. Mr. Jerome gave his opinion that the club would violate the law if the fight came off as planned, an dadvised the police to take action.

Commissioner Baker replied by quoting an injunction signed by Justice Seabury of the Supreme Court, restraining the authorities from interfering, and declared that he had no wish to run foul of any court injunction. The law provides, however, that in such a case, if the authorities are convinced that it is the intention of a club to violate the law, that the club officials may be arrested and placed under bail. This course was still open to the police and District Attorney had the Fairmont Club decided to hold the fight as scheduled.

President Gibson of the Fairmont Club was admitted to the conference yesterday, and said that at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the club Wednesday night it had been voted not to attempt to pull off the fight, this action being the result of a threat, it was said, to arrest the two principals if any effort was made to carry out the plan.

It is understood that acting on District Attorney Jerome's advice Police Commissioner Baker and Sheriff Foley had proposed to secure warrants for the arrest of both Ketchel and Langford, and that a big squad of policemen and Deputy Sheriffs would have invaded the clubhouse tonight and taken the two principals out of the ring the minute they began to fight.

As long as the local boxing clubs confined themselves to ordinary boxing bouts Mr. Jerome did not interfere, although the police frequently raided several of the clubs, but the fact that the fight was advertised as practically a championship affair caused the action in the present case.

A number of English fighters who had made preparations to come to America will now, it is said, postpone sailing until they receive definite assurance that the boxing clubs in this city will resume.

At the Longacre Club last night the decision of the management to postpone the weekly show was explained to the members who visited the clubhouse. Under Sheriff Gilchrist, with several Deputy Sheriffs and Capt. O'Reilly of the Thirty-sixth Street Station patrolled the street in front of the clubhouse, but left when satisfied that no attempt would be made to violate the law. It was announced by the management that if conditions warranted it, the usual weekly entertainment of the club would be held on Thursday.

CZAR'S AUTHORITY DEFINED.

Legislation Affecting Army and Navy Subject to His Sanction.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 16.—The constitutional conflict which nearly resulted in the retirement of the Stolypin cabinet last Spring has been adjusted by the publication of an interpretation of the fundamental laws, definitely delimiting the respective spheres of the Emperor and Parliament in the matter of army and navy administration.

The decree sets forth that all legislative questions concerning the organization of the land and sea forces of the empire shall be subject to the immediate sanction of the Emperor as supreme war lord. His Majesty will pass also upon questions relating to the administration of the army and navy, including the estimates for the naval and military departments, provided no further appropriations are entailed. If fresh credits are necessary the supplementary amounts must be applied for in the usual legislative course, detailed statements as to the employment thereof being first submitted in the budget.

With regard to special military legislation, only such questions shall be dealt with in the ordinary legislative course as involve the amendment, elaboration, or abolition of existing laws, or come within the sphere of legislative questions affecting other departments as well as the army and navy.

KAISER AN EARLY RISER.

Gets Up at 4:30 A. M. to Watch Army Manoeuvres.

MERGENTHEIM, Germany, Sept. 16.—The manoeuvres of the German Army will come to a close to-morrow, and it is feared that the dirigible airship Zeppelin III., which is at Mannheim with a broken propeller, will not be able to reach here in time to take part in even the closing exercises.

Emperor William, who is keenly interested in the manoeuvres, arose at 4:30 o'clock this morning and started out, while it was still dark, in a motor car to witness the resumption of the advance of the Blue army.

The result of the day's evolutions are that the entire front of the Blue army has swung around from the north to the east, leaving Prince Leopold, the commander of the Red army, in the most favorable position. The fortunes of the day were turned for the Red army by the timely arrival of the Fourteenth Army Corps from the rear.

PERU AND BOLIVIA TO AGREE.

Boundary Dispute Likely to be Settled in Forty-eight Hourse.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 16.—The relations of Bolivia and Peru have suddenly taken a distinct turn for the better, and if no further complications arise it is believed that the question of the boundary will be definitely settled within forty-eight hours.

Foreign diplomats have been making energetic endeavors to secure a peaceful arrangement, and in this direction James F. Stutesman, the American Minister to Bolivia, has been most prominent.

REVOLT STARTS IN PERSIA.

Pretender Proclaims Himself Shah—Troops Sent to Suppress Him.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 16.—A dispatch from Teheran, Persia, says the pretender to the Persian throne, Abdul Hussein, has appeared at Luristan and proclaimed himself Shah. He is receiving the support of the local population.

The Government has sent a detachment of troops, with artillery, to suppress him.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 16.—The Congress of Chambers of Commerce, representing all parts of the British Empire, which is now in session here, adopted to-day by a large majority a resolution in favor of different part of the empire granting each other preferential treatment in their respective markets on a reciprocal basis.

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Sept. 16.—King Alfonso listened to-day to the protests of a number of editors against the censorship on news as now exercised in Spain, after which he announced his immediate return to Madrid for the purpose of calling the Cabinet in consultation. The editors are of the opinion that the King is in favor of a relaxation of the censorship.

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, Sept. 16.—In anticipation of the opening of the Panama Canal a commission of Government engineers has begun an examination of the Harbor of Willefstad with the idea of making improvements that will permit the docking of the largest steamers.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Mortgage bonds and debentures of the railroads of the United States and Canada, Mexico, and the Argentine, as well as the funds of all foreign Governments, were included to-day in the list of securities in which the Trustees of estates purchased from life tenants under the Irish Land bill may hereafter invest this purchase money.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Sept. 16.—The Minister from the Netherlands, Jonkheer J. Loudon, who is sojourning here, officially informed the Government authorities at Washington to-day that the Cit- of Rotterdam is free from cholera.

Men's Clothing

Men's Store, 5th Fl.

Repetition gives a hackneyed edge even to truth itself. That thought is inspired by the effort to tell you about our Autumn Clothing.

The old guise or livery that has clothed our advertising for generations is a bit threadbare. Others have borrowed our claims, until a study of current Clothing advertising shows that the style has become tousled.

The writer has just looked at the Macy stock. The first impression created the conviction that it would be hard to present the goods properly. Later impressions strengthened that feeling.

The obstacle lies in the license practiced by promiscuous competitors. Dealers who do not sell the highest grades of Clothing say they do. Dealers who ask extravagant prices say they don't.

Now can't you see the difficulty that confronts the house that DOES sell the best qualities at modest prices?

All of us advertise in much the same way. Therefore, you are likely to be hoodwinked unless you differentiate intelligently.

We are ready to Autumn your wardrobe. Suits, Overcoats, Trousers, Vests. Styles of the period. Products of the best manufacturers in America—which means the world. Other Clothiers may rightfully say the same. Many of them would be stating truth. But how about prices? Why don't you make comparisons?

BUYS BACK ITS STOCK WESTERN UNION HELD

American Telephone Company Takes Over $16,000,000 of Securities of New York Concern.

WON'T DISCUSS A MERGER

But the Sale Has Revived Rumors of a Consolidation Between Western Union and Telephone Company.

Reports which have been current in Wall Stret for several days connecting the American Telephone and Telegraph Company with the Western Union resolved themselves yesterday into an announcement that the telephone concern had purchased the Western nUion holdings of New York Telephone stock.

The Western Union Company has owned these shares for several years. In 1906 some $9,733,100 of its $16,000,000 holdings were pledged as part of the collateral behind the $10,000,000 convertible redeemable 4 per cent. bonds of 1936. The first call to which these bonds are subject, at which they are redeemable at 105, is not due until May 1, 1912, and therefore the telephone company cannot come into possession of at least this part of its purchase for more than two years.

President Clowry of the Western nUion refused yesterday to discuss the terms of the purchase other than to say that it was for a cash consideration and had no part in the settlement of the twenty-five-year-old suit against the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, in which the Western Union, at the present status of the case, has a decision in its favor involving approximately $5,000,000. President Clowry said that the sale had been in negotiation between the two companies for some time and that the deal simply meant that the Western Union Directors thought the money represented by the company's telephone holdings could be better invested in some other way.

Col. Clowry said he knew nothing of the possibility of a merger of the Western Union and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, which has been recently revived by Wall Street rumors. One of the circumstantial details attached to the story of the absorption of the Western Union by the company, which already is identified with the Postal Telegraph Company through the stock holdings of the Mackay companies, was that the American Telephone and Telegraph Company had purchased the Western Union stock holdings of the Goulds. George J. Gould referred inquirers on this subject to President Clowry. He refused yesterday to admit that he had any knowledge of such a deal, completed or pending, but said that the company's sale of its New York Telephone stock would have no effect on its relations with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The New York Telephone Company, whose stock, all but about $2,000,000, is owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, has just called a meeting of stockholders to increase its capital from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000, for the purpose of absorbing various subsidiaries in this territory. These include the Hudson River, the Empire State, the New York and Pennsylvania, the Bell of Buffalo, and the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company. The plan of consolidation is in keeping with the policy of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in all of its territory, where the consolidation of subsidiaries has been going on for some time.

JERSEY SERVICE DIVIDEND UP.

Increased from 4 to 5 Per Cent. with New Stock Issue.

The authorization by the Directors of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey of an issue of $4,750,000 new stock, or about 25 per cent. of its present outstanding stock, is accompanied by an increase in the rate of dividend from 4 to 5 per cent. annually. The higher rate of dividend applies to the declaration for the present quarter, which is a disbursement of 1¼ per cent. payable Sept. 30. The new stock, which brings the amount issued up to $23,750,000 out of the authorized capital of $25,000,000, will be issued pro rata at par to stockholders of record Oct. 1.

With the increase in stock a bond issue of $8,000,000 was authorized under the new general mortgage covering $50,000,000 fifty-year 5 per cent. bonds ratified over a year ago. The $8,000,000 now to be put out have been sold to J. P. Morgan & Co., and, according to a statement issued after the meeting by President McCarter, will be used chiefly to retire the $7,250,000 5 per cent. collateral trust gold notes due on Nov. 1 of this year. The proceeds of the sale of stock are to go to finance the improvements which the company has had in contemplation for some time. In commenting on the increase in the dividend rate, President McCarter says:

"The action of the Directors in putting the stock on a 5 per cent. annual dividend basis was taken upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee, after a careful consideration by that committee of the favorable showing which the company is making both in the increase in its business and the economical operation of its properties."

WORK PLENTIFUL; WAGES UP.

Sage Endowment Employment Bureau's Report for Its First 3 Months.

A report covering the first three months' work of the National Employment Exchange will be published to-morrow. One striking feature in it is the statement that wages have advanced 15 cents a day during that period, and that to-day it is difficult to fill orders for men.

The report is written by Otto T. Bannard, President of the New York Trust Company, President of the exchange, which was instituted last Winter, following investigations by Edward T. Devine into State, philanthropic, and commercial employment agencies in New England and throughout the Middle West.

Mr. Bannard's report says that in the first three active months, June, July, and August, Edward W. Carpenter, manager of the exchange, reports that he had obtained work for 718 men, who accepted employment. At the outset labor was so abundant that fees could not be exacted from the employers, but during this short time in complete reversal of the situation has occurred.

"To-day," says the report, "it is difficult to fill the orders for men, and able-bodied laborers can be placed readily. Hereafter employers will be charged for each man accepted. No registration fee has been exacted hitherto. Wages have advanced about 15 cents a day during the period in question, and it is an interesting fact that men prefer the longer hours with private employers at the larger daily compensation than employment for eight hours on State contracts at the wages per hour which yield a trifle less per day. For example, there are instances where men prefer to work ten hours at $1.50 per day rather than eight hours on the canal work at 18 cents an hour or $1.44 per day.

"The business of the exchange is now extending to skilled laborers, for which many orders are being received. Our experience has been disappointing in the number of men professing to want work and failing at the last moment to report for duty. Of the total of 718 actually supplied and accepted 537 were day laborers, forty-six carpenters' helpers, and ninety-three skilled and unskilled mechanics, watchmen, and miscellaneous workmen. Three hundred and twenty of the 718 were Poles, sixty-three were Russians, and sixty Swedes."

The Trustees are Otto T. Bannard, George Blumenthal, Frederick G. Bourne, Robert W. de Forest, Francis L. Hine, V. Everit Macy, John R. MacArthur, Jacob H. Schiff, and Paul M. Warburg.

A sub-committee has been appointed to consider the opening of a general bureau uptown.

NO DAVIS-DALY CONTEST.

Seceders from Copper Company Directorate Make Peace with Heinze.

The probability of a contest for the control of the Davis-Daly Copper Company at the annual meeting at the end of this month, which was talked of when Newman Erb and Samuel Jarvis resigned from the directorate recently, is being rapidly dissipated. President F. A. Heinze and Mr. Erb and Mr. Jarvis held a long conference yesterday, after which Mr. Erb said that everything pointed to an amicable adjustment by which the outside interests would be represented in the new board.

Newman Erb went into the Davis-Daly board originally as a representative of banking interests in New York. His own stock holdings are inconsiderable. F. A. Heinze, although not owning an actual majority of the stock, is the representative in the board of the largest concentrated interest.

The formation by Mr. Heinze of a proxy committee for the coming meeting, which included himself and H. M. Raborg, with Mr. Erb as the third, was the cause of Mr. Erb's resignation and the rallying of the "outside interests" which promised a contest.

Divorced Mrs. Hinds to Wed a Namesake.

Clara E. Hinds of 301 West 112th Street, who was divorced from her husband, William E. Hinds, in Maine, about a year and a half ago, is about to marry her husband's second cousin, Alexander L. Hinds, a soda water dealer of Long Island. The couple went to City Hall yesterday and obtained a marriage license from the City Clerk.

The New Suits & Coats for Men

$15.00 to $40.00

As varied in design and fabric as is the taste of man—that characterizes our new series of models of suits and coats for men.

Varied, not with distorted lapels and pockets, with useless straps and fancy stitches. No.

The innovations do not offend dignity. They find their source in the higher phases of master-tailoring, in exclusive fabrics and in grace of line and curve.

In these three factors we can more than justify our prices.

600 Fancy Waistcoats

Regularly, $3, $4, $5

Special, $1.95

Waistcoats of the highest grade, exceptionally well tailored. Ninety per cent. of them are fashioned of fine French and English Flannels, light and dark grounds, with hair-line and wide stripes, and individual designs in contrasting colors.

At least twice as many Four and Five Dollar as there are Three Dollar Waistcoats involved. All sizes. $1.95.

Stetson and Imported Hats

$3.00, $4.00, $5.00

For comfort's sake get under a Stetson self-conforming derby. It is light and flexible enough to conform to your bumps. $3.50.

If you be a $5 man the Stetson Featherweight commends itself.

Our French soft hats are characteristically French—you would know them to be imported even without the foreign label. $4.00, $5.00.

ROSE QUEEN WINS SPRINT HANDICAP

SHANNON BEATS TURF STAR

Alice Baird, at Long Odds, Captures Mares' Race in a Hard-Fought Head Finish with Queen Marguerite.

The sprinters' course at Gravesend, termed by courtesy "about six furlongs," was just exactly the measure of Rose Queen's ability to stay in the handicap for three-year-olds yesterday, and the speedy filly lasted it out by a very narrow margin to win in a hard-fought finish from Mary Davis. The race brought out the best class field of the day, with Rose Queen the top weight after Prince Gal was scratched. Seven horses ran, and it seemed as if about all of them were supposed to figure as possibilities, though Harrigan was the only one that pressed Rose Queen for her place as favorite.

The Pippin, much talked of on the strength of private form, broke best, but Rose Queen was in full swing in the first stride and rushed out into the lead at once, while the fast filly from California, fortunate at the break, went on after her. The two ran away from the others from the first jump to the last, and were the only contenders all the way. Rose Queen's forte is speed, while Mary Davis has proved that she can both run and stay, and from the head of the stretch the result was a question of whether Rose Queen could hold her pace for the five and three-quarter furlongs. She was stopping under her weight and the pace she set and Mary Davis was closing steadily, but the sprinters' course was so nicely fitted to Rose Queen's ability that Mary Davis still was catching the favorite when Rose Queen, hard ridden and under punishment, won, shoulders in front of Mary Davis, while Harrigan finished three lengths away, third.

The cheapest race of the card, a mile and a sixteenth, selling, for fillies and mares, brought out a big field and made a really thrilling contest, when the Western filly Alice Baird and the stout campaigner Queen Marguerite came out of the crowd at the head of the streetch, after the post favorite, Annie McGee, racing in fly-away style in front, stopped on the last turn. Both Queen Marguerite and Alice Baird were hard ridden all through the straight, and there was no perceptible advantage for either when they passed the winning post, nose and nose, with Alice Baird the one to catch the judge's eye first.

In the hmandicap for two-year-olds Turf Star, one of the high-priced horses recently sold, had a trial in a moderate field, and, as the top weight, started equal choice with Pretend. Neither ever figured as a real contender, Shannon coming on at the finish and winning in clever style, after Firebox made most of the running. The summaries:

F. W. Vanderbilt Asks Yacht Appraisal

Frederick W. Vanderbilt requested Collector Loeb yesterday to have an appraisal made of his yacht Conqueror, evidently with the intention of complying with that section of the new tariff law which imposes a duty of 35 per cent. of the appraised value on foreign-built yachts.

FAST TIME FOR DIXIE II.

Makes Nearly Thirty Miles an Hour in Hudson River Motor Boat Races.

The second day's motor boat races on the Hudson River in the cup contests of the National motor boat carnival were concluded without accident yesterday over the usual courses off the New York Motor Boat Club, foot of West 147th Street. Dixie II., the international cup holder, and in charge of Capt. Bartley Pearce, found no rival in the high speed class. She covered the thirty-mile course in two minutes over one hour, making better time than on the preceding day. The Elco-Craige, her closest competitor on the previous day, was taken to Bayonne for repairs. A thorough examination showed that her accident on the first day was due to striking a submerged log, the rudder gear being entirely carried away and the propeller blades badly bent. H. R. Sutphen hopes to have her in readiness to take part in some of the special races during the Hudson-Fulton Celebration. The summary:

ISTALENA BEATS AURORA.

Vanderbilt Sloop Loses Final Regatta of New York Yacht Club.

George M. Pynchon's Istalena won the last race of the season in the series of New York Yacht Club regattas yesterday, sailed over the Glen Cove course. The regatta was for the Autumn cups, and brought to the starting line eleven boats. Interest was naturally concentrated in the three sixty-five-footers, Cornelius Vanderbilt's Aurora being handled by W. Butler Duncan, Jr., while Henry F. Lippitt's Winsome was the third competitor.

The start was made in a light northeast wind which was very fickle throughout the afternoon. Istalena got the weather berth, and before the first mark was reached off Parsonage Point had opened up a slight lead on Aurora, Winsome dropping far back. It was a close reach on the first leg, followed by a beat to Lloyd's Point, and a reach home, which, however, owing to a shift in the wind, gave the yachts a run on the last few miles with spinnakers. Istalena was never headed, and won by 5 minutes 43 seconds.

Dorwina virtually had a sail-over in the race for Class M sloops, as well as the mixed class, as her competitors withdrew. Five of the New York "thirties" started and made a good race, Johnston de Forest's Nepsi beating the Atair by 2 minutes 18 seconds. The course was a long one, 21¼ miles, and, owing to the light winds, the finishes were late. The summary:

New Jersey State Tennis Results.

Straight set victories were the order for the players drawing down to the final round of the New Jersey State championship tournament with one exception yesterday. The exception was in the women's singles, in which Mrs. William C. Aufferman engaged the former holder, Miss Alice L. Day, in three sets on the courts of the Morristown Field Club before she secured her place at 7—5, 1—6, 6—3. Mrs. Aufferman coupled with the former National champion, Mrs. William H. Pouch, who in her match defeated Miss Marion Swords, 6—3, 6—1. Both of the men's semi-finals proved unexpectedly easy, as Neal Stevens defeated R. P. Bennett, 6—3, 6—1, and Otto H. Hinck of the Montclair Athletic Club defeated C. Frederick Watson, Jr., the Orange expert, 6—4, 6—1. The summary:

Women's Singles.—Semi-final Round—Mrs. W. C. Aufferman defeated Miss Alice L. Day, 7—5, 1—6, 6—3; Mrs. W. H. Pouch defeated Miss Marion Swords, 6—3, 6—1.

Women's Doubles.—First Round—Miss Marie Wagner and Miss Elizabeth C. Bunce defeated Miss Whitney and Miss Kissell, 6—4, 6—2; Mrs. E. R. Duer and Mrs. F. W. Ford defeated Miss Emery and Miss Dean, 6—3, 6—3; Mrs. William H. Pouch and Miss Edna Wildey defeated Miss Alice L. Day and Miss Marion Swords, 7—5, 6—1; Mrs. W. C. Aufferman and Miss Esther Smith defeated Miss White and partner by default.

Semi-final Round—Miss Wagner and Miss Bunce defeated Mrs. Duer and Mrs. Ford, 6—2, 6—1; Mrs. Pouch and Miss Wildey defeated Mrs. Aufferman and Miss Smith, 6—3, 6—4.

Men's Singles.—Semi-final Round—Neal Stevens defeated R. P. Bennett, 6—3, 6—1; Otto H. Hinck defeated C. Frederick Watson, Jr., 6—4, 6—1.

Men's Doubles.—Second Round—R. H. Palmer and P. Martin defeated G. S. Grossbeck and E. R. Lowther, 6—1, 6—2; F. G. Anderson and N. Stevens defeated H. J. Mollenhauer and Dr. Rosenbaum, 6—2, 6—4; O. H. Hinck and W. C. Grant defeated E. F. Leo and B. M. Phillips, 1—6, 6—4, 6—1; G. Thomas and S. Raleigh defeated Le Roy Whitney and J. McLean, 6—3, 6—2; C. F. Watson, Jr., and G. M. Miles defeated K. M. Boorman and J. M. Steinacher, 6—3, 6—2.

Third Round—Dr. F. H. Glazebrook and H. McK. Glazebrook defeated H. N. Balch and T. Martin, 6—4, 6—3; R. H. Palmer and P. Martin defeated G. S. Grossbeck and E. R. Lowther, 6—1, 6—2.

Mixed Doubles.—First Round—Miss Marion Swords and Dr. F. H. Glazebrook defeated Mrs. E. R. Duer and Mr. Satterthwaite, 6—2, 6—1.

Second Round—Miss Edna Wildey and H. McK. Glazebrook defeated Mrs. F. W. Ford and Charles Dean, 6—2, 6—0; Mrs. William H. Pouch and Wylie C. Grant defeated Mrs. S. F. Weaver and Richard H. Palmer, 10—8, 7—5.

L. Millens Burt figured as a winner in both the singles and doubles in the special tournament on the courts of the Marine and Field Club. In the final of the singles Burt defeated S. H. Voshell, 6—3, 6—2. Paired with F. H. Noble in the doubles Burt defeated William Warden and H. C. Lyons, 6—4, 6—3, in the deciding match.

The Westchester Club tournament will begin to-morrow with five events—men's singles and doubles, women's singles, mixed doubles, and consolations. William Cunningham will act as referee.

Trotting at White Plains.

Special to The New York Times.

WESTCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Interesting sport was witnessed to-day in the light harness events at the White Plains Fair. Five events were decided and each heat furnished a close finish. Withdrawals reduced the fields materially, but did not affect the sport. In the protested running race of yesterday the judges decided in favor of Meat Hill, which finished first in each heat. The summary:

Long Island Democrat in New Hands.

The Long Island Democrat, a weekly published in Jamaica, Queens County, and established in 1835, was purchased yesterday by H. S. Rushmore, a newspaper man of Jamaica. The paper, during its long life, has been in only three families. It was established by James J. Bronton in 1835. His son succeeded him, and was in turn succeded by Lewis M. Wood, who has edited and published the paper for upward of thirty-five years. Mr. Wood retires because of age.

Robert Fulton

Until Robert Fulton in 1807, successfully applied steam to navigation, mankind was a slave of winds upon the seas. Hudson, on his voyage of discovery, in the Half Moon required 59 days to cross the Atlantic. Today, the Lusitania crosses in little over 4 days.

Electricity

freed man from slavery to darkness and drudgery. Much of man's modern comforts, safety, economy of time and labor, and his fund of knowledge through literature is directly due to the development of electricity, the modern power and illuminant. During the Hudson-Fulton Celebration, the lighting rate for decorative uses will be reduced practically one-half. A rate of 5c per kilowatt hour will prevail.

Makes it mighty easy to fill in gaps while he's off at school or college.

For men—every day is Derby Day now.

More than twenty years ago we began selling the Derbies which have made our name famous for hat quality.

To-day we've the same standard, our name only goes into hats as good as can possibly be made at each of the prices; $3 and $4.

Our own die guarantees that.

In the same class with our own hats are the Stetson hats, so we have them too, including the "Stetson Special" Derby for which we are the sole New York agents.

It's not too early for new evening clothes.

We're all ready—evening dress suits, Tuxedo suits, and light overcoats to wear over them.

Since neglige shirts have been favored for Winter wear, "Stars" shine the year round.

An entirely fresh stock of Star neglige shirts for Fall.

From $1.50 up.

The "Two-Shoe shoe" combines two shoe sizes in one shoe, for the greater comfort of men with low insteps.

An upper a size smaller than normal for the lower part, keeps the toes from crowding foward.

JOE LAKE PITCHES YANKS TO VICTORY

Cleveland's One Run Scored After an Error by Tiemeyer, New First Baseman.

WILD THROW MARS HIS WORK

Former Tri-State Player Had Double Play in View, but Spoiled It with a High Toss Over Elberfeld.

With a long pull, a strong pull, and a pull all together, the Hilltoppers yesterday retained an early-game lead over Cleveland, winning by a score of 2 to 1. Tiemeyer, formerly of the Altoona Club of the Tri-State League, who covered first base in place of Chase, almost threw the victory away in the eighth inning, but stupid base running by Birmingham and Lake's good pitching in the final saved the day. The winning run was batted in by Jack Kleinow in the fourth round. It was scored by Austin as a result of his first two-bagger. Jimmy made an average of 1,000, getting a couple of doubles in two times up. He brought in New York's first run with a fine sacrifice fly. Winchell twirled against Lake for seven innings, Upp working the last round.

Lake struck out eight men. His speed and control were superb and his support was excellent. Hemphill, on balls, was the first fan to reach a base. He was forced by Keeler, and, though Tiemeyer walked, Engle fanned and Gardner died, Netcel to Stovall. In the next innings, the second, Elberfeld slashed to extreme right centre for three bases. Goode made a bad try for the hit, which at first looked like only a single, but it went as a triple. The Kid crossed the plate on Austin's sacrifice fly to Birmingham.

In the third Hemphill got a life because Lajoie let his grounder get by. Keeler tapped a dewdrop sacrifice, and Charlie went to third on Tiemeyer's out. But there he remained, as Stovall's fine left-hand stop of Winchell's wide throw retired Engle at first.

All that time the Naps were going out in a procession. None of them reached first in the first three innings, and not one assist was made by a New Yorker, all the Cleveland batsmen either flying or striking out. Stark's Texas Leaguer with one down in the fourth broke the ice for the visitors so far as hits went, but only so far, for, although he stole second cleverly, Goode filed to Keeler and Lajoie was tossed out by Austin.

New York's second and last run was made in that round. Austin, with two men gone, drove a hot one to short that bounded over Stark's head and was booted by Birmingham, rolling safe for two bases. Jimmy scored on Kleinow's splendid hit along the left line, after which Lake forced Honest Jack.

The only time Lake was in danger was in the eighth, and then it wasn't altogether his fault. Stovall opened with Cleveland's second hit. Birmingham grounded to Tiemeyer, who threw to second for a force of Stovall. But the ball went to centre field and Stovall made third. Birmingham going to second in a good slide that barely beat Hemphill's retrieve throw to Elberfeld. Hinchman laid one down in front of the box. Lake, glancing over his shoulder, thought Stovall still was close enough to third to make it safe to play for the batter, although nobody was out. He flung the ball to Tiemeyer, who returned it to Kleinow an instant too late to head off Stovall. Birmingham, however, was caught flat-footed by the play and failed to make third. Then Lake struck out Higgins, and Birmingham, being caught napping off second, was run down, Lake to Austin to Elberfeld.

Tiemeyer tripled in the eighth, but without affecting the score. Ball, batting for Upp in the ninth, went to first on an infield roller. Netcel flied to Hemphill, Neal was caught stealing, and Stark died, Gardner to Tiemeyer. The score:

POLICE PROTECT TIGERS.

100 Officers Guard Detroit Club While It Loses to Athletics.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—Philadelphia to-day defeated Detroit in the first game of what is considered to be the crucial series of four contests for the American League pennant by 2 to 1. Although showers fell before and during play, nearly 25,000 persons saw the game, with the players surrounded by 100 policemen, who had been sent to the grounds to preserve order and to protect Right Fielder Cobb of Detroit, who had received threatening letters because of his having spiked Baker of Philadelphia during the recent series between these teams at Detroit. The only incident which required the interference of the police was when D. Jones was accused of making an objectionable remark to Murphy as the latter passed Detroit's bench. Murphy drew back his arm as if to strike Jones, but policemen prevented any blows from being struck.

The game resulted in a pitchers' battle between Plank and Summers, in which the latter did the better twirling, while Plank received perfect support. Errors by Detroit lost the game. Plank got out of several tight situations by masterly pitching. In the third inning Detroit filled the bases on two singles and a base on balls, with one out. Cobb, however, struck out for the second time during the game, and Crawford gave Davis an easy grounder. Philadelphia scored enough runs to win the game in the fourth inning. Barry had his grounder to Moriarty beaten out, but the latter threw wild to first and the runner reached second base. On Collins's bunt T. Jones first fumbled the ball and then threw wild, Barry scoring and Collins reaching second. Baker sacrificed, sending Collins to third, and the latter scored when Bush threw Davis out.

Detroit scored in the sixth inning. Crawford drew four balls and stole second, and Delehanty was hit by a pitched ball. Murphy made a great running catch on Moriarty's fly, but he threw wild trying to double Delehanty at first base, and Crawford went to third. T. Jones singled, scoring Crawford, but a double play resulted on Stanage's grounder to Baker. Score:

GIANTS WIN CLOSE GAME FROM CUBS

Record-Breaking Crowd Attends First Game of Final Series Between Teams.

IT WAS A PITCHERS' BATTLE

Mathewson and Brown Break Even on the Hit Question—Visitors Win Close Contest 2—1.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 16.—President Taft and 30,000 wildly enthusiastic baseball rooters to-day saw the Giants defeat Chicago by the score of 2 to 1. The double attraction of the diamond struggle and the presence of President Taft kept the crowd keyed up throughout the contest. Only three runs were scored during the game, and these were tallied in the first two innings. For the remaining seven innings both teams were blanked with steady regularity.

It was a pitchers' battle betwen Mathewson and Brown, and in the end there was little to choose between them. Seven hits were made off each twirler, but the fact that the Giants placed their hits to better advantage tells the whole story of the game. The event not only marked the first contest of the last series between the rival clubs, but is expected to determine whether Charlie Murphy's outfit has any chance to nose out Pittsburg for the pennant. According to to-day's score this is now only a remote possibility.

Luck played an important part in the game. Aside from the fact that the majority of the visitors' hits came in the second inning, when two runs were tallied, three errors were made by the Giants in the fourth inning, but they failed to aid the locals in their struggle pennantward. With the exception of the fourth inning the visitors put up a perfect fielding game, while Sheckard was the only Chicago player charged with a misplay.

The Giants won the game in the first inning, and bounced Brown hard before he could get his bearings. Doyle opened the proceedings with a two-base hit, which traveled far into the left pasture. Seymour's sacrifice sent Doyle to third. McCormick's effort was a weak one, Tinker throwing Doyle out at the plate. With two down things looked bright for the locals. All this, however, changed when Murray singled, sending McCormick to third. Murray stole second, and, with McCormick raced over the rubber when Devlin drove a long single to centre.

These two runs looked very big to the Giants during the remainder of the game. Only once did Chance and his batters cause their opponents any anxiety, and this was in the second. Steinfeldt and Hofman were retired, Tinker, taking a leaf out of Doyle's book, doubled. Archer singled, scoring Tinker. Brown kept up the good work by making a safe hit to right, but Archer made the mistake of trying to reach third on the hit and paid the penalty. This brought the scoring to a close, and incidentally gave New York the game. The score:

Pirates Win on Reds' Poor Fielding.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—Poor fielding lost to-day's game for Cincinnati after the locals had taken the lead. A wild throw by Downey after two were out in the eighth started the trouble. A fight between some of the Cincinnati players and a crowd of insulting spectators was only prevented by the quick work of the police. Miller's steal home was a feature. Score:

To Plan for World's Series.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—A short meeting of the National Baseball Commission was held here to-day, but the absence of B. B. Johnson, President of the American League, caused its postponement until to-morrow. Mr. Johnson was ill and could not leave his home. August Herrmann, Chairman of the commission, and John Heydler, President of the National League, briefly discussed the world's series, but nothing definite will be done until to-morrow.

Catcher Crisp Fractures an Arm.

Joseph Crisp, catcher of the Newark Eastern League Baseball Club, will not play again this season, and there are chances that his career is over for good because of a fracture of the left arm, sustained while striking Meyer Benisch of Newark yesterday in resenting what he declared was an insulting verbal attack from the latter in the Continental Hotel.

WILLIAMS GOLFER LEADS.

Jackson Has Low Score in Intercollegiate Play.

R. L. Jackson of Williams College led the field of golfers yesterday in the 18-hole qualifying round for the individual intercollegiate golf championship on the links of the Apawamis Golf Club, at Rye. Playing an admirably steady game from start to finish, he covered the course in 75 strokes. He missed a three-foot put on the ninth hole and missed another short one on the eleventh, and on the twelfth he sliced his drive, his only poor one of the round. Robert

MR. TAFT'S TARIFF BOARD.

We eagerly seize the opportunity to agree with our high and always higher tariff contemporary, The American Economist, in its view of the powers, duties, and limitations of the so-called Tariff Board appointed by the President the other day. It is rare, indeed, that we find ourselves in agreement with The American Economist, or with the American Protective Tariff League of which it is the voice. It is with the greater joy, therefore, that we avail ourselves of the present occasion to say that The Economist is right in insisting that the protectionists in Congress did not intend to authorize the President to call upon the Tariff Board for information that would assist him in the performance of his campaign pledge to see to it that the Dingley rates were reduced.

The President has appointed as members of this board Prof. EMERY of Yale College, JAMES B. REYNOLDS, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and Mr. ALVIN H. SANDERS, editor and proprietor of The Breeders' Gazette of Chicago. We have considered these to be very good appointments, though The Economist objects that Prof. EMERY is a free trader, that Mr. REYNOLDS is not unswervingly devoted to the doctrines of high protection, and that Mr. SANDERS has something to do with the Beef Trust. The Board is well enough—the trouble is with the law under which it has been named. It is in Section 2 of the act of Aug. 5 that authority for the appointment of the Board is found:

> To secure information to assist the President in the discharge of the duties imposed upon him by this section, and the officers of the Government in the administration of the customs laws, the President is hereby authorized to employ such persons as may be required.

Our high-tariff contemporary charges that the clause referring to the administration of the customs laws is a "joker" furtively inserted in the law by enemies of protection. That charge is unfounded, we think. There was a "joke" perpetrated in this section, but its authors were not friendly to the tariff views of Mr. TAFT. As originally drawn it authorized the appointment of a Commission with full powers to inquire into tariff rates, the difference in cost of production here and abroad, and other matters, and to report to the President facts upon which he could base recommendations to Congress. All that was pared away. Senator HALE, with a grin of satisfaction, declared that they had left not a vestige of the Tariff Commission idea. It would occur to anybody that the words "such persons" would not be used by Congress in a law authorizing the appointment of Commissioners. The authority of the Board is limited to inquiries which will enable the President to determine whether the tariff laws of any foreign country so operate against us as to bring into effect the maximum clause of the Payne act in respect to the commodities of that country. The Board is further to assist "the officers of the Government in the administration of the customs laws." That means the administration of the existing laws, and nothing beyond that. The administration of law does not imply or connote the revision of the law. We are of the opinion that if Mr. TAFT asks the Board to collect data as to difference in production cost, or to supply him with other facts that would fortify him for another fight with Mr. ALDRICH, Mr. HALE, and Mr. CANNON, the protectionists of the Senate will at once call upon him to explain by what authority any part of the $75,000 appropriated for the Board's expenses is disbursed for such purposes.

Moreover, it would be unwise for the President to attempt to strain the law. The charge has been made that his predecessor too often refused to let a little thing like the law stand between him and the accomplishment of his cherished purposes. Mr. TAFT, who has sat upon the bench, is everywhere understood to have the highest respect for the law. Obviously it would be the wiser course for him to explain to the country in the speeches he will make during his Western tour that he has been disappointed in respect to the Tariff Commission, and to say that he will ask Congress at its next session for authority to appoint such a Commission, a Commission that will give him the help he desires and needs for the keeping of his pledge. He has been cheated and betrayed, the country has been cheated in the enactment of the present tariff law. The betrayal was open and flagitious in respect to the Commission clause. The country will support the President in demanding that Congress give him a Tariff Commission, to the end that he may be enabled to make good his promises and the promises of his party.

THE COMING CELEBRATIONS.

It must be apparent now to every resident of New York and its neighborhood, and to every stranger within our gates, that preparations for the great civic and military celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the Hudson River by HENRY HUDSON, and the centenary of the first voyage on that river of ROBERT FULTON'S steamboat the Clermont, are going on briskly uptown and downtown and in all the boroughs, and betoken a festival of huge proportions. The programme provides for a full fortnight of ceremonies, with an extra day for good measure, and for eight days the observances will be here in Manhattan or near by, while at the end of the second week the centre of interest will again be in this neighborhood, as Brooklyn's own historical parade with illuminated floats and other pageantry, the evening of Oct. 9, will help brilliantly to close the celebration. That night there will be illuminations from Staten Island to the head of navigation on the Hudson.

This will be, indeed, the largest and most expensive historical celebration New York has ever known, and it promises to be the most splendid. Warships of all the navies of the world will assemble in the river and harbor, symbolizing the peace and good-fellowship of the nations, and the naval parades of Sept. 25 and Oct. 1 will surpass, in the number of vessels in line, any previously seen here. Three monster parades, a variety of aquatic sports, children's festivals, religious observances, indoor exhibitions pertinent to the occasion, receptions and dinners to distinguished foreign visitors are on the programme.

The decorations of public and private buildings throughout the city promise to be elaborate and beautiful. Inventive artistic minds have been concentrated on the design and construction of these for many weeks. We are justified in looking forward to the demonstration of a larger and better developed artistic sense than previous public celebrations in these parts have brought forth. We are growing in knowledge and taste, and it will be found, we are sure, that the huge sums of money expended for the Hudson-Fulton Celebration have been apportioned with excellent discrimination. In one aspect the whole celebration will be a great exposition of art, science, and the industries. The museums and art galleries of the city will be free to all. So will the historical parades, with pageantry representing the progress of American civilization since the beginning. This and the march of the soldiers, as well as the illuminated parade the evening of Oct. 2, will pass through miles of public thoroughfares and all may see them without the payment of a cent. Similarly the naval parades may be seen without charge from the public wharves, and the new piers in Chelsea are to be thrown open to all comers.

The town will be crowded, of course. There will be some discomforts to contend with. Free locomotion in the streets will be somewhat impeded by the gayly decked stands in every available place. But any obstruction to business in one direction will be amply compensated for in another. The merchants and hotel keepers will have an extraordinarily profitable week or so. The spirit of the festival is already in the air. The Hudson-Fulton Celebration is the chief topic of talk, and everybody one meets seems to be looking forward to its shows and observances with eager interest.

PARTISANSHIP AND THE CENSUS.

We have this year, for the first time, certainly, since the civil war, a chance to get a census of the population of the United States as trustworthy as those of most civilized nations. It is not pleasant to know, but it is generally recognized among students of statistics that every census for the past two score years has been deeply tainted at the very source by inaccuracy inevitably arising from the way in which a large part of the force has been selected and from the incapacity, carelessness, and worse produced by this method of selection. It is true that some portions of the work, mostly those intrusted to special agencies, industrial facts and the figures of resources, indebtedness, and the like, have been very well done, but, while these were satisfactory in themselves, their value was sadly diminished by the worse than bungling process of ascertaining population—the basis of all fruitful comparisons. In the presence of this element of confusion and error the faithful efforts of the really capable men employed in the higher ranks of the force were pretty well brought to naught.

This deplorable state of things was due to the spoils system, as many other crying abuses have been, and, owing chiefly to the temporary character of the service and the fact that it has been dealt with at long intervals by Congress directly and not by the responsible head of any thoroughly organized department, the census has been a sort of refuge for the traffic of patronage long after the nuisance had been greatly abated in the civil service generally. Now, thanks to the firmness of President ROOSEVELT and the equal firmness and the thoroughness of President TAFT, partisanship will be very largely, if not wholly, banished from the selection of subordinates and the performance of their duties. The President has ordered—> that any supervisor or enumerator who uses his influence with his subordinates or colleagues to assist any party or any candidate in a primary or general election or who takes any part, other than merely his vote, in politics, National, State or local, either by service upon a political committee, by public addresses, by the solicitation of votes or otherwise, shall be at once dismissed from the service.

He has laid down in plain language the aim he has in view and the principle by which it shall be reached:

> It is of the highest importance that the census should be taken by men having only the single purpose of reaching a just and right result, and that the large amount of money to be expended in the employment of so vast a machine as the census shall not be made to serve the political purposes of any one.

He has done more than this. He has secured the appointment to the higher posts in the census of men of sound character and of established reputation in the science of statistics who have the strongest possible motive for carrying out the President's orders in spirit as well as in letter. This is an admirable service, of great importance and far-reaching influence, for which he is entitled to the respect and gratitude of all who can appreciate its value.

A NOTICE TO MUCK-RAKERS.

President TAFT'S vigorous letter to his Secretary of the Interior, Mr. RICHARD A. BALLINGER, authorizing him to dismiss his subordinate L. H. GLAVIS "for filing a disingenuous statement unjustly impeaching the official integrity of his superior officers," serves as a notice to muck-rakers, official and unofficial, of what they may expect by way of encouragement from this Administration. Mr. GLAVIS'S charges were typical. An efflorescence of denunciatory language, of innuendo, and vague suspicion, coupling a public officer's name with that of a "predatory trust," would have been sufficient under the Roosevelt Administration to condemn him utterly. It blossoms out in the comment of Collier's Weekly for Sept. 18:

> Immediately after his resignation as Commissioner of the General Land Office, BALLINGER became attorney for the Cunningham group. Are these men dummies for the Guggenheims and the Smelter Trust? The prize consists of copper mines and coalfields valued at several billion dollars.

But what does this charge against Mr. BALLINGER, which includes unlawful use of knowledge gained while in office, simmer down to? President TAFT finds:

> The inference which Mr. GLAVIS seeks to have drawn to your discredit in this connection is that you, while Commissioner of the General Land Office, came into possession of facts concerning the so-called Cunningham group of coal land claims which made it improper for you to use such facts after your resignation in the course of securing the patents. I find the fact to be that as Commissioner you acquired no knowledge in respect to the claims except that of the most formal character, and nothing which was not properly known to your clients when they consulted you. The evidence in respect to which you were consulted professionally was not secured by Mr. GLAVIS until after your resignation as Commissioner of the General Land Office.

Mr. BALLINGER'S fee for this work about which such a tempest was raised was $250, including traveling expenses. Mr. TAFT finds that, as Secretary of the Interior, Mr. BALLINGER thereafter "studiously declined to have any connection with the Cunningham claims, or to exercise any control over the course of the claims," and that Mr. GLAVIS'S charge that he nevertheless continued to exercise his influence in regard to them "is not sustained by any evidence in the records produced." With respect to the famous Pinchot-Ballinger controversy over the withdrawal of public lands, Collier's Weekly draws this inference, echoing Gov. PARDEE'S charges on the floor of the Irrigation Congress at Spokane:

> GIFFORD PINCHOT has made powerful and unscrupulous enemies. Disinterested Western opinion has realized for years that the timber, the minerals, and the soil have long since become the booty of corporations whose political control of public servants is notorious. * * * His [Mr. PINCHOT'S] services cannot be discredited by an official whose political career has been covertly but closely associated with predatory monopolies.

An article by WILLARD FRENCH in The Independent of Sept. 16, headed "The Seizure of the People's Water Power," repeats the charges made against Mr. BALLINGER as being the tool of the Water Power Trust in throwing open valuable water power sites to settlement that had been withdrawn by the Roosevelt Administration. But President TAFT says:

> It further appears from a report of the Director of the Geological Survey that the order of withdrawal of January, 1909, was hastily made by townships and by reference to inadequate maps; that it included large areas not within miles of any river or stream, and that it failed to include many valuable water power sites in the immediate vicinity. From the same reliable source it is learned that under the withdrawals made by your department from time to time, beginning in May last, there are now withheld from settlement, awaiting the action of Congress, 60 per cent. more water power sites than under previous withdrawals, and that this has been effected by a withdrawal from settlement of only one-fifth of the amount of the land.

This disposes of the ugliest of the charges against Mr. BALLINGER, showing him to be a more zealous, intelligent, and efficient instrument in the cause of conservation than those who unjustly accused him of being its secret foe. His work has been and is continuous for public conservation. Only yesterday a dispatch from North Yakima, Wash., announced the fresh withdrawal of "all power sites along the Yakima River near North Yakima," some of which had been entered land. All the other charges and aspersions against Mr. BALLINGER'S character Mr. TAFT says he has diligently examined and finds to be unfounded in fact. Indeed, those who have magnified the imaginary mote in Mr. BALLINGER'S eye are not without beams in their own. For in more than one specific instance, the President declares, they have violated the laws of the United States, and these violations Mr. BALLINGER has corrected.

The country is indebted to Mr. TAFT for this thoroughgoing exposure of the methods of the muck-rakers. During the chief part of his predecessor's Administration they kept the Nation in a ferment by their indiscriminate, ill-judged, and baseless attacks upon public and private character. President TAFT'S letter calls a halt upon their proceedings.

JOSEPH SMITH AND VERMONT.

Opinions in Vermont touching the reported intention of its State officers to attend, officially, the dedication of a monument to JOSEPH SMITH, the founder of Mormonism, at his birthplace, the village of Sharon, are conflicting and vague. In fact trustworthy information concerning the monument and its dedication is extremely meagre. A monument to SMITH, it seems, was dedicated at Sharon on the one hundredth anniversary of his birth, Dec. 23, 1905, and JUNIUS F. WELLS, described as "the Mormon caretaker and representative," denies, according to The Montpelier Journal, any knowledge of the erection or dedication of another monument. Yet this fact of the dedication of a Sharon monument to SMITH in 1905 does not seem to convince The Burlington Free Press and other Vermont newspapers of light and leading, or such leaders of thought in New England as The Springfield Republican and The Boston Traveler, that the reports of a further and more formal dedication are false.

It is said that a branch of the Mormon Church was formally established in Vermont, at Sharon, last July, and the idea that Senator REED SMOOT of Utah is to deliver an address at some monument to SMITH and Mormonism in that village at some date not yet specified is still persistently current. The report that Gen. PROUTY and other State officials have been or will be invited to be present is also generally accepted. There seems to be some sort of Mormon trickery in the matter, and a full page and a half of selected comment in The St. Albans Messenger does not help to clear up the mystery.

Editorially The Messenger itself "yields to nobody in its utter rejection of the absurd claims of the so-called Church of the Latter Day Saints," and, so far from encouraging Mormonism, "would be glad to see it always and everywhere publicly exposed," but holds that if it is "proper for a Vermonter to attend a Mormon religious ceremony," then "the Governor has as much right to go as any man in private life." This seems to be reasonably safe ground. But it leaves us still in doubt as to whether Vermont is to be, as one Green Mountain journalist expresses it, "reed-smooted."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

The Scientists Seem to Have Tempers.

When Lick Observatory speaks to Flagstaff there is so often a slight acerbity in the tone used that if one didn't know the votaries of science live in a calm, cold region, far above the rest of us, where such things as little personal jealousies and hostilities can never intrude, one would almost think that even astronomers were much like us lesser mortals and prone to show irritability and impatience when anybody presents theories that disturb established beliefs.

That the Wise Ones of Lick should have endeavored to determine whether there is aqueous vapor in the atmosphere of Mars or not was, of course, entirely proper and highly desirable, in view of the dispute about the habitability of that planet which has raged so long. The plan they selected, that of planting their spectroscopes on the top of a full-grown mountain, so as to make their observations above the greater part of the earth's own moisture, was well devised, and their conclusion that there is little or no water on Mars must be accepted as having a very decided bearing on the question at issue. But what grieves—because it puzzles—the unlearned hungerer after knowledge is that the spokesman for the Lick astronomers seems to rejoice, not that he has solved a problem, but that he has found one answer to it rather than another.

What difference, pray, does it make to him whether Mars can or can not support life of the sort we know? It would be nothing less than terrible if we were driven to suspect that these superior beings would be glad utterly to wreck the pretty edifice of hypothesis which Prof. PERCIVAL LOWELL has been so many years in building. Moreover, not much is achieved toward the achievement of that unkindly task by asserting that the changes seen on the surface of the planet are due, not to the labors of intelligent beings, but to the seasonal growth of vegetation. Plants require water just as much as animals do, and if there are plants on Mars there is at least a large chance that it has inhabitants of a higher order living on them after the familiar telluric scheme.

As for the so-called canals, it seems to us that Prof. CAMPBELL enters upon almost as dangerous ground when he tells what they are not as Prof. LOWELL does when he tells what they are. They certainly look—if they look at all, and to call all who have seen them mad seems rather rash—as if they were "artificial" and made for a definite purpose. Prof. LOWELL'S explanation of them is not very convincing, but it does have elements of grandeur. And then he has such a charming literary style!

Admonition That Sufficed.

A telegram from Gov. HUGHES seems to have been enough to convince somebody that there is in this State a law against prizefighting, and that it can be enforced. For weeks now, what amounted to denials of both these propositions have been loudly made, not only by the exploiters of pugilism, but by officials of various grades.

The managers of the organization that has attracted most attention, favorable and other, by arranging contests between really notorious bruisers had sufficiently complied with the definition of "club" and "members" to convince Justice SEABURY that they were immune from police interference, and, protected by his injunction, they were going ahead joyfully with their preparations for a fight which meant a lot of money to them. Only Mr. JEROME suggested, and he not very confidently, the existence of legal means to stop the widely advertised battle. Sheriff FOLEY grieved that he couldn't see how it was to be done, and said so, often.

Then came the Governor's telegram. It didn't dissolve the injunction, it didn't prove that the club was not a club, it didn't make any threats. It only expressed a seemingly mild desire that "the authorities should co-operate to compel obedience to the law and secure the apprehension and conviction of any persons violating it." Only by implication was there a hint that in the absence of such effective co-operation there would be a fixing somewhere of responsibility therefor. Nothing more was needed. The exact nature of what was done has not yet been revealed, but after various conferences the officers of the Fairmont Athletic Club informed the District Attorney that he needn't bother—that the fight was off.

Incidentally, the much-authenticated members of the club learned that they would get their money back! What money? Their dues? Why? Such is not the custom of other clubs when plans they have formed for an evening's entertainment fall through. But, then, athletic clubs are different—some athletic clubs, that is.

It is now announced that the determination not to have the fight was reached some hours before the Governor's telegram arrived. That may be so. Almost anything is possible in these days of fast-following wonders.

"Verbal" Means "by Words."

It is a very small point, but there be people who wish that the Great and Good, who make things right by doing them and are imitated by the multitudes on the theory—which should be true—that they are safe models to copy, wouldn't say or write "verbal" when they mean "oral."

President TAFT, who must have learned while a Judge that it is well to use words with care and to exact of each only its proper task in the expression of thought, thus maltreats "verbal" in the letter which doubtless gave Secretary BALLINGER so much joy—and Chief Forester PINCHOT somewhat less. "You have said so," the sentence runs, "in written and verbal communications to your subordinates and to the claimants themselves." But why weren't the written communications as much "verbal as the others"?

It must be admitted that the dictionaries are not as vehement as they might be in denying the interchangeability of "verbal" and "oral," but they one and all lament the usage that makes the two equivalent, and evidently wish that each of the words might be reserved for its natural, logical, and proper service. To do so is not only easy, but it is one of the cheapest methods of acquiring a right to feel superior to other folks that we know of. That, surely, ought to make it popular with many.

CHARLES F. McKIM.

A Meeting with Him in the Studio of Puvis de Chavannes.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I first met Charles F. McKim at the hour of 7 A. M. in the studio of Puvis de Chavannes, when I was taking my morning lesson. It was thus I happened to be present when one of the gentlest and greatest of Americans met one of the gentlest and greatest of Frenchmen, and made him the offer for the decoration of the Boston Library. The price was very generous indeed; the artist was evidently staggered. I noticed that he trembled and the silence became oppressive. Mr. McKim quietly urged the matter, praising the artist, who finally said: "The offer is princely, but the undertaking is great. Boston is distant, I am an old man; in fact, I am afraid. Enfin, J'ai peur."

Puvis finally accepted, and after the architect had departed he asked me what he should take as a subject. I suggested something. I have forgotten what, but he replied: "I must wait till it comes. My genius lies in the unconscious." Judge of my delight when I first saw that vestibule complete.

"Greatness is the simplest thing in the world." The Boston Library is the simplest thing in the world. The Gates of Paradise by Daniel French, the Hill of Parnassus by Puvis, and the whole temple of light by McKim. Architecture is the simplest of the arts; it is also the greatest, as the name shows.

What constitutes a great man? Shall we count Vitruvius and Palladio and Vignola among the great and good? Shall we count the brain that conceived the Pantheon, the brain that conceived the British Museum? Is not the Boston Library McKim's true monument?

Penalty for Enlistment.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

News from Bridgeton, N. J., in your paper Tuesday last tells of seven young National guardsmen who, like right true men, very promptly re-enlisted even though doing so entailed the loss of their immediate jobs as journeymen machinists.

This interesting news is remarkable, because it is stated that corporate employers dismissed those men; and this may be regarded, suggestively, as much worse than mere crankiness on the part of an eccentric single boss.

Examination into this matter by the State's law department should result in its being set forth in its true constitutional aspects; and, if this is done, done fully and the results promptly made public, some prevention will doubtless thereby arise against impropriety which verges all too nearly upon downright illegal action. Surely it is true, is it not, that no employe should be coerced into doing something derogatory to his own good citizenship?

Errors by Wire and Wireless.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I do not think it quite fair of your correspondent, George F. Campbell Wood, to ascribe all errors in the Peary transmission to wireless work. Peary's messages were transmitted by the Marconi system from Battle Harbor to Cape Ray, Newfoundland, thence by cable and various relays of land lines to New York. In our experience of transmissions for the last five or six years we find the proportion of mistakes and consequent refunds are 80 per cent. for land lines and connections and 20 per cent. for wireless. Errors are not so liable to arise when Continental is used instead of American Morse, the former being used by the Marconi system and the latter by the land line companies. I would say further that more errors are caused by indistinct writing than in any other way. Yours very truly,

Letter of "Catherine S." Brings Forth More Figures of Careful Housekeepers

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Notwithstanding your scathing remarks as regards the possibility of living upon so small an amount as "Catherine S." names, I venture to add my testimony to hers, and herewith inclose a list of my expenses for August:

Grocer (this includes bread and potatoes)	11.72
Butcher	$5.60
Fruit	1.57
Milk	3.60
Total	$22.49

Our household consists of two women, and we take all our meals at home.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The following, I believe, is an improvement on "Catherine S.'s" table for the same price; that is, for $20 a month for two:

Meat	$5.00
Butter	3.00
Eggs	3.00
Milk	1.20
Coffee and tea	1.10
Potatoes and other vegetables	1.75
Fruit	1.50
Cereal	1.00
Bread, crackers, &c.	1.20
Pastry, &c	1.25

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am not going to enter the lists which as "Catherine S." says are irresistible, but in behalf of a fellow-woman whose statements are uncredited I would like to answer your editorial, "Economy Most Mysterious."

A celebrated novelist says: "In even the most modern and devoted of men the Sultan dies hard," but die he must when he competes with an intelligent, practical woman, who is determined to spend as little as possible on her table, commensurate with good health and good appetite.

THE TIMES is in a poor position to be incredulous over another's economy, for it is the wonder of every man and woman how the management can produce such a blessing for one cent a day. "It is all a deep mystery—doing things that can't be done."

TOPOGRAPHICAL MUSEUM.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

About four months ago, in the City of Florence, was inaugurated a "Topographical Museum," where are collected all the plans, maps, and panoramas of the city through the different ages that it was possible to find.

This museum has met with great success, because to the lover of art and of history it is interesting to look into the old "Firenze"; into the past of the city—the past which was so glorious.

New York is at present a wonderful city. Some day not in the far future it will be the most wonderful and most beautiful city in the world. This theory is reasonable, because the highest development of fine arts and civilization have always followed economic power, and if Rome, Florence, Venice, Genoa, and Paris are so beautiful it is because they had their turn of economic power.

It is interesting to note that to-day despite the shortness of its history you feel an interest in "old New York," and crowds are always looking at the old maps and engravings of New York when they are displayed in a bookseller's window.

There is still existing a copious harvest of these souvenirs of the city since its beginning, and if intelligent lovers of the history of New York could collect, select, and arrange the material the city could have a very interesting museum.

I have been told that there are many private collections of this kind, but for the sake of the study of the city history it is necessary to allow those who are interested to enjoy and study freely the most complete of the collections.

Before such treasures are dispersed they should be sought out, collected together, and saved.

The example of Florence ought to be followed. Why does not New York start a museum of her proper typography through the different ages of its history?

Illinois Labor Law for Women.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I notice that Judge Tuthill of the Cook County Circuit Court, Chicago, has granted an injunction against the enforcement of the Illinois act forbidding women from laboring over ten hours a day on the ground that if the law were enforced it would vitiate the constitutional right to enter into contracts. I am not versed in the spirit of the Constitution of the State of Illinois, but if its spirit, whatever its letter may be, permits women to enter into contracts, or permits their employers to enter into contracts, which are inimical to the proper development of the race, and in that menace vitally the public welfare, it is time to correct that Constitution and make it conform to the future public good, rather than to the individual and present earnings of employes and the pecuniary profits of employers. A Judge might as well enjoin a policeman from arresting a burglar who had contracted to rob a house for the Burglars' Syndicate. Better, because burglary is less a menace to our future than the children of mothers who should not be mothers. Isn't it time for Illinois to wake up and investigate her vital resources?

The Pittsburger's Joy.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I smoke stogies and am not ashamed of it. When I smoke a stogie I know what I am smoking. So do other people, but that's no matter. Now, I have a friend who is ashamed of a stogie, and is almost ashamed of me because I am not. He smokes Havanas bearing a well-known Cuban name—15 cents, straight. The other day he gave me one of his kind to smoke. I kindled it and began. After a minute or two I wanted to say something which politeness forbade. I smoked on. The smoke went over and settled around him. After a few minutes he looked at me intently and spoke. "Say, Bill," he said, "if that cigar tastes half as bad as it smells, I don't see how you stand it." Then I threw it away and lit a stogie to take the taste out of my mouth.

Now Comes Isle of Man.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your correspondents with the Latin names, who urge the respective claims of Scotland, Ireland, and Wales, must each take a back seat. The squadron under the command of Admiral Seymour, which is about to visit your waters, will represent the Isle of Man—and the adjacent islands of Great Britain and Ireland.

The Isle of Man goes one better than either of the countries named in having a Parliament of its own; and is, besides, the home of the tailless cat and of Mr. Hall Caine, who is by no means tailless.

BY SEA TO MAINE.

The white heat of a New York day,
A ship slow steaming down the Bay,
A bridge or two, an island mound,
And then the coolness of the Sound.

A lighthouse here, a beacon there,
A bell buoy's music on the air,
A distant glimpse of gray and green,
Then the Atlantic's rolling sheen.

A day of pleasure and of ease.

That stretches portward far away.
A Captain brave, with eagle eye,
A fortress outlined 'gainst the sky.

A chill of Autumn on the sea;
A jacket, please, for you and me!
The thrill of vigor in each vein,
Gained on our way, by sea, to Maine.

SAY POSTAL SAVINGS WILL HURT PEOPLE

FAVOR LEGAL SAFEGUARDS

Admitted That Savings Deposits Are Trust Funds and Not Now Adequately Protected in All States.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—The postal savings bank question came to the fore at the meeting of the savings bank section of the American Bankers' Association Convention here to-day.

In the midst of a committee report, adverse to postal savings banks, and speeches deprecating the entrance of the Government into the banking business, an open letter was received from the Postal Savings Bank League of the United States. The letter was addressed to George M. Reynolds, President of the American Bankers' Association, and was signed by Julius Goldzier, President of the Postal Savings Bank League. In part the open letter says:

"The recent expressions of officers of your association tend to show a spirit of opposition to postal savings banks, which while contrary to public opinion is also, as we believe, contrary to the best interests of your business.

"The dominant party is most solemnly pledged to the establishment of the people's banks, yet in the same breath in which you make a proposition in behalf of the moneyed interests (a central bank under Government supervision) you ask the Legislative and Executive to ignore and violate the pledges given to the body of the people in platforms and official documents."

The league calls on the bankers for assistance in securing postal savings banks in the following words:

"Here is the place and the time when broad patriotism urges that opposition to the postal depository measure favored by President Taft shall cease and that the American Bankers' Association win the trust, esteem, and profound respect of the American people by publicly and frankly indorsing that measure, unmindful of seeming and immediate self-interest to the contrary.

"Experience in other countries has shown that so far from injuriously affecting the banking business, postal savings banks have acted as feeders to banks, increasing deposits in number and volume."

Mr. Reynolds showed the letter to a number of delegates to-day, but no action was taken. It is said that the letter, if read at all, at the main meeting to-morrow will fall for the most part on unfriendly ears. Practically every speech made so far at the bankers' convention has been adverse to postal savings banks. This morning's speakers, H. S. Henscher of Chicago, John H. Johnson, President of the Savings Bank section, and H. L. Zimmerman, were all against this form of banking.

The report of the Postal Savings Bank Committee, presented by its Chairman, Lucius Teter, declares:

"Our experience has proved clearly that the bankers of the country are united in that they do not regard a postal savings bank system as necessary; in fact, hold that such legislation would result in injury to the American people.

"We find that the bankers are entirely alive to their responsibilities, and, while condemning the idea of postal savings banks, they are willing to co-operate actively in the enactment of laws, both National and State, that shall make for better savings facilities and for better banking methods.

"The members of your committee are inclined to think that at this date we can say that there has apparently been a great change in sentiment throughout the country in reference to the advisability of passing postal savings banks legislation. In other words, the campaign of education which we started has, to a considerable extent, had the desired effect, in that it has caused multitudes of people to study carefully a question to which they had heretofore given only a superficial attention.

"We are hoping that the question will be turned over to the Monetary Commission, and fully believe that in the final report of that commission will come promises for a future development of American banking that will assure all the people that legislators and bankers, working together, can take care of the banking needs of the American people."

"We may disagree with the advocates of both the insurance of deposits and the postal savings plans," said H. N. Zimmerman, Commissioner of Banking for Michigan, "but we must admit that we have been gradually breaking away from some of our more conservative and well-established principles, so far, at least, as the safeguarding of our savings deposits is concerned. While it may be impracticable or unwie to adopt the insurance of deposits plan or urge the establishment of postal savings depositories, yet it would seem there is an apparent need, at least, for the segregation and safeguarding of our savings deposits."

"As we look over the history and development of banking institutions can we not see that the deposits of tradesmen, mechanics, laborers, servants, minors, and other persons, commonly designated as savings deposit, have been rapidly drifting into commercial channels. The encroachment through the medium of the various and sundry so-called 'savings' and 'interest' departments in our commercial banks, trust companies, building and loan associations, &c., now so common everywhere, gives us much evidence of such a condition of affairs.

"Savings deposits have always been regarded as 'trust funds' when left with 'trustee' or 'mutual' savings banks, and surely should be so regarded, both legally as well as morally, when placed with any other institution. The character of such deposits is certainly not changed, no matter what the character of the corporation or association may be into whose hands they are placed.

"The investment of such funds in ordinary commercial business risks would not be countenanced by the courts if in the hands of administrators or guardians. Neither should it be countenanced when these funds are in the hands of corporations which are not required by the laws of the State in which they operate to invest them in the most stable securities to be had."

The speaker urged the adoption of a general law in the Nation as well as in the States, providing that any institution chartered by either which holds itself and to the public to receive savings deposits should be required to segregate them and invest them in a definite and prescribed manner.

The Committee on Savings Bank Laws reported that eighteen States have no savings bank laws; eight States allow stock banks to be organized with departments for commercial savings business; other States permit organizations of stock savings banks, in New England, some of the Middle States, and a few of the Western and Southern States trustee savings banks (without stock) were provided for.

"It was found," the report says, "that in some States, notwithstanding laws for the organization of trustee savings banks, few, if any, were in operation, and, instead, the savings deposits and saving business was cared for by the commercial banks operating savings departments, without the restrictions which are generally conceded to be as a safeguard in the interests of savings depositors.

"It has been manifest at its conferences that the committee has not considered practical a definite law which would be acceptable in its details by all of the various States of the Union, but, rather, information has led the committee to feel that a law safeguarding savings deposits, wherever held, would be acceptable, and it is upon this line that the work of your committee has progressed.

"The committee has not finished the work of preparing the draft of a skeleton banking law for the safeguarding of deposits, but hopes to have one ready for consideration at the Spring meeting of the Executive Committee of the Savings Bank Section next year."

WOMAN TO MANAGE THE ITALIAN OPERA

HER FIRST EXPERIMENT

Widow of a Publisher Is Said to Have Secured Backing for Project—Promises Permanent Italian Opera.

A complete reorganization of the managing forces of the Italian Grand Opera Company, which is giving a season of opera at the Academy of Music, took place yesterday, and Mrs. Alanson S. Appleton became the Managing Director of the company. She is one of the few women who have ever undertaken the management of an opera company. Mr. Pinsuti will become the business manager. Antonio Farrara has resigned from the managership, and his stock has been bought. Otherwise the company remains the same, with James E. Brande still acting as President.

Since the beginning the members of this company have not been working in complete harmony, but it is believed that all differences are now completely settled. Mr. Ferrara has left the company on the best of terms with everybody. Besides, it is said, that with Mrs. Appleton plenty of money has been infused into the backing of the company.

A large audience greeted another performance of "La Bohème" at the Academy last evening, but few realized that the modest looking woman in one of the stage boxes was the new Director of the company. Mrs. Appleton evidently had no desire that any one should recognize the fact, and did not seem to want to talk about it. However, finally she consented to say a few words to a representative of THE TIMES.

"It is really the first time," she said, "that I have ever embarked in anything of this sort. I have always been interested in opera, especially in Italian opera, but I have never undertaken the management of such an institution before. But the Directors insisted on making me manager this afternoon, and finally I consented to accept. We have had a busy day, and I haven't even had time to change my clothes."

Mrs. Appleton belongs to a prominent Boston family. Her husband was a publisher and writer. He died on the Riviera a year ago. He had a plan for taking an American congress of musicians, artists, and writers through the principal cities of Italy, a plan which is said to have met with the hearty concurrence of the King of Italy.

"It was really that, I think," said Mrs. Appleton, "which induced me to undertake this present work. I knew that it would please my husband. We shall continue to give opera here, not only this year, but for all time. It is our intention to show the people of New York what real Italian opera is like. From time to time we shall bring over new singers, and it is the purpose of this company to always bring forward the best that is to be had. Prominent people are daily becoming interested in the scheme. I have every faith in Mr. Pinsuti, and I am sure that we shall be able to go head in fine shape."

POLICE QUELL CONEY CROWD.

Eggs and Beer Glasses Thrown at Mardi Gras Visitors.

It was firemen's night at the Coney Island Mardi Gras last night, and despite a light drizzle, which began to fall early there were fully as many people at the resort as on any night since the carnival began. Umbrella pedlars reaped a harvest. There were several scenes of disorder which the police had a hard time quelling. The B. R. T. officials first complained that some one in the dark places where their trains passed threw eggs and vegetables at the passengers. Many gowns are said to have been ruined. A few moments later Herman Wacke the Chairman of the Committee on Floats, complained that a crowd nad gathered at the Sea Beach Palace, where the floats used in the parade were stored. The reserves, headed by Lieut. Cook, descended upon them and arrested James A. Bruce and Louis Schwartz, who were looked up, charged with disorderly conduct.

At the West End station of the B. R. T. the crowd got beyond the control of the police just as the parade began, and it took the reserves nearly a half hour to restore order. Tony Rontea of 150 Guernsey Street, Manhattan was arrested, charged with disorderly conduct and assault. Policeman Sweeney said he saw Rontea throw beer glasses into the crowd. When the parade got under way about five hundred automobiles in double file trailed along behind.

ENGLISH OPERA AT MANHATTAN

Hammerstein to Produce "Bohemian Girl" as an Experiment.

Oscar Hammerstein has decided to produce at least one opera in English, and he has just put into rehearsal Balfe's "Bohemian Girl." Mme. Lalla Miranda, the Australian soprano, will sing the rôle of Arline. Mme. d'Alvarez will sing the part of the gypsy Queen. This contralto is a Peruvian, but her father was Peruvian Consul General in Liverpool for several years, and she had the advantage of an English education. One of the tenor rôles will be given to Mr. Russo, who speaks English fluently, while Henri Scott, the American bass, will sing the part of Count von Arhelm. The members of the chorus are almost exclusively American, so there will be no difficulty there.

"This is an attempt to see if the public really care for opera in English," said Mr. Hammerstein last night. "Many of my principals sing in English, and if there is a demand for English opera I shall give more of it. Already I have "Esmeralda" in mind.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Carrie Reynolds will enter the cast of "In Hayti" next Monday night, singing the role of the actress.

The Ninth Company of the Coast Artillery Corps of Stamford, Conn., will attend the performance of "The Midnight Sons" at the Broadway Theatre on Sept. 30.

"The Prince of Bohemia" has been selected as the title of Andrew Mack's new play, to be produced by New Fields.

Frances Farr, who is said to be a society girl of Indianapolis, Ind., as well as a singer of merit, has been engaged by F. Ziegfeld, Jr., and will make her professional debut in "Miss Innocence," on Sept. 27.

Hughes Massie of Curtis, Brown & Massie, publishers, has obtained the serial and book rights of "Such a Little Queen" for England and all countries of Europe.

A translation of "Paid in Full" is being prepared for production in Norway.

The company that will support Forbes Robertson in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" includes Haldee Wright, Evelyn Weeden, Molly Pearson, Madge Avery, Kate Carlyon, Mary Ralph, Alison Skinner, A. G. Poulton, Allen Thomas, David Powell, Montague Rutherford, and Alexander Cassy. Fred W. Permain is stage manager for Forbes-Robertson.

A dramatization of Poe's "The Telltale Heart" will be put on as a curtain raiser to "Billy" at Daly's Theatre, beginning tonight.

A chair and a sword belt introduced some new "business" into "The Chocolate Soldier" last night, and Jack Gardiner got an unexpected laugh and a few bruises, as Mr. Gerrings was making a hurried exit in pursuit of Naida, his belt caught on the arm of a chair, turning the exit into a re-entrance.

DOWN WENT THE TRUNKS.

New System of Grand Central Distribution Didn't Work Just Right.

Although the officials around the Grand Central Station are keeping it quiet, the new system of distributing trunks came to an untimely suspension about five days ago. The system didn't fall through, but some of the trunks did. After all the baggage had been distributed into ten neat piles, and the success of the method had been proclaimed, a goodly portion of the flooring gave way and straightway the trunks were tobagganed into the nether regions, with no regard for the personalities of the ten individual piles.

To pull the trunks out again, meanwhile receiving new baggage by the carload, into a room bereft of its floor wasn't a very easy task, but the baggage authorities did not proclaim their misfortunes abroad, not desiring, in the words of one of the officials, "a few thousand hysterical females around each trying to discover if her home-made Paris gowns were down the spout." Unavoidably, however, trunks became three, four, and five days overdue, but still silence at the Grand Central.

The cause of these delays, after a new system of rapid transit had been installed, might have forever remained a mystery, if a very harmless looking individual hadn't gone looking for a bag already four days late. Then a worried official suddenly grew confidential, and told the story of the catastrophe to the harmless stranger.

Homer Washington Hedge's Will.

The will of Homer Washington Hedge, former President of the Hedge Advertising Company, 11 West Thirty-second Street, and one of the founders of the Automobile and Aero Clubs of this city, was filed for probate yesterday. The petition gives the value of the estate at $50,000 in personal property. The entire estate is left in trust for the testator's widow and daughter.

Bar Smoking Autos from London Parks

Park Commissioner Smith learned yesterday that London has adopted New York's plan of freeing its parkways from the smoke and obnoxious odors from automobiles. When the Commissioner was trying to get his anti-smoke ordinance through the Board of Aldermen about a year ago he found that in London there was no regulation to keep smoking or ill-smelling automobiles off the park roads.

Blaze in Ex-Gov. Morton's Home.

Fire caused by defective insulation started in the bottom of the elevator shaft in the home of ex-Governor Levi P. Morton, 681 Fifth Avenue, yesterday afternoon. It was put out by firemen with a hand fire extinguisher after it had done slight damage. The blaze was discovered by the caretaker of the house. The Morton family is out of town.

HOPPER ACTS A "TRAGEDIAN."

Appears in New Play, "A Matinee Idol," and Makes a Speech.

Special to The New York Times.

NORRISTOWN, Penn., Sept. 16.—De Wolf Hopper appeared here to-night as a "tragedian" in a new play entitled "A Matinee Idol." There was a large delegation from the Lambs Club to witness the premier, and Hopper was called on for a speech. The play shows the plight of an American actor who goes broke in Europe and gets out of his difficulty by posing as a hypnotist. The music is by Silvio Hein. Hopper's song at the end of the second act, "The Robin and the Wren," was encored many times.

The company includes Harriet Burt, Ethel Dovey, and George F. Moore, and a large chorus. The production is elaborate.

Hopper in his speech said that it was a great relief after playing comic opera kings and deuce spots to be able to play a human being, even though that human being was an actor.

Golden Gate Club's Benefit.

The Golden Gate Professional Club, an organization of Californians, will give its second benefit performance at the Belasco Theatre on Sept. 26. Among those who have promised to appear are Homer Davenport, Mrs. Annie Yeamans, Leo Cooper, Violet Dale, Nick Long, Idalene Cotton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lawrance, Mme. Rosmarie Campbell, Harry Barnhardt, and Stella Barr. The proceeds of the performance will be used for the club's home at 162 West Fiftieth Street.

LAMB—KEITH.

Miss Ina Keith and Dr. Alexander S. Lamb were married on Wednesday afternoon, at 569 West 184th Street, the residence of Dr. Ross H. Keith, the bride's brother. Dr. Keith gave away the bride, who was unattended. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. John R. Henry, pastor of the Seventh Street Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride is the only daughter of the late Elias Keith of Havelock, N. B., Canada. The bridegroom is a young physician, practicing at Havelock.

Several relatives of the bride, who were formerly residents of Canada, attended the wedding, among them Mrs. B. R. Keith of San Francisco, her aunt, with whom she has just returned from a European tour. The young couple will spend their honeymoon at the Summer home of Judge Ira Keith of Lynn, Mass., an uncle of the bride, in New Hampshire.

CONKLIN—DICKERSON.

The wedding of Miss Anna Lulu Dickerson, a daughter of Frank Dickerson of Great Neck, L. I., to William Rowe Conklin of New York City, was held at Fair Hill, the country estate of the bride's parents, near Great Neck, at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Joseph F. Elder, D. D., on the lawn in front of the home.

The bride was dressed in white satin, with old lace that had been a family heirloom, and wore a diamond pendant, the gift of the bridegroom. Her maid of honor was Miss Ruth A. Dickerson. The bridesmaids were the Misses Anna Cockle, Grace Abbott, Geraldine W. Dickerson, and Grace Vanderbilt. S. S. Dickerson was best man, and the ushers, John Reid, James Tryon, Walter Shaw, and Dean Smith. After a wedding breakfast at the Dickerson home, the bride and bridegroom left for their honeymoon in Nova Scotia.

WILLIAMS—REEVE.

Special to The New York Times.

MILLBURN, N. J., Sept. 16.—Heirlooms centuries old were among the wedding gifts to Miss Grace V. Reeve of this place, from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Reeve of Millburn Avenue. The young woman became last night the bride of Allyn Williams, also of Millburn. The ceremony took place in the First Baptist Church, and was performed by the Rev. F. C. Osborne, the pastor.

Miss Harriet L. Voorhees was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Bertha F. Harrison of Roseville, and Miss Jennie L. Squier of Arlington. John R. Baman of Rahway, was the best man, and the ushers were A. Hunter Platt of New York City, and John H. Ketcham of Brooklyn.

SCRANTON—HENRY.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scranton of East Orange, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Woodbridge Scranton, to Lewis Chauncey Henry, also of East Orange.

CITY BREVITIES.

The evening educational classes are announced by the Young Men's Hebrew Association to open next Monday evening. MRS. WATSON WINS FOUR BLUE RIBBONS

ELEVEN 'BLUES' IN TWO DAYS

A. G. Vanderbilt Drives His Ponies to Victory—J. Campbell Thompson Takes Four-in-Hand Class.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The splendid driving of Mrs. C. W. Watson was largely responsible for the victory of the Watson horses to-day in five harness classes. Mrs. Watson, who is one of the most expert women whips in the country, drove four of the five winners, and brought up the number of blue ribbons won by the Fairmont Stables to eleven in two days, which is a unique record, even with such a powerful stable of horses owned by C. W. Watson. The success of Mrs. Watson was the feature of the second day's judging of the Westchester County Horse Show, and easily eclipsed all incidents in connection with the day's exhibition.

Aside from Mrs. Watson's driving, the appearance of Alfred G. Vanderbilt as a competitor in the show ring and J. Campbell Thompson's success furnished abundance of interest for a big crowd of society folk, which made a splendid showing despite the threatening weather. Mr. Vanderbilt drove his famous Nel Valley pair of ponies to victory, and rode his imported saddle horse, Dreadnought. The latter won the championship of Newport last week, but could do no better than second against Morehead Patterson's Durham.

J. Campbell Thompson won the four-in-hand class for road teams. He entered the same team in the four-in-hand race, but there were no other entries against him, and the event, which was expected to be the feature of the show, has been declared off. Mr. Thompson also won the heavy harness class with Furor and Sensation, giving him a double victory on the day.

The summaries:

SNEEZING FIT OPENS WOUND.

Confetti Mixed with Snuff Nearly Cost Genole His Life.

A sneezing fit, which opened an old wound in his wrist, almost cost the life of Frank Genole of 48 Union Street, Brooklyn, yesterday morning. He attended the Mardi Gras at Coney Island on Wednesday night, and while there some one threw some confetti at him, with which, it is believed, snuff had been mixed.

On his way home Genole began to sneeze and kept it up until early yesterday morning. Then he discovered that a deep cut in his left wrist, caused by an accident some time ago, had been opened by the violence of his sneezing. Members of the family, after trying in vain to stop the flow of blood, had him taken to Long Island College Hospital. The physicians there ended Genole's sneezing and sewed up the wound, stopping the bleeding. Genole had become very weak from loss of blood.

GOWNS WORTH $2,000 SEIZED.

Passenger Says She Brought the Trunk Over for a Dressmaker.

Some $2,500 worth of articles, seized by customs officials, were turned in yesterday to the seizure room at the Public Stores. The seizures were made on Wednesday on the White Star pier, while the passengers from the Majestic were being landed, and on the Hamburg-American pier, when the baggage of those arriving on the President Lincoln was examined.

Among those who arrived on the latter vessel was Miss A. L. Hanlon of this city. Her baggage was placed under the letter H on the pier. The examining Inspector noted another trunk, evidently of the same make and kind as Miss Hanlon's trunks. He asked the woman if it was her trunk. She replied that it was not.

As the trunk remained unclaimed the passenger was again questioned. She again denied ownership, but this time volunteered the information that she had brought the trunk over and that it belonged to a Mrs. Holston, a New York dressmaker. She denied any intention of smuggling, and said that a customs broker was to have met her to look after the trunk. The broker did not come, and as the trunk was neither on the ship's manifest nor declared by Miss Hanlon it was seized. It is said to contain gowns valued at over $2,000.

Rev. Sidney V. Whittemore.

The Rev. Sidney Varnum Whittemore, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Philadelphia, Penn., died from apoplexy at the home of his father, Sidney Whittemore, 773 St. Nicholas Avenue, Wednesday night. MRS. NELSON MORRIS DIES FROM INJURIES

Widow of Chicago Packer Was in an Automobile Accident in France on Sept. 10.

CRISIS AT FONTAINBLEAU

Received $8,000,000 from Husband's Estate, and Gave $250,000 for Morris Memorial Institute in Chicago.

FONTAINBLEAU, France, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Morris, widow of Nelson Morris of Chicago, died here to-day from injuries received in an automobile accident which occurred near here Sept. 10.

Accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Wolf of Chicago; a private secretary named Lashelle, and a maid, Mrs. Morris was making an automobile trip from Paris to Geneva. When about three miles outside of Fontainbleau the car encountered a heavy wagon loaded with brick coming in the opposite direction. The horses became frightened and reared in front of the automobile, but the chauffeur avoided a disastrous collision by swinging his car into a ditch. The abrupt stop threw Mrs. Morris against the front seat. She received injuries to the abdomen which brought about the crisis of a disease from which she was a sufferer. Mrs. Morris was the only member of the party injured.

Mrs. Morris was removed to a hotel, where she died this morning. The doctor ascribes her death to diabetes and coma, induced by her injuries. The body will be shipped to America.

Mrs. Nelson Morris, whose maiden name was Miss Sarah Vogel, was married to Nelson Morris, the Chicago meat packer, in 1863. At the time of his death, on Aug. 27, 1907, Mr. Morris left an estate valued at $20,000,000, of which $8,000,000 was bequeathed to Mrs. Morris and an equal sum to her daughter, Mrs. Maurice Rothschild.

Mrs. Morris was well known for her many charitable bequests, chief among which was her gift of $250,000 to the Michael Reese Hospital of Chicago to erect a four-story building and laboratory in member of her husband, and to be known as the Nelson Morris Memorial Institute for Medical Research. This institute, which resembles the Rockefeller Institute of New York in character, was to have received an additional endowment of equal amount, it was said, after Mrs. Morris's return from her trip abroad undertaken last Spring.

With her at the time went her two daughters, Mrs. Rothschild and Mrs. Schwab of Chicago. One son, Ira A. Morris, is now in Europe; another, Edward Morris, lives in this city. Mrs. Morris was a sister of Frank A. Vogel of this city, Vice President of the Simpson-Crawford Company.

SALLY LIEBLING DEAD.

Distinguished German Pianist Was One of Liszt's Master Pupils.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Sally Liebling, the distinguished German pianist and one of Liszt's master pupils, died last night after a brief illness. Mr. Liebling's brothers and other relatives have long been prominent in the American musical world.

Mr. Liebling, in addition to his artistic activity, was a partner in a leading Berlin concert agency. He had the title of Court Pianist.

Sally Liebling was born at Posen, Germany, in 1859. He studied music in Berlin, and made a number of concert tours in Germany. He visited the United States in 1875, playing with Thomas's orchestra. He subsequently gave many concerts with many well-known artists. He founded the new Conservatory of Music in Berlin in 1888. His brother, George Liebling, also became a distinguished musician. Sally Liebling was made court pianist to the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha in 1890.

BISHOP JOB S. MILLS DEAD.

Ex-President of Illinois Wesleyan University and Active in Science.

LEBANON, Penn., Sept. 16.—The Rev. Dr. Job S. Mills, one of the Bishops of the United Brethren Church, died at his home, at Annville, this county, this afternoon, in his sixty-second year.

Bishop Job Smith Mills was born near Plymouth, Ohio, on Feb. 28, 1848. After being graduated from the Illinois Wesleyan University he began to study for the ministry under private tutors. He became pastor of the Otterbein University in 1874, and after serving in that capacity for three years he resigned to become Professor of English Literature and Rhetoric at the Western College. He afterward served as Professor of Philosophy and President of the same university.

In 1893 Prof. Mills resigned his position at the Western College upon his election as Bishop of the United Brethren Church. He soon started to make an inspection of the European colleges. He visited the Universities of Berlin, Leipsic, Halle, Jenna, Oxford, and Cambridge. He returned to this country, and in 1903 again left for Europe to make an inspection of the missionary work of the United Brethren Church abroad. He received the degree of D. D. from the Westfield College and the Lebanon Valley College in 1890, and the degree of A. M. from the Otobein University in 1884. The Illinois Wesleyan College conferred the degree of LL. D. on him in 1894.

Prof. Mills was a member of the most important scientific and religious societies in this country and abroad. He was a corresponding member of the Iowa Academy of Science and a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Movement Unchecked by the Money Market Position—Banks Still Losing Cash—August Trade Returns.

On a volume of transactions fully as great as that of Wednesday the movement of prices in yesterday's stock market was again vigorously forward. Practically every stock on the list which may be said to have been active at all participated in the rise, but the advances scored were in a number of instances considerably smaller than those netted by the same issues on the previous day. This fact, coupled with the further circumstance that in the stocks which were most actively dealt in and which assumed the leadership of the market, the day's gains were even more striking than on Wednesday gave to the market as a whole a slight semblance of irregularity, although, as has been said, practically every issue traded in moved forward to some extent. The main influence underlying the market was again the unmistakable evidence of prosperity in practically every line of business activity. The belief on the part of the financial community that the returns which are to come to all corporations whose shares are dealt in on the Stock Exchange will more than justify the admittedly high level of prices now prevailing is one of the most interesting as well as important phases of the financial situation as a whole. It must be confessed that however much this view is sustained by conditions outside the precincts of Wall Street there are certain tendencies within the financial district itself which would seem to suggest modifications, at least for the immediate future. The most impressive of these is, of course, to be found in the money market situation, where the facts are fairly patent. It is perhaps a characteristic of such optimism as that which now prevails to minimize anything in the nature of possible obstructions to the market, and in treating the money position in this fashion Wall Street is supported to a considerable degree by banking opinion. Among the day's happenings with more or less bearing upon the markets were the announcement of the purchase by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of the holdings of New York Telephone stock in the Western Union Treasury, a transaction further increasing the control over the local company by the parent concern and providing the telegraph company with a large amount of cash; the increase from 4 per cent. to 5 per cent. per annum in the common stock dividend of the Public Service Corporation, a company whose securities are rather widely distributed, and sharp advances in prices on both grain and cotton markets. The rise in wheat was due to technical conditions and that in cotton to an unfavorable report on cotton conditions by one of the numerous "experts."

Local banks again lost to the Sub-Treasury balance on routine transactions yesterday, the total of such losses running to above $6,000,000 since Friday last, while the actual surplus reported by the banks was not much more than half this amount. The trust companies appeared in the money market during the day as substantial lenders of funds, and it was largely their activity in this respect which prevented rates from advancing beyond the 3 per cent. quotation established earlier in the week. In the usual weekly statement of the Bank of England there was noted an increase in its percentage of reserves to liabilities, the figure standing a trifle above the average for this season of the year, while from Berlin came insistent reports that the discount rate of the German Bank would be advanced to-day. Foreign exchange rates fell some 15 points, and an interesting commentary on this market was afforded by the August foreign trade figures with their showing of an increase of $24,800,000 in imports and a decrease of over $600,000 in exports. For the eight months of the calendar year the excess of exports is $330,000,000 under that of the same period a year ago.

Steel's New High Record.

The persistent strength of United States Steel, which, after its habit, made another new high record yesterday, overshadowed in interest all other developments in the stock market. At yesterday's high price for the stock, it had advanced practically 100 per cent. within five months, and this rise has added considerably more than $200,000,000 to the market value of the company's stocks since the open market for steel products was established. Not the least interesting feature of the long campaign in Steel has been the fact that the optimistic views of those closely associated with the company have been at all times openly averred, and that even now in spite of the sensational advance they are expressing identical opinions.

Bigger Lehigh Valley Dividend?

In explanation of the action of Lehigh Valley, a stock in which Wall Street is much interested in spite of the fact that it is not dealt in here, it was said yesterday that a number of the Directors are strongly in favor of putting the stock on an 8 per cent. dividend basis at the next meeting for dividend purposes, which, however, is some time off. Much credence was put in this reported plan for the reason that coupled with it was the assertion that no movement looking toward a segregation of the Lehigh's coal properties after the fashion of the Delaware & Lackawanna Coal Company was in contemplation.

Cotton Board Membership Up.

Continued activity on the Cotton Exchange, where prices moved up 14 or 15 points yesterday for practically all options, upon the publication of a crop estimate placing the condition at 61, has led to a decided rise in the cost of membership. A seat sold yesterday for $15,000, this price representing an advance of $1,000 over the last preceding sale. The buyer was Charles A. Shearson and the seller J. C. C. Meyer Kort.

Woolen Stock Subscriptions.

A second payment of $50 a share on subscriptions to the issue of $5,000,000 preferred stock of the American Woolen Company fell due yesterday, and it is understood that both this and the first payment were generally made by old stockholders. Both preferred and common holders were permitted to subscribe at par at the rate of one share of the new stock for every thirteen shares they held, and the understanding is that only a very small amount of the new issue went to the syndicate headed by the banking house of Brown Brothers & Co., who had arranged to take all unsubscribed for new stock. In common with other industrials, the American Woolen's earnings are expanding substantially. An instance of this growth is found in the August report of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, submitted yesterday, showing an increase in net earnings of $303,000.

New Financing in "Big Four."

The stock of the Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland & St. Louis Railway Company closed half a point up yesterday, at 76, following the announcement of the call for a special meeting of the stockholders to authorize a $20,000,000 bond issue. This financing is a fulfillment of plans long known, and only about $10,000,000 of the new bonds are to be put out at present. The class of the new bonds and the amount of interest they are to bear have not yet been definitely determined, but it is certain that $5,000,000 of the first issue will be used to retire the $5,000,000 four-year 5 per cent. notes, due June 1 next, and about $4,000,000 of floating debt. The remainder of the amount authorized will be available to finance improvements.

BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The local market opened active and strong. United States Smelting was the feature in the copper group, scoring a further advance to 57¼ on transactions of over 11,000 shares. Lake lost nearly 2 points, to 34; Atlantic declined to 9, and the majority of the active issues reacted fractionally all around. The market closed steady at the recessions.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Thursday.

Commission house buying orders on the Consolidated Stock Exchange were in increased volume. Many of the floor traders had also turned to the bullish side, and the demand for stocks was sufficient to impart relative firmness to prices, compared with New York Stock Exchange quotations, practically all day. The market was a broad one, sixty-seven different issues changing hands, representing a total business of 116,420 shares. United States Steel common was the feature of the dealings most of the day, but in the later trading the leadership was assumed by Union Pacific.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

American Securities Firm and Buoyant on London Exchange.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—Money was in abundant supply on the market to-day and discounts were firmer.

On the Stock Exchange, although trading remained generally quiet, some sections were more cheerful, the buoyancy of Americans helping consols. Gilt-edged shares were neglected, foreigners were steady, and Mexican rails were maintained. Diamond shares were quietly upheld and copper shares were steady. Rio Tintos were better.

American securities were firm during the early trading, and at noon prices were from ⅛ to ⅞ higher than yesterday's New York closing. This section kept firm and buoyant under the leadership of the Harriman issues, United States Steel, Atchison, Topeka, & Santa Fé, and Reading. The New York opening caused a further improvement, which was maintained to the close.

Bar silver steady at 23¾d per ounce.

Money, ¾@1 per cent. Rate of discount in the open market, for short bills, 1⅝@1 7-16 per cent.; for three months' bills, 1⅛@1 9-16 per cent.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Prices on the Bourse to-day generally were firm.

Exchange on London, 25f 15½c for checks.

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—There was light business transacted on the Boerse to-day, and there was a rising tendency in prices.

Bank of England.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Total reserve increased £295,000, circulation decreased £314,000, bullion decreased £19,786, other securities decreased £450,000, other deposits decreased £336,000, public deposits increased £154,000, notes reserve increased £291,000.

Government securities unchanged.

The proportion of the Bank's reserve to liability this week is 53.36 per cent.; last week it was 52.68 per cent.

Hamburg American Statement.

HAMBURG, Sept. 16.—The Hamburg-American Steamship Company has issued a favorable statement regarding the finances of the company resulting from the excellent business of this year. The liquid balance is given at 19,500,000 marks, (about $4,875,000,) together with a reserve balance of 33,000,000 marks. Payments on new vessels before the end of the year will amount to 15,500,000 marks.

Bank of France.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The daily Consul and trade reports for Friday notes the following opportunities abroad. Further information regarding these may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Manufactures, Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C., giving the number of the item referred to:

3,883.—REPRESENTATION IN AUSTRIA—An Austrian business man writes that he has been acting as representative for foreign houses in Austria and Hungary for a number of years, and that he is especially interested in goods of American manufacture. He therefore desires to get in touch with firms desiring representation in those countries, and also willing to act as buyer for goods for export. He states that he will furnish references to interested parties.

3,884.—BINDERS, HARVESTERS, AND THRESHERS—An American Consul in Canada reports that he has an inquiry for information for header binders, and also on combined harvesters and threshers from a local party. The inquirer contemplates going into wheat farming, and is anxious to know where the machinery is manufactured, so as to get in direct correspondence with the manufacturers.

3,885.—MECHANICAL CORN SHELLERS—An inquiry has been received at an American Consulate in the Far East from a local Government official who is interested in the mechanical corn shellers, and is desirous of securing catalogues, price lists, and full particulars concerning these articles.

3,888.—UPPER LEATHERS FOR SHOE MANUFACTURING—One of the special agents of the Department of Commerce and Labor furnishes the name of a business man in Latin-America who wishes to communicate with American exporters of upper leathers relative to purchases of the same for shoe manufacturing.

3,887.—BARYTA—Consul John F. Jewel of Melbourne furnishes the name of a local business man who states that he has unlimited quantities of baryta, and will be glad to furnish prices for same to American importers of minerals.

3,888.—TABLET-COMPRESSING MACHINE—An American business firm writes that one of its customers in South America is in the market for a tablet-compressing machine which is able to compress one ounce of material into a cube.

3,889.—SUPPLIES FOR A FOREIGN GOVERNMENT—An American Consular officer reports that the Government of the country in which he is located will shortly purchase large quantities of supplies of various kinds by competitive bids. These supplies include army equipment of all kinds, such as uniforms, arms, shoes, caps, blankets, &c., and, according to the report of the Consular officer, an excellent opportunity is presented to American firms to secure these orders by proper attention to the matter.

3,890.—PAPER BOTTLES FOR EXPORT—A letter has been received from a New York commission house stating that it has received from one of its foreign correspondents an inquiry with regard to paper bottles, and expressing a wish to hear from manufacturers of this class of goods.

3,891.—POST HOLE DIGGERS AND MECHANICAL TOYS—There appears to be a promising opportunity for the introduction of up-to-date post hole diggers in France. There is reason to believe that American post hole diggers could be sold in considerable quantities if ordinary business ability and enterprise were shown in placing them on the French market. There is also a good market for patented practical hardware, and light and well made rakes are in demand. Cheap mechanical toys are sold in large quantities, and American makers should find a ready sale in that country.

3,892.—REFRIGERATORS FOR GERMANY—An American Consul in Germany furnishes lists of possible importers of refrigerators in the city where he is located.

THE COTTON MARKET.

Reaction Follows Sharp Advance—Closes 2 to 9 Points Up.

Cotton was marked yesterday by violent fluctuations and active and excited trading, with large blocks changing hands. Strength in Liverpool, big exports, steady Southern markets, bullish reports concerning dry goods trade conditions, and a sensationally bullish private condition report, encouraged the sudden advance. At high point December contracts sold at $3 per bale above the low level of Monday, but the close was barely steady at a net advance of only 2@9 points.

The market opened barely steady at an advance of 2@11 points. Exports were 69,062 bales, making a total for the season of 204,767, worth nearly $13,000,000. Contract prices follow:

	High.	Low.	Close.	Wed. close.
September	12.57	12.47	12.48@12.50	12.46

Spot cotton was quiet and 10 points higher at 12.80 for middling upland and 13.05 for middling Gulf. Sales nil.

Southern spot markets were telegraphed as follows: Galveston steady, 3-16c higher, at 12½c; sales, 561 bales. New Orleans firm, ⅛c higher, at 12 7-16c; sales, 1,450 bales. Mobile firm, 1-16c higher, at 12 3-16c; sales, 200 bales. Savannah steady, ⅛c higher, at 12⅛c; sales, 2,561 bales. Charleston firm, 3-16c higher, at 12 3-16c; sales, 300 bales. Norfolk steady, ⅛c higher, at 12⅜c; sales, 9 bales. Augusta steady, 3-16c higher, at 12½c; sales, 1,753 bales. Memphis steady, unchanged, at 12⅜c; sales, 175 bales. Houston steady, 3-16c higher, at 12⅜c; sales, 838 bales.

BUSINESS TROUBLES

MORRIS WEISS.—Morris Weiss, shoe dealer, of 159 East Houston Street, has made an assignment to Gustave Hartman. He began business in May, 1907, and made an assignment on April 18, 1908, and four days later a petition in bankruptcy was filed against him, which was dismissed on a settlement of 30 cents on the dollar.

ABRAHAM KAPLAN.—Abraham Kaplan, merchant, living at 456 East 171st Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $11,850 and no assets. The debts were contracted between September, 1905, and February, 1906. The largest creditor is the American Woolen Company, $6,764. Mr. Kaplan went through bankruptcy once before in 1903.

SARAH BIRNBAUM.—Judge Holt has appointed Archibald Palmer receiver in bankruptcy for Sarah Birnbaum, dealer in furniture at 3,975 Third Avenue. It was stated that the stock was valued at $3,000, and accounts $500. Mr. Palmer said that when he went to the store to take possession he found the place had been cleaned out. He learned that eighteen loads of furniture were removed on Tuesday. He expected to locate some of it.

AUGUSTUS A. IRELAND.—Augustus A. Ireland, manager at Third Avenue, corner of 149th Street, filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $8,616 and no assets. Part of the liabilities were contracted as a partner in the firm of Cox & Ireland, liquor dealers, in 1907. Among the creditors are L. Levy & Co., stock brokers, 111 Broadway, $4,000, on stock transactions, secured by two United States Government bonds worth $200, and Victor N. Lowerre, $1,662, for liquors.

P. L. FAVALE & CO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against P. L. Favale & Co., (a corporation,) importers of Italian oils, groceries, and wines at 464 West Broadway, by these creditors: Zucca & Co., $230; Parodi & Co., $588, and L. Botta & Co., $236. It was alleged that the corporation was insolvent, and on Sept. 10 admitted in writing inability to pay its debts. The business was started as a firm on May 10, 1907, and was incorporated on March 22, 1909, with a capital stock of $50,000, Pio L. Favale, Vice President, and Joseph F. Malandrini, President. Judge Holt appointed Alfred E. Hinrichs receiver with a bond of $5,000. The liabilities are reported to be $25,000 and the assets $10,000.

MILLINGTON COMPANY.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Millington Company, dealer in men's furnishing goods and clothing at 63 West Forty-second Street and 126 West 125th Street, by these creditors: Robert Reis & Co., $392; Louis Meyer & Son, $279, and Fiberbild Company, $17. It was alleged that the company was insolvent and made preferential payments. Judge Holt appointed Henry W. Jessup receiver with a bond of $6,000, and authorized him to continue business twenty days. The company owes $1,100 for rent. The company was incorporated on Sept. 21, 1905, with a capital stock of $55,000, Sidney E. Millington, President, and H. P. Millington, Treasurer. The assets are estimated at $12,000.

SIMON GERSTEIN.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Simon Gerstein, manufacturer of tailor made skirts at 48 East Eighth Street, by these creditors: William Isaacs, $901; Esterson & Esterson, $500, and Louis Kassel, $13. It was alleged that he was insolvent, made preferential payments of $5,000, and transferred merchandise and accounts of $9,000. Judge Holt appointed William S. Creevey receiver on application of Krakower & Peters, who said that the liabilities are $25,000 and the assets $6,000. On Aug. 14 Mr. Gerstein suffered a loss by fire, and the loss, it is said, was adjusted at about $10,000, and the insurance companies took the damaged stock. At that time his outstanding accounts were reported to be about $10,000.

Out of Town.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16.—McCaddin & McElwee, dealers in rugs, mattings, and tapestries in this city, to-day went into the hands of William M. Maloy as receiver. He furnished a bond of $350,000. The firm is declared to be solvent, but it is alleged that dissensions have arisen among the stockholders. Outstanding debts amount to $50,000. The assets, it is said, exceed the liabilities by $70,000. Litigation of five years' standing is blamed for the troubles of the firm.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

The Board of United States General Appraisers has decided disputes regarding the values at which pencil leads may be entered into this country. It is held that Breitenfelder & Co. of Nuremberg must pay duty on a valuation higher than that invoiced. After an investigation, the board finds that the action of the local Appraiser in raising valuations as a preliminary to the assessment of duty is correct and should stand.

Another case involving the appraisal of foreign-made leads for pencils stood in the name of Bechmann & Ullman of Fuerth. This foreign firm objected to the values placed on their goods by the Appraiser of the port. General Appraiser Chamberlain, who heard the testimony in the case, says that the exporter's values must be accepted. He upholds the exporters and denies the contention of the Government for a duty based on higher valuations.

A decision has been handed down by General Appraiser Fischer sustaining the contention of the local Appraiser in advancing values on burlaps from Finlay Muir & Co. of Calcutta.

The lease of said store expires on January 1st, 1916, and the annual rental thereunder is $18,000.

The approximate value of the stock contained in said store is $40,000.

The foregoing assets, consisting of the stock in trade, and the right, title, and interest of the Trustee in and to said fixtures, lease and good will, will be offered in their entirety as a going concern, and separate bids will be received for (1) stock, (2) fixtures, (3) lease and good will.

The said Frazin Shoe Store will be open for inspection daily from 10 o'clock A. M. to 5 o'clock P. M., commencing September 23rd, 1909, to the date of the sale.

Catalogues of the sale may be had three days before the sale, on the premises, or upon application to the Trustee

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Builders Buy Large Plots on the Heights—Deals in Midtown District—Ludlam Properties Sold in the Auction Room.

A. L. Mordecai & Son have sold for the Realty Mortgage Company and Hellner & Wolf eight lots on the south side of 157th Street, 275 feet east of Broadway, on which will be erected two six-story elevator apartment houses, each 100 feet front.

Jacob Hirsh has resold the northwest corner of Pinehurst Avenue and 178th Street, a plot 105 by 100. The property was put up at the Fort Washington Syndicate auction sale last April and was bought by Lowenfeld & Prager, who resold it a few days later to Mr. Hirsh.

The leasing of the Astor property at the northeast corner of Broadway and Forty-second Street to the United Cigar Stores Company, as the site for a new building, is referred to in more detail in another column.

Madison Avenue Corner Sold.

The Van Schaick Realty Company has sold Woodward Hall, a six-story elevator apartment house, on plot 75.8 by 100, at the southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Ninety-sixth Street.

Sale on East 28th Street.

Daniel Blumenthal, as attorney for Abraham Schwab, has sold, through E. A. Turner, the property 34 East Twenty-eighth Street, a three-story dwelling, 21.10 by 98.9, to the A. L. D. Realty Company. This company consists of a number of merchants who are large property holders in this immediate neighborhood.

E. A. Turner has leased for Mrs. Josephine Schnurmacher the four-story building 404 East Thirty-first Street to Joseph Tino & Co., for a term of years.

Frank Lugar has sold 51 to 55 Lexington Avenue, three three-story dwellings, on plot 56.3 by 72, together with the three-story stable at 140 East Twenty-fifth Street, 22 by 98.9, the combined parcels forming an "L" around the hotel Van Twiller, at the southeast corner of Lexington Avenue and Twenty-fifth Street. It is said that the nominal buyer represents a foreign concern, which will erect on the property an eight-story building designed for the lithographing trade.

Frost, Palmer & Co. have sold for a client of Fixman & Lewis 123 and 125 West Twenty-fourth Street, two six-story tenements, on plot 50 by 98.9, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues. In exchange the buyer gives 54 and 56 Lawrence Street, a six-story flat, on plot 50 by 100, near Amsterdam Avenue.

New Owners for Harlem Flats.

The Herman Arns Company has sold for B. Steinthal to a client of William R. Mason the five-story brick double flat 221 West 121st Street, 275 feet west of Seventh Avenue, on lot 25 by 100.11.

Bernard A. Ottenberg has purchased from Winifred I. Turner of South Orange, N. J., the five-story brownstone double flat 114 West 132d Street, on lot 25 by 100.

Mrs. Minnie S. Jewell is reported to have sold the four-story dwelling 167 West Seventy-eighth Street.

Frederick Zittel & Sons negotiated the sale of the two apartment houses at the southeast corner of Columbus Avenue and Seventy-third Street for Isaac Mayer & Son.

Ludlam Properties Fetch $308,425.

Eleven parcels owned by the Ludlam estate, the majority of them in the lower east side district, were sold at auction yesterday in the Vesey Street Salesroom by Herbert A. Sherman for $308,425.

The sale brought out a fair-sized crowd, although, as is shown in the detailed results printed below, there was little outside buying. Eight of the properties were bought by the Cruikshank Company, said to have been acting for persons interested in the estate.

Big Loan on 5th Avenue Corner.

The mortgaging of Edward Holbrook's property at the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-third Street to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for $800,000 is generally regarded as preliminary to some reimprovement of the plot. The mortgage is for two years at 5½ per cent.

Deal on East 105th Street.

Louis Hutter has sold to a Mrs. Weiss 17 East 105th Street, a five-story double flat, 25 by 100; also, 211 West Sixty-sixth Street, a five-story tenement, 25 by 102.2, to a client.

To Build on the Concourse.

Francis Haff has sold for M. J. Dowd the plot, 75 by 100, on the west side of the Concourse, 175 feet north of 192d Street. The buyer will erect a dwelling on the site.

Arnold, Byrne & Baumann have sold for Abraham Drechsler and others 782 Prospect Avenue, near the junction of Longwood and Westchester Avenues, a five-story apartment house on plot 37.6 by 100.

The Bertel Realty Company has made a building loan of $80,000 to Joseph Picone and Vincenzo Oliva on the northwest corner of Southern Boulevard Avenue St. John, 100 by 105.

Tenants for Mercantile Structure.

The H. H. Fuller Realty Company has leased for Henry C. Lytton the fourth and fifth lofts in 8 and 10 West Nineteenth Street; also, for J. Romaine Brown & Co. to Urban, Daber & Urban, the third loft in 141 and 143 West Twenty-fourth Street; also, for J. F. Blanchard to the Keshan Renovating Company the second floor in the Blanchard Building on Borden Avenue, Long Island City.

J. W. Barney has leased for the 19 West Twenty-fourth Street Company three lofts in the new building at that address; also, for Golde & Cohen, 11,000 square feet in the new building, 69 and 71 Wooster Street, and for G. H. Pigueron 4,200 square feet in the new building, 129 and 131 West Twenty-second Street.

A. F. Muhlbacker has been elected a member of the Real Estate Board of Brokers.

Joseph L. Ullo has removed his office to 5 Beekman Street.

The West Side Taxpayers' Association will meet this evening at 267 West Thirty-fourth Street.

Cord Meyer Buys at Great Neck.

Andrew J. Cobe and James W. Jacobus have sold to Cord Meyer eleven acres on Bay View Road Great Neck, L. I.; also, to George M. Plympton, sixteen acres on Bay View Road. Both parcels are part of the Skidmore tract, which was bought by Mr. Cobe and Mr. Jacobus about two months ago.

I. A. and S. S. Wollheim have bought the John Hogan farm at Flushing, L. I. The property has been held in the Hogan family for over 100 years.

Herman Frankfort has sold for Sigmund Hochstadter to Oscar Krause about half an acre of ground, on Read's Lane, Far Rockaway.

Builders Buy in Brooklyn.

E. T. Newman & Co. have sold a plot, 40 by 100, on the east side of Utica Avenue, north of St. John's Place, Brooklyn, for Isaac Schwartz to the Henkle Construction Company.

To Sell Lots on the Palisades.

On Saturday 200 lots at Grantwood, N. J., will be sold by the Columbia Investment and Real Estate Company. The high class of improvements, the large number of houses now nearing completion, and the good transit facilities will, it is believed, make this property attractive to investors and home builders. The prices of the lots have been fixed at $390 to $785.

No Auction Offerings To-day.

RICHMOND BOROUGH—SALE OR LET

$300 Down, then $15 monthly until paid for, will enable you to live in a home of your own; save rent you now pay, and become independent of landlords. Call and see photographs of dwellings, costing from $900 to $2,000, latter having all improvements, right in New York City, not miles away, but where the land in a few years will be as valuable as the Bronx. To-day this is the cheapest land in the city, and it has the advantage of being near the seaside, with pure ocean air, and no malaria. Come and see the dwellings now, being built at New Dorp Manor. Write to-day for free map.

PLAINFIELD SOUTH

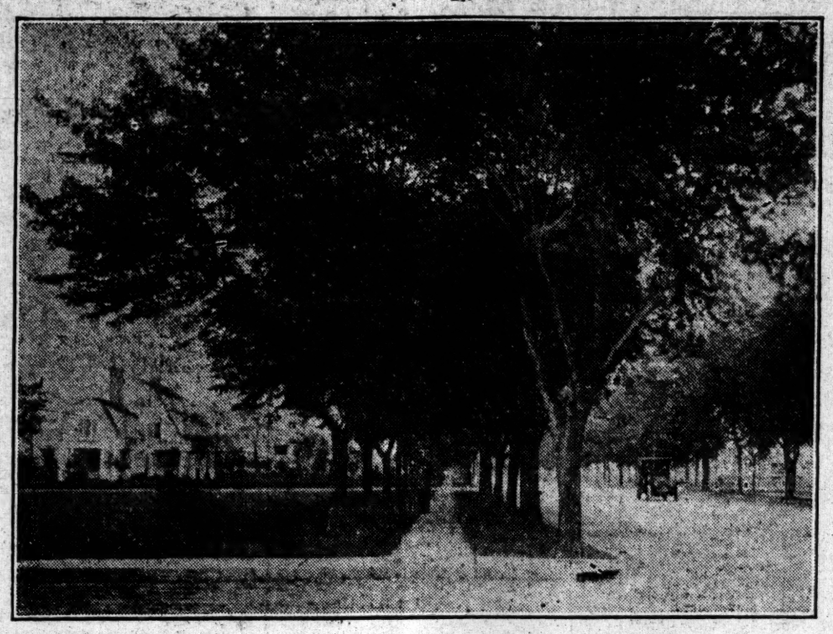
THE CROWNING EVENT IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF GARDEN CITY ESTATES

is Now at Hand. We offer for sale that part of our property immediately adjoining old Garden City and bordering the famous Salisbury Golf Links on two sides. This includes the only remaining property on Stewart Avenue, a street already acknowledged to be one of the handsomest in the United States. All this at prices remarkably low.

This Week
Saturday and Sunday

Sept. 18th and 19th, we invite you to inspect this remarkable offering. Our own special private trains for this purpose will be run on the above dates, leaving Flatbush Avenue (Brooklyn), at 2:12 P. M. and returning at 5:00 P. M. This will give ample time to see the property and return to town for dinner. Take any Brooklyn train on the New York Subway in time to reach Atlantic Avenue (Brooklyn), shortly after 2:00 P.M. Do not go upstairs. Simply step across the platform to the entrance to Long Island trains. Here our Representatives will meet you and show you to our private Electric Express. While it is not necessary, we would appreciate your telephoning (Gramercy 5222) or writing us for reservations, stating the number there will be in your party.



STEWART AVENUE, GARDEN CITY ESTATES.

Stewart Avenue is lined with massive trees planted by the great merchant Alexander T. Stewart. It forms a broad, shady avenue running directly through the center of Garden City Estates. Garden City was selected by this far-seeing, shrewd buyer of real estate as the most charming spot on Long Island, possessing greater future possibilities than any other. That his selection was wise has now been amply proved.

Environment, Development, Transportation

In these most important essentials this place has no equal. Garden City is far-famed as a refined residence community. The beautiful Cathedral of the Incarnation, the famous Garden City Hotel, the noted preparatory schools of St. Paul's and St. Mary's, a Country Club and two of the best golf links in America, are among its attractions. The well known Garden City Estates method of handling property, its lofty aims, its unswerving purpose to maintain a high standard and the restrictions safeguarding its future, are of substantial benefit to every individual purchaser. Of all the home communities in the environs of this great city not one bears the distinction, reputation and character of Garden City Estates.

After an expenditure of a hundred million dollars and years of the hardest kind of work, it has been officially announced that carrying passengers from the station on our property to the Pennsylvania Railroad's magnificent Terminal Station in the heart of New York in less than 30 minutes. Thus it will be seen that this is the opportune moment to buy whether for a home or as an investment. Real estate values increase with improved transportation facilities. Remember what happened in New York after the opening of the subway. Do not miss this opportunity to visit Garden City Estates. Even if you think you are not interested, the landscape gardening alone in the parks, boulevards and railway sidings will well repay you for the few hours that it will take.

ALWAYS A CHANCE.

Just because you've lost some article of value you needn't think it's gone forever. On the other hand it may be back in twenty-four hours' time if you do the right thing. Telephone 1000 Bryant and advertise your loss in The New York Times. It's the best chance you have to recover lost articles.

Real Estate

Beginning next Sunday, The New York Times will publish a section devoted to real estate news and advertising. To insure insertion in the Sunday edition advertising copy must reach The Times office not later than 6 P. M. to-day.

The New York Times is read by investors, brokers, contractors, and the public. It is the most efficient medium for attracting the home-seeker, the most desirable patronage. More than 175,000 copies of The New York Times are sold daily. Its net paid daily city sales are greater than the combined city sales of five other New York newspapers popularly ranked with The Times as to character of circulation.

CHILDREN'S SOCIETY WON'T GIVE UP BOYS

Mrs. Dugard Has Pleaded for Them in Vain for Nearly Two Years.

AMPLY ABLE TO REAR THEM

Has Testimonials from Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and Mrs. I. Townsend Burden—Will Appeal to Courts.

After vainly trying for twenty months to get the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, frequently referred to as the Gerry society, to return her two small boys, Eddie and Charlie, 5 and 6 years old respectively, who were arrested a year ago last Christmas by Agent Cunningham of the society, charged with begging, Mrs. Mary Dugard has decided to appeal to the courts. She lives with her husband and four other children in a neatly furnished flat of six rooms at 809 Sixth Avenue. She said yesterday that she would appeal for relief to Judge Rosalsky, in General Sessions, to whom she had been referred by prominent persons who have interested themselves in her case. She hopes that Judge Rosalsky will begin an investigation of the case.

Mrs. Dugard's troubles with the society, she said yesterday, began over two years ago. While living in West Thirty-seventh Street, she said, one of her sons, while coming out of a theatre with his father, carrying a paper under his arm, was arrested by an agent of the society, charged with selling papers. After being locked up a short time he was allowed to go, but apparently this same agent kept a watchful eye on the Dugard children for some time afterward.

"A year ago last Christmas," said Mrs. Dugard, "I gave Eddie and Charlie a dime with which to see a moving-picture show. The show proved to be their downfall, for, instead of coming home after it was over, and in order to see it again, they borrowed a few cents from some other children, and then, to make up the rest, they begged 3 cents from some man in the street. It was a bad thing for them to do, but I should have been left to deal with them myself. Instead, the same agent of the society who had arrested my other little boy pounced on them and took them off to the society's rooms.

Turned Over to the Society.

"My husband, who is a waiter, was out of work at the time, and when the case came up before Justice Olmstead, in the Children's Court, the agent proved that the children had been begging, and they were turned over to the mercies of the society, apparently for all time. The only thing that made the matter bearable was that they were sent to the home of the Sisters of Mercy, at Tarrytown. I know a nurse in the institution, and she promised to look after them.

"But I miss them very much, and as I have a good home and there is enough money coming in to take good care of them, I do not see why I should longer be deprived of my children.

"When I go to ask for my boys the clerks laugh at me or keep me waiting for hours at a time. When I ask to see Mr. Jenkins they tell me that I cannot. Once or twice when I have managed to meet him he told me not to come around again, as I couldn't get the boys. Once I appealed to Judge Olmsted, and he promised to make an investigation, but nothing came of it.

Earns a Good Living.

"My two grown boys are working every day, and I earn $5 a week. I have a steady job cleaning the rooms of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. My husband also makes good wages when he is able to work. Among us we are able to keep a comfortable home. All we want is our boys. When I see their bed empty every night it makes me cry."

When THE TIMES reporter went to see Supt. Jenkins at the society offices he was brusquely told by a young clerk that the Superintendent had gone for the day, although it was early afternoon. The publicity agent, he was informed, had also gone home. Mr. Jenkins's secretary sent out word that he was too busy to be seen. Agent Cunningham also was nowhere in sight.

Mrs. Dugard's neighbors all volunteered the information that she is industrious and entitled to have her children. Among the letters which Mrs. Dugard produced as to proof of her good character was one from her family physician, Dr. John W. Joyce of 112 West Thirty-ninth Street, which read:

> To whom it may concern: This is to certify that I have known Mr. and Mrs. Dugard for the last six months, and have attended the family professionally. I can truthfully say that they are thoroughly respectable and honest, hard-working people, and take the proper care of their family. The children are well brought up and cared for, and act and play upon the street only as all other children do.

Another testimonial she produced was from Mrs. W. P. Ketcham of 318 Lexington Avenue. It read:

> Mary Fitzgerald—Mrs. Dugard's maiden name—has lived with me for the last three months as cook. She is a very good cook and makes nice desserts. I have found her good natured, willing, and obliging, and she is perfectly honest and sober.

Mrs. Dugard also showed this note from Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Sr.:

> This is to certify that Mary Fitzgerald has lived with Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt for six months as kitchen maid. She has worked under two chefs, and has given great satisfaction. She is sober, honest, and willing. Mrs. Vanderbilt parts with her on account of her departure for Europe.

Mrs. I. Townsend Burden's note read:

> This is to certify that Mary Fitzgerald lived with me one year as kitchen maid. I have always found her honest and sober, and think her a good servant.

Mrs. Dugard will produce all of her testimonials in court and will also be ready to call a score of witnesses, who say she is perfectly competent to take care of her boys.

TO WED GIRL BROUGHT HERE.

Artist Schmidt Goes to the Island with Her, Though American Born.

Felix G. Schmidt, an artist of Chicago, waived his perogative as an American citizen to land without going through the immigration inspection at Ellis Island yesterday so that he might accompany Marguarite Herzel, an artist's model, who came to this country with him. Both arrived Wednesday in the cabin of the Hamburg-American liner President Lincoln.

Felix Schmidt is 23 years old. He went to Europe six years ago to study art. For a time he studied in Paris and then went to the Charlottenburg Academy, near Berlin. The pair met first in Dresden, where Miss Herzel was a model.

When Schmidt decided to return to Chicago, Miss Herzel agreed to accompany him. They journeyed to Hamburg together and there took passage on the President Lincoln. On their arrival here the immigration officials questioned the pair, and learning that they were not married ordered the young woman sent to Ellis Island. Although Schmidt had a renewal of his passport and other papers to prove that he was born here, he decided to forego his privilege to land at the pier and accompanied the young woman to the island.

To-day they will be married there and go to Chicago, where Schmidt will set up his studio.

MONKEY AT A FLAGPOLE'S TOP

Museum Exhibit Sticks to Its Lofty Perch, Scaring Down a Steeplejack.

A South African monkey, brought here two days ago for exhibition in a Fourteenth Street museum, picked the lock of its cage yesterday, and, escaping into the street, rapidly ascended to the top of the tall flagpole on the Germania Savings Bank, at Fourteenth Street and Fourth Avenue, first climbing up the fire escapes. There it has been ever since, and most of yesterday there were crowds at the foot of the pole, staring up at the little animal, which refused to budge from its lofty perch.

George Wright, a steeplejack of Jersey City, undertook to climb the pole and fetch down the monkey, but the beast shook the pole so that Wright was glad to climb down before he was shaken off.

It is thought that the mongey will only be caught when he has become hungry enough to take food from a basket which will be hauled up to him by the flag halyards. It is hoped that he may be caught in the basket then.

GERMAN BANK TO RAISE RATE.

Drain of Gold to Russia One Reason for Such Action.

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—It is probable that the rate of discount of the Imperial Bank will be advanced to 4 per cent. to-morrow. The private rate of discount has been rising steadily during this month, and is now a full 1 per cent. higher than on Aug. 31. It is also now within one-quarter of 1 per cent. of the rate of the Imperial Bank.

This rise is due chiefly to activity in speculation on the Stock Exchanges, which shows a greater volume than at any time since the Fall of 1903.

Another cause of the changed situation on the money market is the heavy investment of German money in foreign securities. The stamp tax returns show that the imports of such securities into Germany in the last five months are more than six times greater than for the corresponding period of 1908. The position of the Imperial Bank also has developed less favorably for some weeks past than in 1908.

For exafple, the bank lost about 37,000,000 marks (about $9,250,000) in metal during the four weeks ended Sept. 7, as compared with a gain of about 15,000,000 marks (about $3,750,000) for the corresponding period of 1908.

The Imperial Bank, and to a greater degree the open market, are now being drawn upon for gold to export to Russia, and German bankers are buying gold in London and Paris for export to St. Petersburg and other Russian points. Exchange is at a higher level than at any time since the Russo-Japanese war, owing in large measure to the big Russian crops and preparations for the expected heavy exports of Russian grain.

Another reason for the pressure on the Imperial Bank is the heavy requirements of the Imperial Treasury, which now owes the bank 236,000,000 marks (about $59,000,000) upon Treasury bills. In view of the heavy requirements of the Stock Exchange, in addition to the ordinary needs of trade, interest payments, &c., the demands upon the bank at the end of the quarter are expected to be enormous.

For these reasons it is understood that the Imperial Bank is unwilling to attempt to stand the pressure at the end of the month without a higher rate of discount to protect it.

HOCKING VALLEY EARNINGS UP

$1,767,930 Against $1,533,887 in 1908—$173,407 Increase in Surplus.

The annual report of the Hocking Valley Railway Company shows gross earnings of $5,029,752 for the year ended June 30, including $51,388 net revenue from outside operations, which compares with last year's showing of $5,841,763. Expenses and taxes amounting to $4,161,822 left net earnings of $1,767,930 compared with net totaling $1,533,887 in 1908.

Other income amounting to $930,157 brought the total income up to $2,698,087. Charges totaling $1,182,098 left a surplus of $1,515,989, against last year's surplus of $1,304,681. After the payment of $600,000 in preferred dividends and $440,000 in common stock dividends, there was left a surplus of $475,989.

J. S. SHEPARD, JR., TRUSTEE.

Bankrupt Firm's Creditors, Representing Claims of $1,869,525, Elect Him.

At a meeting yesterday of the creditors of E. D. Shepard & Co. of 31 Nassau Street, at the office of William Allen, referee in bankruptcy, at 67 Wall Street, the claim of $1,065,000, as filed by Kellogg & Rose, was admitted, giving the creditors represented by the firm an opportunity to elect John S. Sheppard, Jr., as Trustee. He received the votes of twenty creditors, with claims aggregating $1,869,525. The other candidate, E. V. Harman, received the votes of nineteen creditors, with claims of $955.

The claims of the Santa Fé, Liberal & Englewood Railroad Company for $6,000,000 and several other claims of concerns financed by E. D. Shepard & Co., which have not yet been liquidated, were, by direction of the referee, not voted. Mr. Sheppard's bond was fixed at $25,000.

It was stated at the meeting that a meeting of stockholders of the Yankee Fuel Company was held at Trinidad, Col., on Wednesday, Sept. 15, at which 47,505 out of 50,000 shares were voted for a Board of Directors named by J. S. Sheppard, Jr., according to a decision by Judge Holt.

New Fountains for Horses.

Mrs. Philip G. Becker has given to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals a handsome granite drinking trough for horses, which has been placed at the approach to the Queensboro Bridge, Jackson Avenue, Long Island City. The bridge is rated by drivers as a "long haul," and heretofore there has been no place on or near it where a horse could get a drink of water. The fountain is suitably inscribed as a memorial to Mrs. Becker's parents. A Shoemaker memorial fountain has been put in Mount Morris Park, Madison Avenue and 124th Street, by Henry W. Shoemaker in memory of his brother, W. B. Shoemaker.

MRS. C. B. FROST HELD FOR GIVING BAD CHECK

CHECK ON FAILED BANK

Charged with having given a worthless check in payment for a gown a woman, well dressed and of evident refinement, who said she was Mrs. Charlotte Baldwin Frost of 1,218 Pacific Street, Brooklyn, was before Magistrate Cornell yesterday in the Yorkville Court. The complainant against her is Richard J. Hickson of Hickson & Co., women's tailors at 486 Fifth Avenue. Mrs. Frost, who was self-possessed in court, said that her arrest was unwarranted. She declared that she is a sister of Stephan C. Baldwin, the Brooklyn lawyer, who defended Banker Jenkins.

Mrs. Frost was arrested early yesterday morning. Mr. Hickson telephoned to the Detective Bureau in West Fifty-second Street asking that detectives meet him at Forty-second Street and Madison Avenue. Detectives Sussillo and Campbell were detailed to the case. They met Hickson, who told his story. They found Mrs. Frost near the St. Regis, where she had just eaten a midnight supper, and where it was said she had been a guest. Hickson induced her to go downtown with him in the Subway. They got off at Bleecker Street, and then the detectives, who had been following the pair, arrested Mrs. Frost. She was locked up over night in the Mercer Street police station, where there is a matron, and later in the morning taken to court.

The prisoner said she was 33 years old, and that she was the mother of two children, 14 and 16 years old. She said that she contributed to the magazines and other publications under the name of Charlotte M. Baldwin, and that her husband, R. A. Frost, was a lawyer, from whom she had been separated for two years. She said that her husband is now abroad.

"It is not strange that a woman left alone with two children, as I have been, should get into debt," she said to the reporters. "This arrest is a grave mistake, and entirely without justification. Though I have been separated from my husband for two years, I know he has funds in the bank on which my checks were drawn. It will all come right in the end."

The check given by Mrs. Frost is drawn on a Macon, Ga., bank which is now in the hands of a receiver. She explained that her checks were not worthless, as her husband had given her credit at his bank. She was apparently ignorant that the bank had gone into the hands of a receiver.

In giving her pedigree, Mrs. Frost said that she was born in China, where her father was for thirty years a missionary. Mrs. Frost declared that her literary efforts included a parody of "The Vampire," recently printed.

Hickson, the complainant, in his affidavit, declared that he delivered a gown worth $75 to Mrs. Frost on Sept. 6 at the St. Regis. The check she gave for the suit was returned as worthless, he declared.

Mrs. Frost was evidently disappointed in court that no one arrived to defend her. Her lawyer, she said, was Peter Hargis, but he did not put in an appearance. Magistrate Cornell asked her if she wished to be examined at once or to wait for counsel to advise her. She asked for a postponement, and the examination was put over until 2 o'clock this afternoon. The bail was fixed at $1,500. Four men, who it is said represented the Plaza, St. Regis, Manhatan, and Wolcott Hotels, were in court when Mrs. Frost was before the Magistrate. They admitted that they were interested in the arrest and check transactions of Mrs. Frost.

BAKER'S DEPUTY DEFENDS O'CONNOR

NOT INTOXICATED, HE SAYS

Found Him Guilty Merely of Attempting to Make an Illegal Arrest in a Restaurant.

Much surprise was expressed around Police Headquarters yesterday over the announcement that Deputy Commissioner Stover had let off William M. O'Connor, the policeman who on Aug. 8 was one of the principals in a fight in Luchow's restaurant, with a mere fine of ten days' pay, amounting in all to about $38. The general opinion seemed to be that O'Connor was mighty lucky not to be dismissed from the force.

O'Connor, who was attached to the McDougal Street Station, but was not on duty, was accused of having rushed into the restaurant early on Sunday morning with neither tie nor collar on and in an intoxicated condition. With him was another man. The story of the restaurant people was that they seated themselves at a table and called for drinks. It is understood that the waiter told him that liquor could not be served without meals on Sunday, and that it was not customary to serve meals to persons not properly dressed.

On being told this, according to persons at neighboring tables, O'Connor jumped up and with an oath swore he would be served. Several persons, it is said, became frightened at his conduct and left the restaurant.

Manager Miller of the restaurant is quoted as saying at the time:

"This policeman (O'Connor) then ran into the barroom, drew his revolver, and with it threatened several persons. He ordered the barkeeper to serve him what drinks he wanted. He looked to me as if he had been drinking. He was undoubtedly in a highly excited state. To impress us further he then showed his badge and again demanded drinks. Three of the waiters, either panic-stricken or desiring to get assistance, fled to the street."

When four policemen in uniform arrived it is said that they did not touch O'Connor, but arrested the headwaiter and two waiters on the charge of violating the excise law and took them to the Fifth Street Station, where they were locked up until bailed out. O'Connor, it is understood, was not put under arrest, and two days ago when his case came up he was merely fined ten days' pay by Deputy Commissioner Stover, and told to report for duty at his station.

When asked how he had come to be so lenient in the matter, Mr. Stover was not at first inclined to discuss the affair, but later relented and said:

"The public wants me to discharge every policeman against whom a charge is made, but I have thoroughly investigated the case on two separate occasions—at a preliminary hearing and at the regular trial—and I have suited the sentence to the charge which has been proved before me. At both hearings O'Connor was not proved guilty of intoxication or of threatening citizens with his revolver.

"For attempting to make an arrest which seems to have been unlawful considering the testimony on both sides, I imposed the fine of ten days' pay, which is heavy enough to my mind, considering the offense. I am convinced from the testimony before me that O'Connor was not under the influence of liquor at the time; otherwise I should have acted differently in the matter.

"As far as O'Connor's past record is concerned, it is not a bad one when one considers that in the thirteen years he has been on the police force he has only been fined thirty-two and one-half days."

The Sunday Times.

In addition to the regular sections and departments of The Sunday Times, an especial section of eight pages will be included in the edition of next Sunday devoted exclusively to the approaching Hudson-Fulton Celebration. Every phase of the great event will be dealt with in pictures. There will be a page of pictures of New York's sky line and water front from Hudson's time until to-day. Step by step, for two hundred years, the changing of New York is shown, from the site of little New Amsterdam to the skyscraper era of 1909. Historic scenes in New York from Hudson's day to Fulton's will fill another page, including surveys of what then might have been described, in truth, as "little old New York."

There will also be pages on pages of pictures dealing with the celebration itself. There will be portraits of the leaders who are engaged in making the celebration a success. There will be pictures of the permanent memorials which will remain; pictures of the Hudson Monument, the Hudson Memorial Bridge, the Fort Tryon tablet, the Stony Point gateway, and others. There will be two pages of pictures, one devoted to the Half Moon and the other to the Clermont. In these many things of interest, such as the steamboats of the times immediately succeeding the Clermont's famous cruise and scenes connected with the building of Hudson's ship, will be shown. This special section of next Sunday's Times will carry the whole spirit of the great celebration.

The Magazine Section.

The Magazine Section will contain a large number of notable features. One of these will give the full text of Dr. Eliot's remarkable address on "The Religion of the Future."....Another will describe the methods by which two assassinations were recently planned and carried out in Russia—a most illuminating document....The stories of the operas, new to New York, that are to be put on this season will be told on another page....The famous Burton-Speke controversy over the source of the Nile will be described, a controversy not unlike that now under way regarding the North Pole....Hashimura Togo will set down his interview with Wilbur Wright....There will be a capital article on Glenn Curtiss, the bird-man; one on the recent developments in smuggling in the New York Custom House; an article on the evolution of the architecture of New York City homes, and many other enjoyable features.

Many delightful pages will be found in the regular Picture Section of The Sunday Times; a full page will be given to a reproduction of Alma Tadema's well-known painting, "Fortune's Favorite." Another page will show the hundreds of thousands of Germans who welcomed the arrival of the Zeppelin airship at Berlin from Lake Constance. The interesting performance of "Macbeth" by Mme. Maeterlinck at an old abbey in France will be shown in a series of nine photographs. Plays and players of the New York stage; aviators in actual races in aeroplanes; photographs of prominent society women; a page of reproductions of splendid pictures being shown in a special exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum—these are other features that will be found in the Picture Section.

To make sure of getting the Special Hudson-Fulton Section of The Sunday Times place your order with your newsdealer to-day.
